Every now and then a console title makes its way from relative obscurity to high-profile acclaim. This could be the case with this month's cover game—Ape Escape. Solid level designs, pleasing visuals and innovative use of the Dual Shock controller all come together to form one 3D platformer that no PlayStation owner should miss. Our other top game of the month doesn't have to worry about being high profile, as Quake II for the N64 has been one of the most highly anticipated titles this summer. Fragging friends on the console has never been this good...

Andy has been in and out of the office ever since the release of Star Wars Episode I—The Phantom Menace. He did hang around long enough to give you the scoop on Ape Escape, which Sony will surely be hyping for months to come. Andy's strategy will make sure you don't slip on too many banana peels on your way through the game's vast, diverse levels. In other news, Andy would like to extend his thanks to Jason Streetz for his insight into this month's comprehensive LUNAR guide.

Jim (a.k.a. Johnny McFrag) Mazurek was a busy boy this month, to say the least. Jim followed up a frenzied E3 schedule with a sweet Quake II strategy. Jim's maps leave nothing to chance, and his multi-player strategies are great for deathmatch freaks.

Mazurek also did a quick take on Namco's latest arcade brawler—Tekken Tag Tournament—with info on the new battle system and tag combos, as well as some techniques for Tekken 3. Look for more on TTT in upcoming issues of XG.

This month Scott got back in touch with his RPG side, as he took on Sony's new role-playing behemoth, Star Ocean: The Second Story, while also providing an update to the RPG-ish fighter with the oh-so-funky name, Ehrgeiz. Sadly, this will be the master party thrower's last month with XG, as he has decided to pack his things and go the way of the Durbin. We'll miss the guy, but at least he's going to stick around as a contributor. The entire staff wishes Scott the best of luck in his future travels!

Todd Zuniga joined the editorial staff just in time for XG's deadline. Zuniga will miss the bunnies that used to fill his days during his previous job (think high-class, think Hugh—think lucky bastard), but he couldn't pass up the chance to work with the twisted XG staff. In addition to busting out racers, RPGs and action titles, he's looking forward to adding some style to our relatively infrequent sports strategies. We're just looking forward to having another new guy to kick around in NBA Showtime.

Where's Quake II?

Dear Expert Gamer,
How come it was stated that you would have a Quake II blowout in April and come the May issue, it is nowhere in sight? I was really looking forward to the witty humor you guys have, but now I am pretty upset. What happened?

Luke Gardner • via the Net

As is the case with many games, Quake II is subject to various delays in its production. The final version crossed our desk just in time for this month's issue, and we're sure you'll agree that it's worth the wait. You'll find our Quake II strategy in this issue on page 82.

Pokémon confusion

Dear Expert Gamer,
I have a question about Purin in Super Smash Bros. Some of my friends told me that Purin in Smash Bros. is actually Jigglypuff from Pokémon. When I finally rented the game I found that it had Jigglypuff itself, rather than something named Purin, so I figured it was just a rumor. Then, I received the May issue of your magazine and you guys had him printed as Purin! I'm confused...which one is correct?

Trashcan85 • via the Net

The strategy guide was originally based on the Japanese version of the game. Many of the Pokémon you know and love actually have different names in Japan. Jigglypuff's name is actually Purin.

Smashing question

Dear Expert Gamer,
I was playing through Super Smash Bros. and I earned Captain Falcon and Jigglypuff differently. Wassup wit' dat?

Nothingness • via the Net

The methods for opening up Captain Falcon and Jigglypuff changed for the U.S. version of the game.

Do you think games like Doom and Quake will make you act violently in real life? Or, are they an outlet for pent up aggression? It depends on who you ask...

Electronic Scapegoats

When the media starts the accusations...

Dear Expert Gamer,

I'm a 14-year-old teenager who is sick and tired of people blaming their problems on violent games. I have seen the pictures and heard the stories about the Colorado incident. I know they were kids around my age, and I heard they played Doom. I also heard the reporter's "special" on why kids do what they do. It ticked me off. These kids were Hitler lovers, so they were Neo Nazis, and they were having emotional problems, plus their parents seemed to be unaware of their plans. I'm guessing they had bad family problems. But does the reporter's speech state any of this? No. It says they played Doom, and watched Natural Born Killers. They did this on their own free will. Does each package of Doom come with a card that says, "Shoot all of your classmates?" No! It's just a game. I have played some of the most violent games in the world, and I have no thoughts of murder or violence. In fact, my grades are tops in the class. I am an honors student who has regular, non-violent friends. No sane person would rationalize life with a game.

Adam Korenman
via the Net

Adam won an InterAct controller for the N64, PlayStation or Saturn!

Often when senseless violence occurs, the media will point fingers. Video games rank right up there next to music and movies as scapegoats to explain these irrational acts of violence.

Not too long ago there was serious debate about the censorship of violent video games. The result was the current game ratings system. Now, parents can glance at a game box and get an idea if a game is appropriate for their child or not. One must be a reason when considering the events in Colorado. People from other countries play the same games and watch the same movies we do. The Net is accessible worldwide. So why does it seem the U.S. is the only country suffering a rash of similar incidents? Nobody knows, but blaming video games is a narrow-minded approach to a complex problem.

Secret Rogue levels?

Dear Expert Gamer,

In your January 1999 issue, you featured an advertisement for Star Wars: Rogue Squadron on the back side of the cover page. I don't know if you noticed or not, but on the screenshots, the second and fourth pictures have Y-Wing status images in the top left-hand side. What is odd is that there are no levels like these in the regular game or bonus levels at all.

Sterling Long • Zamora, Calif.

The advertisements for the games are often done well before the game is even finished. I suspect that might be the case with what you saw in the Rogue Squadron ad. If anyone knows otherwise, write us!

Large wheels?

Dear Expert Gamer,

I have recently purchased Vigilante 8. I was looking at your special on it—when you talk about the Secret Base, I saw under the Level Secret: "Send in the nukes, I see John Torque has very large tires." Do you have a code for that or a way to get it? Please tell me!

Tyler Spotman • Council Bluffs, Iowa

The code for the large tires is available in the PlayStation version of the game, but not the N64. In catering to both systems, pictures from each format were used. The code for the PlayStation is: MONSTER_WHEELS.

What do we do?

Dear Expert Gamer,

I was just writing to find out if your magazine is for the Nintendo 64, PlayStation or both.

Seth Bivens • Toledo, Ohio

Don't worry, Seth—XG covers tricks and strategies for pretty much all of the current systems, and we've got the way! Keep an eye out for lots of Dreamcast coverage soon...

I can't dance

Dear Expert Gamer,

I just purchased the game Legend of Legaia and am in the town called Sol. I was wondering how to win the dance contest. When I finish, I only seem to get 250 to 350 points.

Adam King • Pittsburg, Tenn.

Go into the club and go up to the dance floor. There will be a John Travolta look-alike up there who will teach you all the skills you need to know to win.

More Legaia

Dear Expert Gamer,

I'm stuck at the swaying grass in west Voz forest in Legend of Legaia. I make my way to the swaying grass next to the river, but can't find out how to get across the river to get the Genesis Tree revived. Can you help me?

John Fink • Chicago, Ill.

John, you're in luck. There's an item called the Weed Hammer. You'll find it somewhere in the first forest. Find the hammer, and press X when you are standing by the grass. Voila!

In pursuit of codes

I recently purchased Need For Speed: High Stakes, and I also own Need for Speed: Hot Pursuit. My question is: in Hot Pursuit, are there codes for the three hidden cars—Phantom, Titan and the Helicopter? Also, are there codes for NFS: High Stakes for the hidden tracks, cars and bonus tracks?

Jacob Odio • Hialeah, Florida

No, you can't get the Phantom, Titan or Helicopter in NFS: Hot Pursuit. As for the second part of your question, yes—the codes you're looking for can be found in our tricks section, which begins on page 22.

Tekken 3.5?

Dear Expert Gamer,

I've heard rumors of a new Tekken arcade game coming out. Would this new Tekken be headed for the PS?

Adam Knut • Portland, Maine

Adam, the game you speak of is Tekken Tag Tournament, which is currently slated for the arcade only. Head to page 42 for a first look!

My "Expert" Opinion

Instinctive Fighting One-on-One

Play to Win Advice
by Andrew Bialek

Some players seem to always win when playing fighting games. It doesn't matter whether it's a Tekken, a Street Fighter or a Mortal Kombat, and some players know that at all times. Why do some gamers consistently pick up these games so easily, while others flounder about and get frustrated? Here are a few basics the best players use to win.

1. Play Defensively: This is the most important lesson you'll ever learn. By blocking your opponent, you can always counter. Most attackers are impatient and want to throw wide hits. By playing defensively, you can whittle down your opponent with little hits.

If you are going on attack, make a small move that doesn't commit you to a set of actions. A simple uppercut slide is often enough to keep your opponent on his/her toes. Projectiles (if available) work well into testing the opponent's stance.

2. Learn the Distances: By knowing the range of each hit, sweep or jump you can learn to learn how to counter. You'll also see good players moving back and forth to throw off your opponent's perception of distance.

3. Don't Get all Wrapped up in Special Moves: Learn the basics first. I can't count how many times I have seen kids become a player who was close to victory tried to finish his opponent with a Super and then got insulted. If you can do these moves easily, use them, but don't lose your concentration for the sake of show-boating. Another problem is that these moves telegraph themselves. If you see the other player making an attack, the odds are that he's trying to pull off a Super. If you know what someone's going to do, it's much easier to avoid their attack.

4. Keep your Cool: Never get mad. It will only make you screw up. If you are really, as if you expected things to turn worst yet, your opponent will end up winning.

"Dolphin" Makes A Splash At E3...

During the Nintendo E3 press briefing, chairman Howard Lincoln announced the first details on a partnership between Nintendo and IBM that will lead to a new Nintendo console system. The announcement of the system in development, currently codenamed "Dolphin," was summarized in the succinct phrase delivered by Lincoln: "fast, powerful, and inexpensive." The Dolphin is currently being planned for a worldwide release by the 2000 holiday season. IBM will be designing and manufacturing a unique 400MHz central processor featuring IBM's 0.18 micron copper technology. Nintendo also announced, amid a round of enthusiastic applause, that the Dolphin will not be a cartridge-based system, but rather a DVD-driven unit. Woo-hoo!

Star Wars: The Phantom Delay

Wondering why there's no Star Wars: Episode I—The Phantom Menace guide in this issue? Because LucasArts has delayed the game's release until August. The PC version made it out on time, but for some reason, the PlayStation version has been held back. In the meantime, you've got two options: Either play Racer on N64 until your throat bleeds, or just go see the movie another dozen or so times while you wait around for the game. Tough life, eh?

No Mo PocketStation

Unfortunately, it was announced just after E3 that Sony would not be bringing the PocketStation to the U.S. anytime in 1999. No clear explanation was given as to why, but manufacturing problems are the most obvious reason, as well as the fact that the little POK's battery life is extremely brief. With any luck, the model we will be released in the U.S. some time in 2000.

Soul Calibur Rocks!

One of the hottest games at both the Sega and Namco booths at E3 was Namco's kick-ass Dreamcast port of the arcade brawler Soul Calibur. The game looks even better than it does in the arcade, with better animation and more detail. Look for it on DC this September.

Super Arts trouble

Dear Expert Gamer,

I've been playing Legend of Legaia for months and I'm going nuts about the Super Arts. In your April issue, there is a list of arts and they are all correct...but there is one thing that I am wondering about: How did you know about the Super Arts? I've tried them and they did not register on the arts list. Please tell me what I'm doing wrong here.

Stryk'r • via the Net

Scott Augustyn says: The Super Arts, not surprisingly, are some of the final skills you will acquire. Use simple trial and error to get the special combos. When I began working on the game I also received a moves list showing all of the arts. Unfortunately, I couldn't find them until the very end of the game. You'll learn them as you go along in the game.

Need for reality check

Dear Expert Gamer,

What's up there at the best gaming magazine ever? I have a question for Jim about NFS: High Stakes. I was reading your strategy and I came across a few errors—whether they are typos on your behalf or just plain stupidity on EA's part is for you to say. It says in the strategy that the base price for the Mercedes SLK-230 is $20,000, when it is actually $39,700. Also, it says that the BMW Z3 Roadster's base price is $20,000. These are just two of many mistakes I found in the pricing of the cars in your strategy. Now my real question is this: If EA went through all the trouble just to get permission to use the names of the various cars, don't you think they'd go a little further and include the REAL prices?

Steve Bender • via the net

Jim says that the prices are not typos on his part. They are fictional prices that EA cooked up just for the game. Jim went on to say that if he could get a Mercedes SLK-230 for $20 g's, he'd probably consider upgrading from his crusty old Dodge.

Tag-team approach

Dear Expert Gamer,

I have recently received your May issue and read on pg. 13 a little article called My "Expert" Opinion. I thought Ben Durbin was making a good point when he said the best way to experience a game was to play it with a friend. The first time I experienced this was when I played Legend of the Mystical Ninja for the SNES. Now that gaming systems have become more advanced, it seems games that can be played with a friend are becoming harder to find. I believe Nintendo is trying to re-create this style of playing with the N64, and hopefully gamers who haven't given it a chance will, so the developers of these games will get even more creative for those of us who have remained loyal.

Zachary Sufilka • Lakewood, Ohio

Cooperative gaming is fun and has been making a comeback, especially on the PC side. On the console side, Sega's networkable Dreamcast is due out in a couple months, and will surely offer some outstanding cooperative game experiences.

Man in the mirror

Dear Expert Gamer,

I recently purchased Shadowgate Classic for my Game Boy Color. I'm having lots of trouble getting past the Firedrake behind the middle mirror in the room with three mirrors in it. I would appreciate some help on this.

Kerry Davids Jr. • Casselberry, Fla.

Here are the steps to get through the area—use the Hammer on the center mirror; use Key 3; use Sphere on the Firedrake; and Cloak on self. If you need any further help in the game, pick up a copy of XG #58 for the complete walk-through.

Theory of evolution?

Dear Expert Gamer,

I love Pokémon and have sent you a ton of questions on the game, but here's one more—at what point does Rattata evolve?

Dan Novak • Carol Stream, Ill.

It evolves into Raticate at level 20.

Some of our readers have got mad skillz, as we've seen by the response to our Mario Party challenge. Keep it comin', cause we're just getting warmed up.

Wanna compete?

Dear Expert Gamer,

Not so fast Andy...I have just achieved the unthinkable, I've managed to spin the Control Stick 55 times in 10 seconds. (Refer to the Mecha Fly Guy from Mario Party). The flight time was 00'07"70. It surprises me to find out that there is no prize for beating Andy's record. The least you can do is print the news in a future issue. However, if you decide I am a worthwhile challenge, you can arrange for me to play a game of Mario Party with three of your best players.

Chris Jordan • Windsor, Conn.

Andy here: We've received an amazing amount of Reader Mail from players spinning a beat my record. Congrats to everyone who is able to. Right now, I am currently working on bringing back the high scores section. This way, players can show their skills to the rest of the nation, and maybe even compete for prizes. It may not be as fun as sitting down with our editors, but it's the next best thing.

If you have any suggestions of what you want in high scores, we're all ears. What do you think?

Why games change...

Dear Expert Gamer,

There are a lot of companies that boast about their games although they are only 5-15% complete. I mean, it ticks me off to imagine a game in my mind and when it gets released it is totally different. They change the game and most of these changes are worse than the original design. For example, Resident Evil 2's Elza looked much better than the Claire we have now. Leon also looked cooler and there was a variety of different zombies. Another example is Castlevania 64, which was supposed to have four different characters. Mission: Impossible was supposed to let you knock out and take over the identity of anyone. My advice for these developers is to wait until their game is nearly finished before showing it off.

Thamer Al-shbaili • Kuwait

Sometimes there isn't enough time for programmers to put in all the features they want, or some elements just don't work. Of course, the magazines want to cover each game as soon as possible, so they'll take what they can get as early as they get it. Expert Gamer only covers the games when they are "reviewable," although some companies like to make changes at the last moment. We try to notify our readers whenever this happens.

Q & A...

Stuck in Mega Man Legends

Dear Expert Gamer,

I can't seem to find out how to get into the subcity gate in the Old City. I can't get around or over the fence surrounding the gate and the building. And when do I fight the "Pirate Attack?" It looks like it was set in the Old City (XG Apr. '98).

James McKamey • via the Net

Enter into the Main Gate dungeon after beating the two previous subcities. You'll have to exit Main Gate via the passage near the "Easy Money" area. Once you do, just enter the building to find the pirates.

Say What?

Dear Expert Gamer,

Hello, I have a game called Daytona USA on the Sega Saturn, and all over my house there is a big debate on what the game says. If you rub up against a wall the man will say something like "high speed on the car." or "I like to go to bars."hey I don't know! If you could find out what the man says for me I would greatly appreciate it. Thanks.

Farfetchd_1 • via the Net

The announcer in Daytona USA says, "Try to go easy on the car!" Funny, we thought he said, "Watch cheese on the car!" Oh well...

Do you believe the hype?

Dear Expert Gamer,

I think we're underestimating Sega's Dreamcast system. I mean, from what I've seen, they are going all out for the launch, and have good third-party support (two things Saturn lacked). As the "experts," what's your take on Sega's new system?

Marc Tuttle • via the Net

We don't know what the future holds for Dreamcast, but after E3 we all agreed on one thing - we're all buying one!

Jumble Hopper

First, you must get to the third stage of the Jumble Hopper event. When you begin this stage, jump between the building you start on and the building ■ front of your starting position. The aim is to get through the doorway of the bluish-green building. This is best done by jumping against the building across from it, and landing right next to the open doorway. This is very difficult to do and requires a lot of practice. Once you have mastered this, you will be able to jump into the hallway (with much difficulty) and follow the path until it leads out into the street. Once you reach the street, you will notice that you have warped into New York! This ■ not very far from the goal. If you are good enough, you will be able to get a near-perfect score (depending on how many points were taken off during your journey).

Super Mario Bros. Deluxe

Classic Tricks & More

Many of the old tricks for the original Super Mario Bros. game on Nintendo work on the new Game Boy Color version. For example, the warp zone found in World 1-2 is still intact!

Warp Zone: Go to World 1-2 and find the second set of moving platforms (the ones moving upward). Get on these platforms and ride them until you reach the top. Then jump up and to the right. You will land on the top bricks of the level. Run right and keep going until you reach an opening. Fall down the opening and you'll see three pipes that will allow you to automatically warp to worlds 2, 3 or 4!

Max Out Lives: Go to World 3-1 and get to the end of the level where the staircase of blocks leads up to the end level flagpole. Two turtles will come down the steps and you'll have to avoid or get rid of the first one. Now, you will have to get the second turtle shell between one of the blocks and Mario's body by jumping on it to make it bounce off the block and Mario multiple times. Once you do this correctly, your score will increase and eventually turn into 1-Ups! This way you can max out your lives!

The Lost Levels: Basically, you must get the number one position on the Ranking Screen (a minimum score of 300,000 points). Then on the Title Screen, select the Luigi icon for an entirely new game - Super Mario Bros 2: The Lost Levels.

You Vs. Boo

being another coin.

Hidden Rooms

Hidden within each level are secret rooms filled with weapon and health power-ups, not to mention free lives! To locate these rooms, you must continue to climb the rope to the right of the first big tree stump (level one), then jump off the rope to the right in the middle of the stone shaft just one screen after escaping the horizontal spikes (level three). Now go kill Dracula!

What's new with Tekken Tag Tournament?

XG Strategy
by Jim Mazurek

After spending an entire day playing the heck out of Tekken Tag Tournament, it's fairly easy to walk away depressed. Depressed because you'll definitely want to play more! It plays just like Tekken 3, but with an all-new fifth button that allows for near-instant switching between fighters. Believe me, it opens up a whole new level of combat depth. TTT is currently on test at various arcades in California, and will be released nationwide in June. (Check this out: Namco will be sponsoring an international TTT tournament this summer! Stay tuned to tekkentagtournament.com for all the details!!)

It's the Little Things...

While certain gameplay tweaks have been implemented into Tekken Tag Tournament (see next page), it's the visual changes that make the biggest impact on most casual players.

• New Costumes

All characters will be given the new visual treatment (some palette swaps, some entirely original). For example, Eddy Gordo now flaunts some stylin' chains, while Bryan Fury's new look bears a curiously striking resemblance to OPM editor Joe "The Prophet" Rybicki.

• 12 Hidden Characters!

These characters are still unknown, but you can bet your life Kazuya and Devil are sure to make their return with style.

• New Backgrounds

Not only have existing backgrounds been given slight changes, but several entirely new ones have surfaced as well.

• Character Interaction

For those of you who are aware of the little custom intros in SF Alpha 3, get ready for some ultra cool tag-team interaction between related characters in TTT (Armor King & King, Hwoarang & Baek, etc.).

Larger Tweaks...

• "Pop-up" Moves

The pop-up moves are now more important than ever, as they make for an easy way to initiate tag combos. Certain returning characters didn't have these moves yet in the preliminary version that was played, but all of the characters will have them in the final version, according to Namco.

• Energy Bar Recharge

Both characters have energy bars, but only one character needs to be killed before the match is ended. Note that the health bar of the character who is out of action will slowly regenerate, but the maximum amount of energy he/she can gain back remains relatively small. (This is another thing that may be modified slightly before the game goes final.) You absolutely MUST be aware of your current health at all times—or be ready to drop in a quarter every 10 seconds when you forget to switch...

Disclaimer: Although all of the foreground characters in the above artwork are confirmed for Tekken Tag Tournament, the background characters are purely speculation at this point. The final release will reveal all! Stay tuned...

Closer Look:

Tag Combos/Juggles

As if the overwhelming amount of juggles in Tekken 3 wasn't sufficient enough, the amount of team combos that are available in the new Tag Tournament is nearly endless. Some are very showy, and definitely give "style points" to the executor. Others are for sheer efficiency, and often referred to as "cheap." Tag combos are going to be the highlight of this game, so learn 'em quick! (Remember the true meaning of a successful combo is one that cannot be teched. You might refer to it as "guaranteed damage.")

Both Ling and Jin in a sidestep frenzy, but...

Ling's launcher kick following Phoenix stance starts off a juggle combo.

Heihachi tags in, and follows through with a weak jab (1).

Heihachi continues the juggle with a second jab (1)...

and finishes it with a Dragon Uppercut (forward, down forward + 1).

Now that's opponent who's in a world of hurt!

Results?

With some decent intensity, this simple five-hit combo did an amazing 71 damage! As with Tekken 3, the better combos will continue to improve...

Check this out...

The Tekken Tag Tournament new intro sports several Tekken 3 characters, as well as some returning favorites from Tekken 2. My guess is that Kazuya is back!

What's New

• Sweep Animations Changed

One of the most notable changes in TTT pertains to each of the characters with forcing sweep animations (Don't confuse this with the standard sweep, which remains unchanged). Paul's Bone Breaker (down+4), and Law's Dragon's Tail (down, back+4) are good examples. If you blocked a sweep in Tekken 3, you would be able to execute another move fairly quick. Not the case with Tekken Tag Tournament. The effective range of all sweeps have been lessened, and you will only receive full damage by being in close while sweeping. Check out the screens below...

• Sweep is Blocked

Characters like Paul are in for a world of hurt when their sweep is blocked. This stumble animation leaves him extremely vulnerable.

• Sweep From Far

Look at that leg rise! The opponent will not be dropped if you are too far away, so accurate ranging is a must in Tekken Tag Tournament.

• Sweep by Close

The move remains unchanged (thank the heavens!).

• Unblockable Moves Get Juiced

While the unblockable moves in Tekken 3 were always nice to throw in and mix it up once in while, they serve an even greater purpose in Tag Tournament. Whenever you feel a character switch is inevitable, (obviously, when the player is down to nearly zero health) there is a short period of time where you can charge up your unblockable and hit the new character as he/she runs out. Learn your opponent's pattern for switching out characters, and exploit it. A good Tag Tournament player will switch characters at different intervals, preventing this attack altogether.

• Multiple Character Throw Chains

These weren't yet complete in the version of TTT that we played, but they are definitely going to be implemented according to Namco representatives. The ability to start a chain throw, then switch out to another character and finish that throw with a linker is absolutely ingenious! We'll have to wait and see what happens with this awesome new technique.

Tactician's Corner

Tekken 3 Expert Strategies

Since Tekken Tag Tournament is using essentially the same engine as Tekken 3, I thought it might be a good idea to touch up on some of the "higher level" strategies that will apply to both games. Remember: Simple and effective!

"Chicken!"

1+3+forward

You'll need to learn how to "counter a counter" if you want to compete. Simply execute this move with any character right as you're about to be countered, and you'll escape the counter with a reversal. Inducing "chickens" (by executing moves that you know they'll counter) is a good way to frustrate counter-happy foes.

Stun Cancels

1+3+forward

Execute a chicken after someone stuns you (this is only applicable to select moves), and you'll no longer be stunned. You need to input the move right after being hit, and you'll shake off the "stun" within milliseconds. It reduces stun duration by as much as 75 percent!!!

Side Stepping

up (tap & repeat)

If you wanna play hardcore, you'll learn the effectiveness of sidestepping one way or another. (I was put to shame by a couple of sidestepping maniacs who could literally get behind me in the blink of an eye.) Regardless of what others tell you, use the sidestep!

Who's New

Most of the Tekken 2 characters are back, and with the time releases there are sure to be even more of the classic crew (Wang, Kazuya, Roger, etc.). All returning Tekken 2 characters have quite extensive updated move lists along with the usual Tekken 3 stylizations (side throws, back throws, sidesteps, new combo jugglers, floaters, etc.).

Coming Soon...

Keep a watchful eye out for XG's comprehensive TTT guide, with all hidden characters revealed, advanced tag combos and complete move lists for all returning Tekken 2 characters.

• Expert Juggling

To become a full-fledged master, you'll need to pull out some intricate air juggles. Five- and six-hit juggles are commonplace to tournament players. Try to find combos that are easy to execute, but offer substantial damage. Make sure that you find actual combos, or combos with "guaranteed damage." Combos that have easy breaking points will be exploited by a seasoned player.

• Poking

Forget about 10-hit combos, as most experienced players know them too well. Poking is the art of stepping in, attacking swiftly and then stepping away. The low jab is commonly overlooked a great tool for knocking people out of their 10-hit combo attacks.

• Buffering Chain Moves

Buffering your moves will make otherwise predictable chains complex. Add delay to your moves by buffering them inside other moves. An example would be to execute a move that links to another move, but start to perform the second move before you finish the first move. It sounds ridiculous on paper, but with a little practice you'll be able to alter the timing of your attacks with ease.

• Effectiveness of the One-Two

I can't tell you how many times this has saved my ass! Don't disregard this little tactic when in the heat of battle. Twenty-hit juggle moves are key, but don't forget the speed and priority of the one-two combo over just about anything else.

• Tech Rolls

Otherwise known as quick recovery rolls, this smooth move allows for instant recuperation after a knockdown. Press 1+2 the second you hit the ground to roll into the background, or 3+4 to roll into the foreground.

Mini-Games

■ Infinity Battle

You need to fight an infinite number of opponents (who get progressively more dangerous) with only a partial refill of your life meter between matches. If you can earn 2000 points here, you'll unlock a third costume for one of the main characters.

Concentrate on getting perfects against the first four to five opponents to quickly earn as many points as you can, because the difficulty level goes up fast. Getting perfects early on allows you to build up a life meter reserve. Later rounds give you less of a life refill when you win. Use a character with unblockable attacks or combos, like Yuffie or Sasuke.

■ Battle Runner

Beat the CPU in a race around a track. Fight them to slow them down, or try to stay ahead of them. Fall behind, and you're given a speed boost to catch up. Win one race to unlock a third costume for your main characters.

Stick with the basic loop and set the number of laps to three. Concentrate on staying ahead of your opponent, rather than trying to fight him/her. Stick to the inner part of the track so you don't have to run as far to complete a lap.

■ Battle Beach

You'll face a series of three challenges that require a lot of rapid button tapping here. First is a basic footrace, then a footrace with a diving finish, and finally a footrace over obstacles. If you can earn 35,000 points total, you'll unlock another costume.

Position two fingers above the X and O buttons, one finger slightly higher than the other. Vibrate your entire arm so your fingers tap the buttons quickly. This will give you the best possible speed for all three events. Try to start tapping exactly when the announcer says "Go!"—you'll need to anticipate this rather than react to it.

■ Battle Panel

You need to place panels of your own color so they surround panels of the opponent's color. Have more panels of your color than your opponents by the time the board is filled to win. Beat the CPU in this mode 10 times to unlock the Evil Battle Panel, then shut out the CPU in Evil Battle Panel to unlock yet another costume.

Concentrate on getting the edge and corner pieces, and remember you can attack your opponent to slow him/her down. Otherwise, quickly analyze the board to see where to put your pieces for best effect. Practice, practice, practice!

Timing

■ Ehrgeiz requires very precise timing for a fighting game. The only thing you can do is go into Practice Mode and practice, practice, practice until you can pull off any move at any time.

Tips

■ Always remember to load your saved game as soon as you turn on your PlayStation.

■ To get all the costumes unlocked, use a cheat device; some requirements are hard to complete without one.

■ Or...to unlock the characters and costumes the noble way, set the game options to one round, Very Easy difficulty, boxes "on."

■ To play with the full versions of each level in VS. Mode, hold the Select button when choosing your arena.

Secrets

There are several extra characters and costumes that can be unlocked by completing various tasks within the game.

Extra Characters:

These are pretty simple to get. Just beat the game with the appropriate character(s), and the associated secret character is unlocked.

| To Get: | Beat Arcade Mode With: |
|---------|---|
| Vincent | Tifa |
| Yuffie | Cloud |
| Masuda | Any default male character (not Cloud or Sephiroth) |
| Clair | Any default female character (not Tifa) |
| Zack | All the Final Fantasy VII characters (Cloud, Tifa, Sephiroth, Vincent and Yuffie) |
| Django | All default characters |

Note: Default characters are the initially selectable characters, apart from Cloud, Tifa and Sephiroth.

Extra Costumes:

There is a third costume for each of the eight main characters. To unlock them, you must meet different requirements. You can fulfill these in any sequence you like, but the costumes are unlocked in a preset order. Each requirement completed will unlock the next costume on the list.

The requirements are:

1. Beat the Final battle. You have to knock both boxes, throw both boxes into the boss and collect all the items that fall to the ground to do this.
2. Beat the CPU in Battle Runner.
3. Collect all the movies, including the additional opening sequence, both endings for Han Daehan and the FFVII movie.

To get the additional opening sequence, let the opening sequence loop five times.

For Han's endings, you must beat the game with Han but not collect his leg. Then you must beat the game with him and collect his leg.

To get the FFVII ending, beat the game with Sephiroth.

4. Finish Arcade mode on normal difficulty without using any continues.
5. Score 3,500 points or more in Battle Beach (extremely hard).
6. Score 2,000 points or more in Infinity Battle (extremely hard).

7. Do a shield combo in Practice mode. Use Godhand's Mach Punch for 1500.
8. Shut out the CPU in Evil Battle 7 times (extremely hard).

To get the Evil Battle Panel, beat the CPU 10 times in a row in Battle Panel, then hold L1, L2, R1, R2 & X while choosing Battle Panel to access it.

Costume Sequence:

The costumes are unlocked in the following sequence as you complete any of the requirements:

- | | |
|----------|------------|
| 1. Yoko | 5. Sasuke |
| 2. Han | 6. Jo |
| 3. Doza | 7. Lee |
| 4. Inoba | 8. Godhand |

Koji Masuda

Playing As:

Stay close to your opponent at all times and be sure to use the elevation levels and boxes to your advantage. Use Leg Scissors, or his running High attack to knock your opponent down, then hit them with Pride. If they're just getting up from an attack, activate Koji's Special Attack and grab them for some heavy damage. His Side Suplex also does good damage, so use it often.

Playing Against:

Not used by the CPU except in Practice Mode. Keep Koji at a distance at all costs. Once he's up close, he's deadly. Use missile specials or grab weapons from broken boxes to nail him with. Don't run away when he rushes you with his special—instead attack to knock him out of it. When you're knocked down, get up quickly.

Clair Andrews

Playing As:

Stay close to your opponent and use either the Lead Jab Combo or the Force Punch. Take advantage of her fast attacks and strings to keep harassing your opponent at all times. If you can knock your opponent down long enough to power up the Maximum Sword, go for it. Use the Hit Sword only if you're a distance away from your opponent, otherwise you'll get clobbered during the windup.

Playing Against:

Not used by the CPU except in Practice Mode. Try to keep her at a distance, but be ready to attack with a missile special if she does a Hit Sword. Block or counter her long strings, or you'll take a ton of damage.

Yuffie Kisaragi

Playing As:

Stay on top of your opponent and use her unblockable moves and strings to whittle them down. Ill Wind Swift Lightning works extremely well for this. If they get away from you, use the Wind Demon Shuriken, or jump and nail them with a Smoke Bomb to stun them, allowing you to do a more powerful throw or string.

Playing Against:

Not used by the CPU except in Practice Mode. Try to keep her at a distance to avoid her unblockable attacks. If you are in close, attack the second she flashes red, signalling an unblockable move. Start running if she jumps—she'll often throw a Smoke Bomb to stun you if you don't.

Vincent Valentine

Playing As:

Attack with Hell's Stairway when up close. Try to get above opponents and unleash his Giga Drive—it does more damage than anyone else's dropping attack. If your opponent is beneath you, try to charge up a Monstershot to hit them with when they reach you. It homes in somewhat, so it doesn't matter as much if it goes off early.

Playing Against:

Not used by the CPU except in Practice Mode. Stay on top of him, he's got excellent distance weapons. Also, don't let him get above you, as his Giga Dive drop attack does a lot of damage. Don't fight him with missile specials, as he can cancel your attack and counter with his own.

Zack

Playing As:

You've got to stay on top of your opponent and hit them with strings. Try to knock your opponent off their feet, then unsheathe Zack's sword. Then, use Ogre Nix to do some damage. Use the boxes and weapons in each arena to help offset Zack's lack of missile attacks.

Playing Against:

Not used by the CPU except in practice mode. Keep your distance from Zack—his sword is dangerous and has a long reach. Once he's gotten the sword out, hit him with any attack to get him to re-sheathe it, and do it quickly. His SA gauge takes a long time to run out.

Django

Playing As:

Take advantage of Django being low to the ground and below many attacks. Use Titan Head to throw your opponent in the air, then hit them with the Seto Combo string as they fall. After you've done some damage, try to stay away from your opponent and use Mega Flare to finish them off.

Playing Against:

To beat Django, lure it into the pit in the bottom corner of the arena. Then, jump out and execute your H+L attack from above to pounce. Tap G to get up and jump out. (If Django attacks, block before jumping out). Repeat.

If you're not fighting on Django's stage, concentrate on low attacks and try to get above it and use your attack from above.

THE SECOND STORY

Section-by-Section Walk-through

XG Strategy
by Scott Augustyn

All of your MP's have out there looking for some kind of a fix before FF8 comes out will not be disappointed with this one.

The graphics are pretty good, the story is very interesting (lots of twists and turns), and the special skill system adds a whole new element to the game that will make you want to play it even more. Oh yes, the music is great, too.

The controls for the normal adventure part of the game are very simple to pick up, but the controls for the battle system are completely different. There are three different types of controls you can actually choose from, and I recommend you try all of them to find out which one you like the best.

This walk-through will provide information on playing through the game as the hero Claude Kenni. However, all of the strategies should apply toward playing as Rem as well.

Spells

◆ Spells are an integral part of the game. They are on the same level as techniques and must be used beforehand to find their best use. Just like techniques, spells will also go up in proficiency as you use them. This will cause them to heal or deliver more points of damage depending on the spell.

◆ One thing to remember about spellcasters is that they will usually either be casting or fighting. Rarely will they do both unless you take control of them in battle and force them to do otherwise. This is usually a bad thing because the damage they deliver from some of their more powerful spells can easily do just as much damage as a hit from their weapon can.

◆ A good piece of equipment to have on any mage is the Mind Ring. This piece of equipment will recover MP's slowly but steadily throughout the entire duration of the battle. With these things activated you will be able to stretch your MP a lot further and can actually recover all of them if you keep the enemy running around the ring trying to engage you in battle.

Formations

◆ There are 25 different formations that you can get into when you go into a battle. Think of the members of the team and set up the formation that you think is best suited for the characters who are in the party.

◆ Experiment with all of the formations on random battles. Some will put your fighters closer to the enemies where they need to be while exposing the spellcasters close as well, and some will put all characters farther back and keep a defensive posture against any attackers. This formation is good for your spellcasters but is bad for your warriors who must travel farther to get to where the battle is.

Item Creation & Super Specialty Skills

Some of the skills that are available will open up options to build items. You can build an unlimited amount of items. Here are all the item creation skills or the combination of skills that you need to get the super creation skills.

|--------------------------------|--|
| Item Creation Skills: | For these skills you need to get the combination of skills up to at least a short level. |
| Art | Sketching, Esthetic Sense |
| Customize | Craft, Metal Casting, Functionality |
| Metalwork | Craft, Mineralogy, Esthetic Sense |
| Authoring | Writing |
| Compounding | Biology, Herbal Medicine, Mental Science |
| Cooking | Kitchen Knife, Recipe, Good Eye |
| Alchemy | Scientific Ability, Mineralogy, Fairyology |
| Reproduction | Copying |
| Machinery | Mechanical Knowledge, Mechanical Operation |
| Super Specialty Skills: | To get these Specialty Skills two or more members must have the skills listed. |
| Master Chef | Cooking, Compounding |
| Publishing | Authoring, Machinery |
| Blacksmith | Customize, Alchemy |
| Reverse Side | Pickpocketing, Reproduction |

Techniques

◆ Each new technique will have a certain delay and area of effect.
◆ Test out each new one to see where it would be most useful.
◆ Some techniques may also have different effects at various ranges from the enemy (i.e., Claude's Air Slash will fire off a fireball-type projectile from a long distance while at a short distance it will create a sort of air barrier that surrounds you and damages all nearby enemies).

◆ You must assign the technique in order for it to be available.
◆ Techniques are similar to spells in the fact that the more you use them the greater your proficiency in them will become. This will cause attack power to go up, or healing power to be increased. In this way the game actually rewards you for sticking to a few select techniques that work really well for your style of battle.

Private Actions

Private Actions will come up before or sometimes after you go into just about every fight. These actions will further advance the dialogue between the characters in the party and adjust the camaraderie level between all of the characters. Some of these private actions can only be performed at certain times as well and will yield new techniques or leads to getting new party members.

In any case you should always try to go and perform a private action. These may take up some time but will help you in the long run. Some of the effects that a positive camaraderie level can have are most notable in battle. If one character has a high camaraderie to another character and one of them falls in battle then the other one will step up and go into a rage. They will fight harder, do more damage, or their spells will have greater effects. Needless to say, this can be a morbid but tremendous asset when it comes to some of the higher level battles against major foes.

The Beginning

Your adventure begins in the small village of Arlia. Here you will get a few small items and your starting weapon. Be sure to take some time to leave the village and get used to the battle system and earn some experience.

Arlia

◆ Here you will learn a little bit about your upcoming adventure. You will also be mistaken for a warrior for the legendary warrior. ◆ You will be given some weak starting weapons and told to go to the next town to the north, Salba.

Salba

◆ Salba will not provide you with much at this point. Take the chance to explore outside of the town and collect enough money to refit your character with the stronger equipment. ◆ Once you have talked to everyone you will have to leave the town and head back to Arlia. ◆ In Arlia you will find out that Rena was captured and you will have to go back to Salba to rescue her. ◆ Allen has taken her to a dungeon that connects to the mine. You will face some new enemies in the mine, but should not be overwhelmed as long as you have a good supply of healing items on you. ◆ At the end of the dungeon you will find yourself in front of an altar with Rena on it. You will enter a battle with Allen for Rena's freedom.

Boss: Allen
HP: 400
Strength: Dark
Weakness: Light

TO A pretty big pushover, just be sure to keep him away from Rena and you should win the battle easily.

Cross

◆ When you first arrive here you will want to go and rest at the inn. ◆ In the morning register to talk with the king. You will then need to talk to the people in the castle and then the guard who is standing in the way to the throne room. After talking to the king head to the end of the town. ◆ Talk to the king and get a side adventure to do.

Cross Cave

◆ This is a small cave similar in size and layout to the ones in Salba. ◆ At the end of the cave you will find a treasure chest with a key. Go through the short hallway and open up another room with five treasure chests in it. After collecting all the chests you will be attacked by two gargoyles (2, 3).

Boss: Gargoyles
HP: 1500/each
Strength: Dark
Weakness: Light

Celine's Ray spell will do great damage here, but again try to keep the fight away from Rena or you may run into some problems.

Items

How to be prepared for any dungeon

There are a couple of items that you should not be without when trying to clear out a new dungeon. These items are the essential backups that you will need in case things get hairy while you are adventuring.

These items include:

Blueberries - These items restore about 22% of your total health. Obviously the higher your base health the more health you will get back from this item. A good backup in case your healer is busy or dead.

Blackberries - This item will restore your MP, about 22% of them. That will usually be more than enough to cast most, if not all, of the spells available to any spellcaster who uses it.

Red Ring - Max it out when you see it in the store. This item is very cheap and can be one heck of a life saver in a deep and unfriendly dungeon. Use it to call yourself a familiar.

Spring Water - You won't get them available until either your familiar level is pretty high or you are far into the game. Once you do get the opportunity I recommend that you buy them. These little beauties will remove any status changes. A very valuable commodity later in the game.

Before you get Spring Water:

◆ Cure Stone - This item does just what its description says: It cancels the stone ailment.

◆ Cure Paralysis - This item does just what its description says: It cancels the paralyze ailment.

◆ Cure Poison - This item does just what its description says: It cancels the poison ailment.

Items to get later in the game

There are a couple of items that you should also try to get later in the game. These items are pretty powerful and can help you get out of some dangerous situations.

Mind Ring - Invaluable. Causes you to regain MP during a match. Every couple of seconds you will get a small amount back.

Bubble Lotion - Put this on your weapon in a battle and you will have a small chance of instantly destroying anything in a hit. I am told that this can be used against bosses too, but I have not seen it myself.

Bunny Shoes - These shoes will make you as fast as possible on the battlefield. Need I say more?

Klik

◆ When you enter the town go over to the dock and talk to the ship captain. He will tell you that they will leave as soon as possible but that the ship is not ready quite yet. (1) ◆ Head north from the dock and enter the town square. Here you will literally run into a child and you will notice that your wallet is missing. ◆ If you talk to the party then you will find out that the child has blue hair. If you talk to the children who were playing on the dock you will find the child is most likely outside the bar. Head over there to meet your small friend. ◆ When you catch him hanging outside the bar you will ask him a series of questions. At the end of the conversation he will offer to give you a tour. Take him to various places in the city to receive a better explanation of the place and the people there. ◆ To get rid of the child, go to the dock where the children are playing. Talk to the ship captain and you will find some new friends for the child. ◆ After you see the ship captain go and talk to the ship captain. He will tell you that they are almost ready. Head to the city square to move on. ◆ After the earthquake happens you will find yourself in the northern part of town. Talk to the ship captain and the ship's captain, then head out of town. Stop and talk to the child you met earlier and then head out of town. (2) ◆ Go to the next town of Mars.

The Tragedy at Klik

This is the next step for your adventure. The town is located on the farthest northeastern peninsula. When you get to the town you should try to do the Private Action first. You'll see why later.

The Kidnapping at Mars

After seeing the tragedy at Clik you will want to go to this small town on the way to the southern port. Here you will find a devious mystery where all the children in this powerful town have been kidnapped.

Mars

- ◆ Enter the town of Mars and try to talk to as many people as possible.
- ◆ Upgrade all of your equipment and armor in the shop.
- ◆ Then head to the first house by the entrance to town and talk with the council members about what has happened. (1)
- ◆ Here you will meet Dias and have a little bit of a disagreement with him. At the end of the conversation you will be with Eulene and you will be waiting outside for Rena, who is talking to Dias.
- ◆ From the city you will head to the forest. This forest is pretty tough so try to be at a good level before you enter. Also make sure that you have a very good supply of blueberries before you enter as you will be facing some pretty strong resistance. Remember, without items to heal the party you will have to take it easy.

The Burning Forest

- ◆ The forest is filled with some pretty strong monsters, but the challenge will come in the form of some bandits wandering through the forest.
- ◆ Remember to equip the boots the mayor gave you so you can move the heavy parts of the forest. (2)
- ◆ After a short time you will start being accused of having a much larger party and causing more havoc than you really are. At the end of the forest you will need to kill a boss.

Boss: [Name]
HP: 3000
Strengths: [Name]
Weaknesses: Light, Fire

Try to use [Name] to deal long-distance light damage on him. (3)

The Possessed Warrior

After you finish at Mars and head down to the port town of Harley you will hear some rumors of a dragon that has started to terrorize the town of Salba. This whole chapter is somewhat of a sidequest, but if you do it you will get a chance to get a new character.

Harley

- ◆ Enter Harley and talk with the two people standing close to the entrance. They will tell you about the dragon that is terrorizing Salba.
- ◆ Leave Harley and head over to Salba.

Salba

- ◆ Go over to the mine and try to find the entrance. The guard at the entrance will tell you that another warrior has already entered the mine and that you may find him if you wish. (1)

Salba Mine

- ◆ The area of the mine that you need to go to is the part that you did not enter. There is a sign saying "Be careful" ahead there.
- ◆ This area of the mine is pretty tough so be ready.

- ◆ After wandering around in the dungeon for a little while you will run into another warrior. He will run past on the screen and you will have a short dialogue between the characters in your party. You surmise that he is the other warrior the guard outside told you about and you should follow him. Follow the path he was heading down to reach him.

- ◆ Eventually you will reach the dragon but the other warrior is already battling. You decide to stay and try to encourage the warrior to beat him. In doing so you will see the warrior and the dragon fight. (2)

- ◆ He becomes very distraught and you get an opportunity to take blame on his behalf. This will also lead to the decision of whether or not you want him in your party.

Mars—Ashton's Dragon sidequest

- ◆ If you decide to try to help Ashton remove his dragons you will first need to head back over to Mars and do some research.
- ◆ From the books in Mars you will find out where you have to go. The first trip will be to the mountain palace. (1)
- ◆ The mountain palace is located south of where Clik used to be and there is a guard at the top of the mountain who won't let you pass.
- ◆ To remove the guard you will need to head back to Cross castle and talk to the king again. Once you talk to him you will receive a pass and some money.
- ◆ At the end of the mountain you will find a silver cup. This is the first part to freeing Ashton, but as soon as you grab it you will be attacked by a powerful demon.

Boss: Nightmare
HP: 9000
Strengths: None
Weaknesses: None

Keep attacking, don't give it the opportunity to attack you or it will perform seriously damaging spells. Try to control Rena and let the warriors duke it out with it.

- ◆ After defeating the boss you will determine that you need to go to the mountain range that is west of Cross castle.
- ◆ The battles here are tough and the enemies are strong, but the dungeon is fairly short and completed quickly.
- ◆ Of course when you reach the end you will have to fight a final boss character to get the next item necessary for the exorcism ceremony.

Boss: Jin
HP: 20000
Strengths: Fire & Wind
Weaknesses: None

With this boss being air-based, charging into battle is that much harder. Try to avoid getting caught underneath any of your fighters or you may destroy both chances at hitting it.

Lacour's Tournament

After you finish with Ashton you should head to Harley and catch a ship over to the continent of Lacour. Here you will have to participate in a contest of arms so try to spend some time building up Claude a little.

Harley

- ◆ Besides the rumors about the king's death there is not much else going on in this town. Be sure to upgrade all of your weapons and stock your items then grab a ship over to the continent of Lacour.
- ◆ The ship that you take will land you in the small port town of Hilton on the continent of Lacour.

Hilton

- ◆ Again there is not too much to do in this town. Upgrade all your weapons and armor and stock up on the necessary items. Then leave the town and head a short distance south to the castle of Lacour.

Lacour

- ◆ Lacour is a fairly big place with a lot of shops and people walking around. Some are very valuable items for sale, others with not-so-valuable things.
- ◆ To get the story moving you should head to the royal court desk in the castle. There you will try to get an audience with the king. You will also be told that the only way you can get an early audience with the king is by winning the tournament.

Getting into (1)

- ◆ Claude talks to the party members and asks if he can join the tournament. The party agrees after a short cinema.

- ◆ You will then need to head to all of the weapon shops that are out there and pick the one that you want. Remember that what they offer is what you will wear, and what items they give you is all that you will have.

- ◆ After you get the items then you can either stay in the town or go outside and build some layers. When you are ready go back to town and stay at the inn.

- ◆ When you wake up head to the north side of the town and over the wall.

- ◆ When you enter the castle you will have to register at the desk, then head into the training room to the left of the desk and talk with the soldiers. Eventually a soldier will come in and you will begin your first battle. (2)

- ◆ The first two battles are not too difficult, but the third is pretty tough. Try to use your special attacks and the sword. If you let him get close then you might have a real hard time beating him as he may interrupt you.

- ◆ Whether you make it to the end of the tournament or not the story will continue and you will win the tournament.

- ◆ You cannot win in the battle against Dias so don't even try. Losing to him is part of the story so just let him beat you. (3)

- ◆ After you return from the battle you will want to head over to whatever item that you want and buy it. Then you will want to head to the west side of the castle and over to the old man. When you do this you will get a pretty strong sword for free and a key to the castle.

- ◆ When you enter the castle you will have to register at the desk, then head into the training room to the left of the desk and talk with the soldiers. Eventually a soldier will come in and you will begin your first battle. (2)

- ◆ The first two battles are not too difficult, but the third is pretty tough. Try to use your special attacks and the sword. If you let him get close then you might have a real hard time beating him as he may interrupt you.

Meeting Opera Vestro

She is the alternate party member you can get if you didn't get Ashton to join your party. Unfortunately if you have Ashton in your party then you cannot get Opera so just skip this part of the walk-through and go to the next part.

Start in Hilton

SPECIAL NOTE !!

For any of this to happen you will need to have performed the Private Action in Cross castle and have met the three-eyed man in that castle.

- ◆ Head into the bar and witness the contest that is being held there between a man and a woman. A short dialogue will happen and you will meet Opera. She will tell you that she is going to head back to Cross castle to try to catch up with the man.

- ◆ You will want to follow this woman so head over to the boat and take a quick side-trip back over to Cross castle.

- ◆ Once you reach the continent then head over to Cross castle and talk to the king. You will have a subject to talk about, and that is about Opera. He will tell you that she went to the Mountain palace and you decide that you should go there as well to try to catch up with her.

- ◆ After getting permission from the king you should head over to the Mountain and get crawling.

- ◆ After some traveling you will run into Opera complaining. You will have a short dialogue and get the opportunity to get her to join the party to search for the king.

- ◆ Soon after that you will find a very hard to fight down then the other can be sandwiched easily for victory.

- ◆ Once you examine the king beyond the boss you will come to a dead end. From here the party will ask Opera if she wishes to permanently join their group. After you say yes you will head out to return to the continent of Lacour.

- ◆ Once you are back on Lacour head north from the castle to Linga.

Fire & Ice

These bosses are very strong and you should try to attack them from a distance if possible. One of them is

Linga & The Cave of Sages

Here you will finally be able to translate the ancient writings that you got so long ago. Unfortunately the one person in town who could translate won't see you, Figures. So to prove your worth you will have to go on a small adventure to the Cave of Sages.

Linga

- ◆ When you first enter this town you will stumble onto an interesting pair of characters. A robot and a human girl chasing the robot. You will have a short dialogue and then have to move on.
- ◆ The house that has the most prominent translator in the town is close to the opening in the northern part of town. It is to the right of that opening. Go in there and talk with the assistant. (1)
- ◆ Having been turned down from meeting with the professor you will want to talk to some of the people around the town and see if they can help you. The person who you want to talk to is the one who runs the pharmacy to the left of the university. His name is Bowman and he will give you a quest to prove your strength and determination.
- ◆ This cave is to the east of the town itself. Get prepared before going into the cave, though, because you will fight some pretty tough monsters in there. And you may be wandering there for a while.

Cave of Sages

- ◆ This cave is filled with some pretty strong monsters, so you will want to stock up on the blackberries and blackberries before entering.
- ◆ There are a ton of plants to find in the cave, the problem lies in the fact that all of them have been discovered previously. There is one plant in the center of the dungeon you will find that looks to be unique.
- ◆ The problem with that is it's guarded of course.

Stats: 3 Vissayers
Strength: 30000/each
Weaknesses: None
Light & Lightning

These bosses are especially dangerous up-close because they can swallow party members. If they do, those party members will be out of the battle until they are spit out in a successful attack on the monster forces them to release the character inside. Try to use long-range attacks to avoid getting killed this way. (2)

- ◆ After you kill the bosses then make your way out and back over to Linga and the pharmacy shop where Bowman is.
- ◆ There talk to Bowman and give him the plant that you worked so hard to obtain. He may either tell you to go or give you the plant some new information that the plant was already discovered. Don't worry though because any way you hand it to him he will be impressed with your strength and take you to meet Keith right away. There you will learn a little interesting information about the writings but not much other than that.
- ◆ After the short dialogue you will end up staying the night at Bowman's house. Here you will get the opportunity to get Bowman as a party member if you haven't picked up Opera as a party member already.
- ◆ When you finish it will be time to head back over to Lacour Castle and talk to the king.

The Energy Stone

After finishing in Linga you will want to head back over to the castle of Lacour. Once you enter you will find out some disturbing things and you will be charged with saving the castle and continent!

Lacour Castle

- ◆ Enter the castle and talk with the soldier by the door.
- ◆ Head to the back of the town and enter the castle. Once inside talk with the receptionist and register.
- ◆ When you enter the main area talk with the old man who Rena knows and you will get a free set of armor.
- ◆ Head downstairs and into the laboratory. You will witness a discussion between the scientists and the king. You will be caught and have to take on a mission to prove your innocence.
- ◆ If Bowman is in the party he will talk with the king. If he is not then one of the scientists will recognize Claude and vouch for him.
- ◆ Go to Hilton and catch a ship that will go to the Hoffman Ruins where you will need to find the magical stone.

Hoffman Ruins

- ◆ The ruins are not too complicated. The only thing to get used to is that the paths circle around and some can be hard to find in the background.

- ◆ Another thing to note in the ruins are the switches scattered around. For the most part when you flip these switches you will cause a massive explosion and damage the party. This can be dangerous with some of the monsters that are roaming around the ruins.
- ◆ There is one switch that is in the middle of the main hallway and if you see it, turn it off and open up the wall behind it. In this small cavern that is behind there you will find some pretty good treasure.
- ◆ You cannot miss the energy stone that you need because there is a save point right before the room with it and there is a pretty good glow that comes from it.
- ◆ When you go for the stone you will be attacked by a couple bosses.

Stats: 2 Harphyn
Weaknesses: Fire & Wind & Star & ???
Light & Dark

These two have very good defense. This is not unbreakable, but they are very fast and can often beat you to a one-on-one hit. Try to get off some MP on these two. Once one of them is dead then the other is much easier to beat. (1)

- ◆ After defeating the two bosses you will have a short dialogue.
- ◆ If you have Rena in the party then you encounter a familiar face, Ghost. He is a ghost and you must battle the ghost out of him.

Stats: Ghost
Strength: 8600
Weaknesses: None

This boss is relatively easy for you as long as your characters are somewhat built-up by this time. (2)

- ◆ After you finish the ghost you will get the opportunity to keep Opera in the party or not. If you choose to keep her then you will also get Rena as a party member.

Lacour

- ◆ Head back into the castle and show the king that you have collected the energy stone needed.
- ◆ He will then ask you to go to the front line outpost and help them defend the border from the invading hordes of monsters. (1)

Front Line Outpost

- ◆ The outpost itself is north of the port town of Hilton. The monsters surrounding the fort can be powerful so you should try to spend some time out there and build up some levels.
- ◆ When you arrive in the fort try to talk to everyone. To move the story along you will want to go to the general's office.
- ◆ After talking with the general go outside and talk with Gena.
- ◆ After finishing some more story you will retire for the night. When you wake up in the morning you will want to talk to a couple people. After you finish talking to a few people the alarm will sound and you will want to run to the battlement overlooking the valley.
- ◆ The first battle you will have to fight will be with Sin.

Invasion of Lacour

You retrieved the energy stone that was hidden deep in the Hoffman Ruins, but upon returning you find out that Lacour is at a precarious brink.

Boss: Sin
HP: 21000
Strengths: Everything
Weaknesses: None

You cannot beat this boss so just run around and avoid him. Eventually the battle will end. (1)

- ◆ You will then have to rest and talk to more people around the base. The alarm will sound again and you'll have to run back to the battlement.
- ◆ During this battle the Lacour flag will be fired though and the battlefield will be cleared. (2)
- ◆ You will now have to go to the port town of Hilton and find a ship that is going to leave. This ship is owned by the Commander of El.
- ◆ Upon approaching the continent you will come under attack again, by the same enemy you fought before. Sin is still unbeatable but instead of avoiding him you will need to just let yourself be killed by him.
- ◆ You will then wake up washed up on the shore of El with Rocco.
- ◆ Head out of the shore and to the village to meet the rest of the party.
- ◆ From there you will be back to El to keep from there at being him with your party.

Skills

Which ones to power up and which ones not to

A total of 45 skills exist in the Star Ocean world. Deciding which one of those to power-up can be a very daunting task. Save up all of your skill points until you get the skill of Perseverance. Once you get it maxed out, this will cause the skill cost for all of the other skills to lower.

What you do with your points after that is a matter of preference. You should take into consideration the nature of your character though. I recommend you learn motormouth for your spellcasters and combat skills for your warriors. Here are some more suggestions for a powerful character.

Effort - This skill lowers the amount of experience you need to get to another level.

Magical Science - Especially valuable for the spellcasters. It increases the amount of MPs by five times the skill level.

Whispering & Animal Training - These two skills combined will allow you to use the familiar skill. This will be invaluable when you are in a deep dungeon and need some supplies. Have a good supply of pet food though.

Functionality - Increases four of the major statistics in the game: Str, Dex, Agl and Int. High-priced but a nice payout at lower levels.

Copying - Essential if you wish to try to reproduce a lot of the powerful items in the game. The higher your level the higher the chances of you successfully making the copy. Requires the Magical Camera, and the Magical Film.

Commentary

Another priceless skill for warriors. This skill offers a chance that each attack the enemy tries will be cancelled and you will push an attack through on them. This does not guarantee a successful hit but your character will take a swing at the enemy.

Speed - A very useful combat skill that increases the speed you move on the battlefield.

The 10 Sages

Think you are getting close to the end of the game? Well you are wrong. You are now about halfway done. What else could there possibly be? You will see soon enough, in the tower of Eluria.

Eluria Tower

- ◆ The battles in the tower are very hard so try to have your character's levels at least 30s or 40s.
- ◆ As you move through the levels you will see a bunch of glass statues of various sizes and shapes scattered around the tower. The numbers and letters they have on them are a code you will later need to get to the top floor.
- ◆ When you reach the right point on the second floor he will ask you for the code. Here you will need to enter A, F, O, C, A. That will open up the way to the rest of the tower by giving you a security code.
- ◆ Go to the left closed-off area first. You will be returned to the Calnus and you will talk with your father for a short time. He wants to be returned and say goodbye to your friends.

- ◆ When you return to the other closed-off area and you will fight Sin for real this time.

Boss: Sin
HP: 21000
Strengths: Everything
Weaknesses: None

A pretty tough battle, but not too bad. He is a lot more mellowed out than before and you can actually kill him. Use earth sword attacks to crush him and his minions. (1)

Boss: 3 Stone Statues
HP: 2200
Strengths: Dark
Weaknesses: Light

The extra enemies you will need to fight. They are not too hard and should be taken care of first so they are out of the way.

- ◆ After beating up Sin go up a few more floors to the sorcery room itself. You will see the end of the story and be launched into another battle.

Boss: Metatron
HP: 100000
Strengths: None
Weaknesses: None

Unwinnable battle, just stay alive long enough and you will get through the battle.

Energy Nede

After a pretty sound defeat by the 10 Wise Men you are transported to a strange world that Rena recognizes as Nede, her home planet. You will need to wander about for a while until you meet with the mayor of Central City. There your new adventure begins.

Central City

- ◆ This city is a very big place. You can buy some very powerful weapons and armor here. Also be sure to check out the item shop and stock up on the cool and valuable things they have here.
- ◆ On a side note, if you use your authoring skill to create some books you can tell them to the editor in the main city building. If you then go back to him after a while he will reward you with the books. When you return he will reward you with the books from the books' sale. It is a good source of practically free money.
- ◆ If you want to get another extra person for your party you will need to wander around the town and see the person following you.

Warning

SPECIAL NOTE !!

You cannot reach these towns yet but you will be able to as soon as you get yourself a Synard. Be sure to check them out at least once when you can.

- ◆ This city is much like Utopia, a city of scholars. Be sure to check out the university in the back of the town.

- ◆ Also be sure to have yourself a private action in this town so you can learn a little bit about the library records in Utopia.
- ◆ You can also gather some good items in this town.
- ◆ Be sure to talk with the professor in the computer lab. He will tell you what he has been working on lately, then talk to the dean and see what he has to say. When you get Chisato in your party you can get the requested information from her on how to get into those encrypted files. You will then have to wait until you get back from the Monsho Research Facility to get the final things you need. Once you return talk to the professor again, then talk to the dean again, then talk with the professor again. You will need to turn some time then, so do a private action, then return and you should be able to read those encrypted files. (2)

Fun City

- ◆ A special kind of town that is filled with games. It costs a small amount of money to get into the town but you will have the opportunity to win some very powerful items if you play your cards right.

- ◆ The bunny race is hard to guess but can deliver some pretty good loot if you are patient. Buy the cheapest deal and go through all 30 races. (3)
- ◆ The cooking contest is pretty hard and be sure to make the all-purpose knife on first before you enter the contest. Try to make the more challenging dishes to score higher points.
- ◆ The arena is a pretty cool place to fight. There are several different kinds of battles you can get into and you can get some pretty good prizes if you win. A definite worth try.

Armlock

- ◆ The town of weaponry. You will actually need to visit this town in the progress of the game.
- ◆ It is hard to be a warrior here but they sure do make some killer weapons. You can buy the strongest in the game and equip yourself for your upcoming battles.
- ◆ As soon as you finish your quest you should fly over to here and outfit yourself with the best equipment you can afford. The equipment here will save you a lot of trouble.

North City

- ◆ North city is where they breed and raise the Synard. This also holds a big library that is completely electronic.
- ◆ When you get near the shop in this town you will see that same woman you saw before in Central City who was following you. She quickly runs away before you can catch her.
- ◆ To get the ball rolling on getting you a Synard you will have to go to the north part of the town and talk to the receptionist by the door.
- ◆ After inputting data into the mind of the Synard, the animal goes mad and starts to destroy everything. You just outside quickly to try to stop it.

Synard
HP: 43000
Strength: None
Weaknesses: Lightning

A quick fight because the enemy is in the air. Try to attack it quickly and from behind if possible. The animal's fire breath will do enormous amounts of damage to anyone who gets too close to it. (4)

Noel's House & Synard's Cave

- ◆ From North City the director will send you to the home of someone new. Here you will meet Noel. She will help you catch Synard in the local cave where they live.
- ◆ The cave of the Synard is not that far from Noel's home but be prepared for some very hard battles. There are some items wandering outside to build up some items before entering. Remember you can go to Noel's home and rest to recover your party.
- ◆ As you wander through the cave you will see the woman who has been following you run above you. She will drop something on the ground before leaving and you can head back over there and pick it up if you do you will find that it is the business card of Chisato Madison, and that she works for the Central City Newspaper.

- ◆ The Synard is on the lowest level and is under attack when you reach it. Charge in and try to save it.

2 Archemenes
HP: 40000
Strength: Lightning

The main strength of these bosses is their speed. They are very fast and can hit you several times the second. Watch them when they get near your party and try to use Celine if possible. Her thunders will attack will do pretty good damage on both of them. (4)

After beating the two attackers you will earn the respect of the Synard and she will agree to help you on your journey. Now you can fly anywhere that you want.

The Field of Intelligence

This is your first challenge to get the power of Nede. This is the easiest of the challenges and that is why you should perform it first. The goal is to use the teleporters to make it into the center of the maze.

General City

- ◆ After talking with Mayor Narl you should head downstairs to the newspaper and try to talk with Chisato. She is the editor you saw in the Cave of the Synard. When you show her the card you have she confessed to following you and you will have the opportunity to have her join up with you as a party member. (1)
- ◆ You should also take some time to restock your inventory and upgrade any weapons or armor.
- ◆ Now you will need to head to the field of intelligence. The picture below will show you what to look for. Another useful tip to finding these fields is to check the radar and fly over all the red spots on the map.

Field of Intelligence

- ◆ In this dungeon there are some pretty difficult enemies. One of the hardest ones are the Wizards. They can cast some serious group-affliction spells and are invincible when they are moving around the battlefield. Either use your own attack magic against them or use ice or fire to team them.
- ◆ When you start the area you should go to the left side then to get to the center you will need to make all of the pedestals spin. To use the teleporters you will need to step on the green pads. Realize that where you get teleported to will be in the same location as where you teleported from, just on the other side. Once you activate all of the pedestals head over to the right-side mirror side. (2)

- ◆ The right side isn't complicated at all. Pretty much the same things as on the left-hand side. Once you activate all of the pedestals on the right side you will see a brief scene where the center teleporter is activated.
- ◆ To talk to the Wizard and find the water mirror is at the end of the hall.
- ◆ When you enter the area you will see an area and be able to enter the first part of the Nede puzzle. You will have to beat a boss at first.

Enemy: Wizard
Strengths: Earth & Water & Fire & Star & Lightning & Ice
Weaknesses: None

2 Magic Box

Strengths: Fire & Star
Weaknesses: None

3 Work Box
30000
Fire & Star
Lightning

4 Guard Box
Lightning & Fire

To beat all of these enemies you will need to take them one step at a time. First you should move all characters away from the center of the screen. Then start by attacking and destroying the guard and work boxes first. They will be the major problems of the hand if you let them. Once you kill them you can either destroy the magic boxes that feed the hand the instructions on how to attack or you can try to attack the hand itself and then take out the boxes. I chose to destroy the boxes first and that crippled the hand for an easy kill. (3)

Field of Power

- ◆ The field of Power is located on the snowy mountain island. The entrance is at the base of the mountain and the only place you can enter.

Inside the Field of Power

- ◆ The type of enemies you will face in this mountain trial are extremely powerful, hence the name of the test. You won't find any annoying magic-users here but you will be just overwhelmed by the amount of damage these enemies will deliver. Protect your spellcasters very well or you may lose that vital heal spell and be in big trouble.
- ◆ Another problem you will find in this area will be the scattered Yetis that are all guarding switches. To get past them you will have to kill them all before they can get to the right side of the screen. It is a pretty difficult task, but if you can do it then you can gather up some pretty good treasure. If you cannot then you will make the path to the top a little longer and may just lose yourself in completely. (1)

- ◆ When you reach the top of the mountain you will have to cross a bridge and halfway across the bridge you will be attacked by the field's guardian.

Boss: Guardian
Strengths: Earth & Water & Fire & Star & Lightning & Ice
Weaknesses: None

This battle will be a very difficult and a very long one. The amount of damage he can deliver is enormous and he knocks you back with every hit. Try to use all of your MP's using your special techniques on him, then sandwich him with your lightning and just trap him with hits. Eventually his arms will be destroyed and you will be facing his arms with balls attached at the ends. These do more damage and affect a small radius around him. Once you do some more damage his arms and legs will be destroyed and he will attack by doing a small circular laser attack. Try to attack him from a distance here or you may get smoked pretty bad.

- ◆ The fastest way down is to go to the edge shown here and try to see if your voice can make an avalanche. It will cause an avalanche and you will be thrown down to the first level, at the entrance. You will take some damage but it may be worth it if you don't beat the Yetis to the switches. (2)

The Heroes

A brief look at each of them

There are a total of 12 different characters in the game. Some of the characters are tied together with the hero (or heroine) of the game. Basically this means that some of the characters will join the party only if the hero who you chose was Claude or Rena. There are also some characters who will not join your party if there is another certain character already in the party. Example: If you have Ashton in your party then you cannot get Opera.

Claude - One of the main heroes to choose from. He will be an incredible fighter when he develops.

Seal Lafford - Pretty much the only healer in the game, also one of the main heroes. She becomes a powerful spellcaster.

Julia - Well-versed in the Heraldic Arts, she is a powerful spellcaster.

Jean - A former professor turned fighter. He can get some powerful techniques later in the levels.

Dias Flac - One of the greatest swordsmen in the game. He will only join the party if Rena is the hero.

Precis F Neuman - She is an inventor and machinery freak. Although she can do some good damage she is very much a long-range fighter.

Ashton Anchors - He has a fighter's heart, and will only join if Opera is not in the party. His techniques are very powerful and he can be a very useful fighter to have.

Ernest - A very powerful offensive spellcaster. He will only join the party if Claude is the hero.

Opera Ventus - She can be a vicious enemy against any flying creatures you attack. Will only join the party if you don't have Ashton in it.

Ernest - His range is very long for a normal attack. He will only join the party if Opera is in the party as well.

Chandler - He is one of the only other characters who can heal at all. This character is very balanced out.

Madison - A powerful warrior. Some of her techniques are very fearsome and do good damage.

The Field of Courage

◆ This is the next field to be fought in the game. This one has pretty much the same type of monsters as the previous one had. They are slightly stronger and there are slightly more of them. Here is where the field is located.

◆ This is the first and only real maze in the game. There are several paths to the end but they are just as many ways to go in circles forever as well.

◆ If at any time you get lost and cannot find your bearings, just head back through the entrance that you came from and you should end up at the beginning of the maze.

◆ Remember there is a bunch of treasure that is scattered around the dungeon. You will need to stray away from the path in order to gather all this stuff.

◆ When you reach the end of the path you will find the Hero Statue. Go up and then backtrack to the beginning of the dungeon.

The Field of Love

◆ This is the last and most difficult of fields. The enemies you will face here will be extremely strong and can dish out incredible amounts of damage. This field is located pretty much in the middle of the map. It is a floating castle and you will land on it when you near it with your Synard.

◆ This field is incredibly small. Just follow the paths that are laid out for you. You will need to touch each of the crystal balls to rotate the platforms and create bridges for you to get across.

The Field of Courage

The third most difficult field to challenge. Here your biggest puzzle will be the maze that you have to navigate. The enemies are similar in power to the former trial, the field of Power.

◆ From the beginning head to the right and then head right again. Take the elevator. (1)

◆ From the exit of the elevator head to the right and examine the altar. When you put the statue back in the place you will get attacked by the next boss.

Boss: Guardian
HP: 130000
Strength: Earth & Water & Fire
Weakness: Dark

◆ Almost familiar? It's pretty much the same as the previous Guardian. Use the same strategy as you did before and you should be able to win. (2)

The Field of Love

The toughest and final field that you must conquer. The good news is that it is probably the shortest challenge in the game. The bad news is that it is filled with some really difficult enemies who don't like you.

◆ When you get to the end you will of course face a boss.

Boss: Lavar
HP: 60000
Strength: None
Weakness: Light

This boss is not too difficult but she is surrounded by one of the stronger enemies who are found in the field. As long as you focus on fighting her she will not be able to do too much against you, but her minions are a lot tougher. (1)

Confrontation

The final battle is near. With the power of all four of the fields things are starting to look up for our party for a change. Talking with the mayor of Central City will reveal some disturbing facts but the story continues to plod on.

Central City

◆ After defeating the field 11 you will want to return to Central City and report your progress to the Mayor. Nari tells you he can see you have gotten much more powerful since you began your quest to conquer the last battle.

◆ You will then meet the girl Marianna. She will confirm that the attack force is ready to move against the Ten Wise Men. She also says that the attack will begin tomorrow.

◆ After that rest you and your party. Then the day is ready to begin. Go to the Wise Men's house in Feenal.

◆ When you reach Feenal you will see a small cinema where Claude's father comes under attack and you will get into a battle with a mech and its small counterpart.

This is a fight that you cannot win so don't even try. Just let him defeat you and the story will go on. (2)

◆ After you are defeated in battle you will return back to Aqua and Marianna in Central City. The mayor will tell you that you fought well and the problem is your weapons are too powerful. He will tell you to get weaker weapons. (3)

◆ He then tells you to go and meet him at the city of Monsho that he will take you to the Monsho Research Facility there.

The Monsho Research Facility

This is where some of the Nedians' most powerful weapons were created. You will need to go here and try to salvage as much as you can for your upcoming battle against the 10 Wise Men.

Armlock

◆ If you haven't yet, when you get to Armlock be sure to upgrade all of your weapons and armor to the best possible.

◆ When you get to Armlock you will also notice there is a person waiting outside for you at the far house. Go there to meet up with the mayor and enter the sealed door. (1)

◆ The door itself will take you to the Research Facility. Once there be sure to look around as much as you can. You will be able to find a pretty valuable treasure, the main one. You will also find a lot about the facility's history. Rena and the facility's director.

◆ After seeing the video Rena runs off and leaves you alone. You will need to go back by the transporter to find Rena and keep the story going. (2)

◆ Once you finish talking with Rena head back to the central computer and talk with the rest of the group.

◆ When you return to Armlock you will need to go to the house that is in the middle of town. One with the chimneys on top. There will be the mayor's house. (3)

◆ The weapon that is shown is very advanced and supposedly very powerful.

ful. To make this weapon though you will have to find some pretty rare materials.

◆ The metal that holds this rare metal is to the west of the town so get yourself prepared and then head out and over there.

Mirage Cave

◆ The cave itself is not all that difficult. You will find only a couple of enemies and they are not that strong. Just take a little to kill and not be overly prepared.

◆ Leaving the end of the cave you will find a small cave. It is the only animal that Mirage mentioned had the metal. And it's a big one.

The 10 Wise Men Attack

After getting all of the materials necessary to create weapons to fight the 10 Wise Men you head over to Fun City. There you will train for your upcoming battle. Your characters are reaching the end of their quest.

Fun City

- ◆ Head to Fun City like the mayor ordered and you will be met at the entrance by a park employee. Here you will be able to train with the new weapons Mirage supplied you. This is a great way to gather up some extra experience. You can train for as long as you like and you can even rest up after each fight. This is a great place to rest and gather some easy experience to take advantage of it. (1)
- ◆ When you are ready to move on with the story change to head out and meet up with the mayor. Once this is chosen you will meet up with a trio of Wise Men. A battle with one of them will ensue.

Boss: Raphael
HP: 50000
Strengths: Earth & Fire & Lightning & Dark
Weaknesses: None

This sage has a couple very powerful up-close attacks. Try to use long-range attacks to keep your distance or sandwich him between two fighters and don't give him the chance to attack you. Be very careful to keep your healers protected, you will definitely need them. (1)

- ◆ Once you beat this wise man you will remember that there are two more running around. You will then go running out of the stadium after the other two. When you reach the outside of the arena you will run into another one of the Wise Men.

Boss: Jophiel
HP: 160000
Strengths: Everything
Weaknesses: None

A very quick target. Not too many attacks, but you may have a tough time keeping up with this one. His attacks are hard to avoid but you can take a hit or two and survive as long as your levels are somewhat decent by this time. (3)

- ◆ After beating this wise man you will remember that there was one more and that he said something about following that woman.
- ◆ Head to Armlock, and then over to Mirage's house to catch the third and last wise man.

Boss: Metatron
HP: 170000
Strengths: Everything
Weaknesses: None

The hardest of the three that you have fought up to this point. He is strong to everything and one heck of a fighter. He has two major attacks, one sword attack that is so fast that it can cancel some of your attacks in mid-slash, and a shield attack that will make him invincible for a short time. When his shield goes up you should try to avoid him until the shield drops. (4)

The Final Battle

This is the final attack, but it is the most major battle you will be in. I suggest you stock up on pet food before you go into the tower. You will need the extra supplies that your familiar can bring to you.

Feenal

- ◆ Be sure to get your pet food before you enter into Feenal. As soon as you enter you will be attacked by three more Wise Men. Be sure to save before entering.

Boss: Zadkiel

Boss: Raphael
HP: 85200

Boss: Kamael
HP: 100000
Strengths: Earth, Fire, & Dark
Weaknesses: None

Although the HP for these bosses are lower than normal, the attacks they do are much more powerful. You need to concentrate on one of the Wise Men and then move on to the next after he has been defeated. One tactic I found that worked was switching to Rena and taking care of all of the healing. (1)

- ◆ Once you finally get into the town you will have to find the elevator and head to the fifth floor. When you get to the fifth floor you will face two more Wise Men.

Boss: Haniel
HP: 160000
Strengths: Everything
Weaknesses: None

Boss: Michi
HP: 180000
Strengths: Everything but Water
Weaknesses: Water

These guys are another problem. Try to cast Anti when you start in, lessen the fire damage that will be done to the group, also equipping star rubies will reduce the damage received. Switching to Rena and letting the rest of the group pummel one of the Wise Men worked again for me.

- ◆ With the death of these two you have almost wiped out the Wise Men completely. Only two more remain.
- ◆ The next area is a maze and you will need to hit three switches to get the final door to open. The switches you need to flip are in rooms all by themselves. All of these switches are in the western most rooms. Once you flip the switches you can get through the last door that is to the very north of the maze.

Boss: Lucifer
HP: 300000
Strengths: Everything
Weaknesses: None

The most dangerous part of this boss is the fact that his most damaging attack leaves him invincible for a short time and makes his attacks much more powerful. Try to equip your characters with the most powerful armor so you will have some extra protection against his wind attacks.

- ◆ You finally made it to the last boss. Thought you saw it all, well here comes the final headache.

Boss: Lucifer
HP: 300000
Strengths: Everything
Weaknesses: None

The attacks this enemy performs are incredibly powerful and getting close to him is an incredibly bad idea. The best tactic to use is to use long-range attacks. The right death is especially deadly from close-range so keep your distance until you're ready to finish the boss.

Full Walk-through

by Jason Streetz and Dirk

LUNAR: Silver Star Story Complete isn't the most difficult RPG in the world, but it's still worth playing through, even if you played the original LUNAR years ago on the Sega CD. This walk-through is mainly to be used as a reference guide, since like we said, the game isn't all that hard. The only challenging parts lie in the boss battles, which can be real difficult if you're not prepared. Be sure to level up often early on!

The Dragon Trials

■ Much of Silver Star Story is spent seeking out the Four Dragons so Alex may take (and hopefully pass) the Dragon Trials. As it turns out, the Trials are rather straightforward—generally, the adventure toward the Dragon turns out to be the Trial itself. As Alex completes each Trial, he is given some special equipment. Each piece gets you one step closer to becoming a Dragonmaster!

■ With each Dragon item Alex gets, he also gets access to another special spell. These spells are the most powerful (and expensive to cast) in the game, so use them sparingly (save 'em for boss battles).

The Four Dragons are the keys to success in Silver Star Story.

Taking on the Dungeons

Dungeon Areas

■ Anything which is not in a village or the overworld map is what I consider a dungeon. In these areas the enemies are visible on the map itself, unlike most other RPGs where you get randomly surprise-attacked. In LUNAR, it's possible to actually try to avoid enemy encounters by dodging them as they charge you. Another nice feature of this system is that once you have killed a particular pack of enemies, they'll stay dead until the game reloads the area next time (after you leave and return).

■ In general, it's not a good idea to run away from enemies if you have the strength to fight them. Why? Because in most cases, once you've beaten the boss (or done whatever it is you came to do) in a dungeon, you must then make your way back out of it manually! Unless you have a Dragonfly Wing or the Escape Litany spell, you'll have to trek back to the entrance, which could be a problem if you got hammered by the boss. Enemies who you avoided on the way in will still be there to kick your butt on the way out, and if you're hurtin' from a close call with a boss, you may end up in big trouble.

■ For much of the first part of the game, there is little of interest in the dungeons other than their stated objective (the boss, for example). If there is an alternate route through the dungeon, it is generally rewarded with some token treasure (an Herb, a Healing Nut, a Silver Light, etc.). Only once you've advanced further in the game do the dungeons begin to get stocked with worthwhile items and equipment. Details on what you can find in the later dungeons are outlined ahead...

Enemy Types

While in a dungeon, you can see the enemies on the screen. When they spot your character, they'll follow you. Many of them make an audible indication that the party has been spotted. That's when it's time to fight or flee!

Flying:

These enemies will fly over any obstacle to get to the party. They have no range limitation and will keep following you until you're tagged.

Charging:

These enemies mill about slowly until the party is spotted. Once this occurs, they will charge toward them (at 45-degree angles) for a burst. You can tell when you've been spotted because they'll let out a weird shout. These have no range limitation.

Towns

It should go without saying that each town should be thoroughly explored. This means speaking with each person you encounter repeatedly for more plot information, as well as visiting the shops to upgrade your equipment. The latter point is perhaps the most important. If you don't have the cash to buy new stuff, get out and earn it! Having the best possible gear as you reach each new area is of utmost importance.

Talk to people as often as you can. The dialogue is surprisingly good!

Overworld Encounters

There are none! That's right, there are no overworld battles in LUNAR. Most of it is very straightforward and easy to get through. When heading from point A to point B, there's usually only one way to get there, and not much else along the way of interest. The overworld map is large, with a lot of pointless, inconsequential space. As much looking around as I did, I didn't find much more than the plot-progressing towns, caves, etc.

Unlike the original LUNAR, this time there are no overworld fights.

Level Building Hotspots

There are a few spots in the game that are particularly useful for developing your characters' experience levels.

|---------------------|--|
| Old Witch Forest | North of Saith. Good spot early on. |
| Meribia Sowers | Behind Dross'/Ramus' shop and Mel's Mansion. |
| Meribia under Siege | After the White Dragon is enslaved (this one's great!) |
| Vane Trail Caves | Near the Transmission Spring. Lots of strong baddies. |
| Forest | The forest between Reza and Meryon. |
| Blue Dragon Spire | An overall good spot for experience gaining. |
| Forest of Illusion | The forest west of Tamar is prime for building up. |

White Dragon Island

I. Burg Village

The story begins with Alex and his sidekick Nall near Dyne's Memorial, just outside Burg Village. Eventually they encounter Ramus, a future party member, who wants them to travel to the White Dragon Cave with him on a rabid treasure hunt (can't blame the guy for wanting to get rich...). Return to the town and take note of the Statue of Althina—although there's no immediate use for it, you may need it later! Speak with people in the town—Nall will mention that Luna, Alex's singing partner, is awaiting them near the spring. Once you've gotten around and talked to everyone in the village, head to the spring, which is over the bridge to the right of the village and off the top of the map. Luna will sing and talk about the former Dragonmaster, Dyne. Once she's done she'll join your party. Return to Alex's house, where Alex's father will grant you some items for your upcoming adventure. Check the basement for even more items (Herbs, etc.), and then go buy equipment at the shop in town. Equip Alex with the Flame Ring and Luna with the Slingshot.

The quest kicks off in Burg, the home town of Alex and Luna.

II. White Dragon Cave

Proceed east of Burg, then around the southwest bend of the mountains. The entrance to the cave is very evident. The White Dragon Cave is real straightforward, without much interesting stuff to find. The treasures you'll gather are mostly Herbs. When necessary, you must use the charging-type enemies to clear paths through the ice blocks that stand in your way. Just stand behind the block, lure the enemies toward you and then get out of the way. (You'll need this later to obtain the White Dragon Ring.) Once you find the White Dragon in his lair, he'll discuss various important plot elements. Pay attention, because this is where the plot kicks in! The White Dragon's trial is to obtain his White Dragon Ring, hidden elsewhere in the cave. Go get it (it's in one of two chests that are surrounded by ice blocks—use the charging-type enemies to get through), and return it to him. You'll be given the White Dragon Diamond, which Ramus is intent on selling for some serious profit.

Quark sounds like he's gargling mouthwash, but listen up anyway.

III. Back to Burg

Try to sell the Diamond at any of the shops in town. The shopkeepers will tell you that it's out of their price range. Soon you'll hear of Meribia, a distant free city on the main continent—supposedly this place has peddlers that will purchase the gem. After some man-to-man between Alex and Ramus, the party decides to embark on a quest to Saith, a port city that leads to Meribia. In order to get there, you'll have to pass through the forest west of Burg. At the forest, Ramus wimps out and suggests waiting until morning. So...head back to Burg, rest up and try again in the morning.

IV. Forest West of Burg

In the morning Luna will clear the dense fog in the forest with one of her songs. Inside, you'll find a couple of treasure chests with Herbs in them. Once you reach a certain point in the forest, you'll be confronted by a scripted set of enemy encounters. Laike will emerge from the forest and offer help—if you take it, he'll dispatch the enemies rather quickly. Once the enemies have been done away with, the party will camp for the night. The next morning Laike is gone, but the coast is pretty much clear. Leave the forest and head south toward Saith.

V. Saith

Toward the southern edge of Saith is the docks. Once you've explored everything else you can head there and find the captain. He'd love to help you, but he lost his Sea Chart in a gamble. The docking master, nearby, will mention an infamous gambler who hangs out at the bar. In the bar you can find the guy in the upper-right corner of the room. Ramus and the gambler will go a few rounds of coin-tossing before losing the party's money. Alex discovers that the Sea Chart is currently in the possession of the Old Witch. Ramus discovers that the gambler is using a cheat coin. After some confessing, the gambler gives you the Lucky Staff and clues you in on where the Old Witch might be found.

Brett's one of the best gamblers in the land. He's also a big-time cheat.

VI. Old Witch

Head north of Saith, through a swampy area. Enter the forest north of the swamp. Enemies in the forest can be dangerous, but you should fight anyway. It's a good time to build up your party's levels. A good idea is to enter, fight a few enemies until your resources are in the red, return to Saith, use the Statue of Althina for healing, and come back for more. Once you make it beyond a certain point in the forest, you'll be taken to a separate screen with some strange basket traps. Under one of them is Nash. Beyond this point is the Witch, who'll give you the Sea Chart in exchange for a certain staff in the party's possession...

Give the Old Witch the Lucky Staff and she'll hand over the Sea Chart.

VII. Saith Docks

After returning the Sea Chart to the captain, he'll mention that the boats are under attack by a jelly monster (ahh...the first boss battle is at hand). After defeating the Saline Slimer, there's a brief celebration. The next morning the party leaves onboard the ship headed for Meribia. Unlike the original LUNAR, this time Luna decides to come with Alex and company on the boat...

Saline Slimer

- Use Alex's Sword Dance.
- Use Luna's Healing Litany.
- Have Ramus keep attacking.

Katarina Zone

White Dragon Wings

When you obtain the White Dragon Wings, you can travel magically to any town or place that you've been to before. This is amazingly useful and extremely fun. In addition, returning to certain towns after certain plot elements have been completed can occasionally result in some interesting conversations with the townsfolk.

There are a handful of special plot elements that disable your use of the Dragon Wings, but otherwise you have free rein to use them until they are temporarily stolen in Vane and rendered useless when you get to the final boss (Shubus 2nd).

The White Dragon Wings are one of the most useful items around.

I. Meribia

The party splits up upon arrival. Nash heads off to take care of some "urgent" business, while Ramus heads off to sell the Diamond. Ramus can be found at the large store (indicated with a large sign over its door, on the northwest part of the main Meribia map). Nash heads off to the Fortune Teller's hut on the extreme left of Black Rose Street (an extension map of Meribia to the left of the main map). Leave the departed party members where they are for now. Head north, into the castle. Speak with Mel, ruler of Meribia. If you win the fight Mel challenges you to (for sport), you can gain some hefty experience. It's not necessary to win, however. Once this is done, get Nash from Black Rose Street. You'll meet Royce for the first time there. Next, see Ramus in the store. He's having trouble selling the Diamond. The store's owner, Dross, will steal the Diamond and retreat into the sewers, which can be accessed through the entrance in the back room of his store.

Ramus will continuously haggle with Dross to sell the diamond, before the punk decides to steal the rock and take off into the sewers.

II. Meribian Sewers

Enter through the back of Dross' shop and make your way to Dross, who is on the lower level. Once you catch up with him he throws a boss character at you. This creature cannot be hit with normal "walk-up" attacks. Only ranged attacks or spells will affect it. Once you defeat it, Ramus manages to swindle ownership of the store from Dross. Nash will insist on heading to Vane next. Ramus will stay behind (leaving the party for good) to manage his new store. Be sure to loot him of his items and equipment before this happens, or you'll lose it!

Flick switches in the sewers to open up bridges so you can pass.

III. Vane Trial Cave

Return to the Transmission Spring and present the letter. The party (minus Nash, who will be waiting at the other end) will be required to pass through the Trial Caves in order to enter Vane. There are three levels. The entrance to each level is marked by a guard who will recover your party only once (the first guard will heal as many times as you need).

• How to get a Shira's Tail

On one of the levels there are enemies which look like wolves on the dungeon map. If you're fast enough (and lucky enough) the small white mongrel-looking enemies will NOT run away the first round. If you manage to kill them (very easy), you'll receive a ton of experience points. I was able to obtain a Shira's Tail from one such fight. Shira's Tails are VERY useful items early on—they increase your character's Range and Agility points a good deal, which can help tremendously during battles.

On the final level, you'll see a large plant-like boss creature. Heal up, and then get ready to throw down.

Spark Mash

• Have Lana cast Power Song to enhance Alex's abilities, then use her as a healer while Alex attacks.
• Use Alex's Sword Dance skill.

IV. Transmission Spring

In order to get to Vane, you must enter through the Transmission Spring, which is southeast of Althena's Tower (head east from Meribia, then south along the main road). In order to use the Spring, however, the party must obtain a letter from Phacia, the High Priestess of Althena, granting permission.

V. Althena's Tower

The man at the door can heal you if you ask for rest. Otherwise head inside, enter the chamber to the northmost point, and speak with the beautiful Phacia. She'll grant you the letter that you need to enter Vane. Head back to the Spring.

VI. Vane

Nash isn't immediately visible when you first emerge in Vane. Scout around and get a handle on some of the pricey shops. In the northwest corner of town is a Statue of Althena. Heal up. The library on the right side of Vane is interesting—by reading books on the shelves you can discern interesting clues about the direction of the plot. Nash is in the Magic Guild, which is the northern-most structure in Vane. Since you'll soon be granted an audience with Ghaleon, Luna is taken to a different room upstairs to wait. While there, she has an encounter with the G-man himself, though she doesn't realize who it is just yet. Meanwhile you can have Alex meet Mia for the first time by heading upstairs, to the room on the left. Nash will interrupt jealously, and tell you that it's time to meet with Ghaleon. You don't have to go immediately—if you make your way to the east wing of the structure (across a small bridge) you can interrupt Nash and Royce in another of their secret meetings. After that, head off to meet with Ghaleon.

Vane is one of the largest towns in LUNAR. Be sure to talk to everyone!

VII. Nanza Mountain Pass

Head southwest of the Transmission Spring, into the canyon-like area. You'll need to cross through here in order to reach Lann. The enemies here are tough, but not worth the experience to fight yet. Many of the chests along the way are trap chests, filled with enemy surprise-attacks. Head toward the west until you reach Nanza.

VIII. Nanza

When you first arrive, you should take notice of the two other entrances (or exits—whatever). There is a gate to the south which is locked (for now), and one to the west which is guarded by someone who requires permission to pass from the leader of the region, Kyle. In the Northern Tower, someone will tell you that Kyle has gone elsewhere. (If you had searched around beforehand you would've seen him stumbling around the northern bridge area, drunk out of his mind.) Someone will suggest that he's in the cafeteria area downstairs. Once there, someone else will mention that he's been locked up in the cell (in the northwest part of the basement area) for his own safety. Once you speak with Kyle there (cinema), you'll be allowed out of Nanza. Once out the west gate, head northwest on the main map toward Lann.

Once you talk to Kyle in Nanza, he'll let you pass. Head to Lann.

IX. Lann

In the middle of the dock area is the Elder's place. Inside is Jessica, making a public demonstration about the alleged Dragonmaster, Zoc. Jessica notices the party and decides to band with them to seek out the Dragonmaster. Speak with the fisherman at the dock. He'll agree to take you to the small island near Lann, which is where the supposed Dragonmaster is apparently residing.

Hop in a boat and head off to kick some fake Dragonmaster butt.

X. The Island Near Lann

The strange magical rifts on the terrain are dangerous to walk across. There's nothing to gain by heading into the large ones other than some serious HP damage. Search out the entire area and eventually you'll come to encounter the so-called Dragonmaster. Some chests along the way can disorient your characters, but you'll need to take that risk if you want to find all of the treasure in the area. The disorienting effect only wears off after you walk a bit, so try to take small steps (else you'll wander into the rifts). Once you reach the false Dragonmaster, Zoc, a fight will ensue. He and his mighty "dragon," a big, fat frog-looking thing, will attack you. Get right down to business and kick his imposter butt!

As always, try to raise a couple of levels before taking on the boss.

The False Dragonmaster, Zoc

- Luna should use her Power Song on Alex to increase his stats. Even though Jessica can attack AND heal, leave the healing to Luna.
- Once you've defeated Zoc, you may want to use Jessica's Escape ability to avoid having to walk all the way back through the poison-infected island. If you can hack it though, you may as well walk.
- Head back through the mountain pass to the Transmission Spring and return to Vane.

Zoc and his frog pal aren't that bad. Attack them while Luna heals.

XI. Return To Vane

Upon returning to Vane, you'll notice some strange behavior on the part of the Magic Guild elite. Lemia (Mia's mother) and Ghaleon turn on Alex, take Luna away and then throw Alex and co. into the dungeon. Mia will rescue Alex after he observes the stranger in the cell next door. Mia also frees the masked stranger. Once this is done you should head to the Star Tower entrance (the blue door to the right of the main chamber). After you plod your way through the Star Tower's levels, you'll reach the ceremony taking place in the main room at the top. Here a sequence plays out revealing Lemia, Phacia and Royce as members of the Vile Tribe (Lemia turned out to be an imposter played by Xenobia). Before deciding to leave, they make mention of the Magic Emperor (the ultimate bad guy, as it turns out), and then they drop off some enemies for you to tackle. After you defeat them, Ghaleon asks to be taken to see the White Dragon at once. Head to Meribia before trekking to Saith and eventually Burg.

XII. Meribia, Again

Be sure to check out Ramus' shop. He should have some new items for you to purchase. Head to the castle to talk to Mel, Ghaleon and Jessica. The plot moves forward some, and the party decides to spend the night in the castle. Luna has another strange dream. The next morning in Mel's chamber, you'll find Ghaleon, ready to set sail to the northern continent to meet with the White Dragon. Go meet him at the docks and set sail for Saith, en route to Burg (home at last!).

XIII. Back to Burg

From Saith, you need to head to the White Dragon Cave. Use Ghaleon and his incredible attacks to clear your way through the forest west of Burg with ease. From here, you can stop off at Burg if you like, though there's not much to find here aside from some interesting dialogue. If you're not in any big rush, you should stop by and talk to everyone.

XIV. Ghaleon and the White Dragon Cave

Once again, use Ghaleon to mop up the enemies on your way back to the White Dragon's lair. Once you get there, Ghaleon and the Dragon exchange some significant plot-related dialogue. Afterward, one of the game's most important scenes takes place. Ghaleon reveals himself to be the Magic Emperor and captures the White Dragon. He then takes Luna into his grasp, and the rest of the party is blasted unconscious. You'll wake up in Burg.

XV. Wake Up in Burg

Alex will awake in his bed, chat a bit with his dad, and then head off to meet with Laike at Dyne's Memorial. There Laike will give you one of the most handy items in the game—the White Dragon Wings. Use them to return to Meribia.

XVI. Meribia Under Siege

When you return to Meribia, everything is under attack. Jessica is involved in a fight, and Alex will help her. She will insist afterward that you rush to the castle. However, there's no need for you to rush, so stick around and clean house to build up some valuable experience (just keep running back to Althena's Statue when you need to heal up). Once in the castle, head to the training room. Royce is in there fighting with Mel. She tries to turn Jessica to stone, but Mel gets in the way and gets stoned instead! This strengthens Jessica's resolve, and she decides to join the party.

Mop up in the streets of Meribia to build up your levels a bit.

XVII. Vane Under Siege

Use the White Dragon Wings to return to Vane. Be prepared, though—you'll be entered into a fight immediately once you arrive there! After you win, follow Nash to the Magic Guild. Lemia will comment about the Magic Emperor situation, which sparks Mia into joining the party. Next stop: Reza and the home of the Red Dragon. It is now clear that Alex must become the next Dragonmaster quickly if he has any real hope of destroying the Magic Emperor.

XVIII. Nanza & Kyle

Use the White Dragon Wings to return to Nanza. When you arrive you'll find a "lady" who's under attack by Xenobia and her underlings. It turns out the lady is actually Kyle in disguise (is this the first drag scene in an RPG?). You'll have an opportunity to control him in combat against some of Xenobia's minions. Use his second skill attack to kill them all off at once, in close range. After Xenobia takes off, the gate to the south will now be open. Use it and head south to the town of Reza.

Marius Zone

Althena Springs

There are two Springs of Althena in the world of Lunaria. The first is south-east of Reza and is for men only. The second is just south-east of the east exit of Meryod. Because it's for women, it's heavily surrounded by nasty enemies and a miniforest area to cut through. Also, unlike the Men's Spring, this one cannot be easily warped to via the Dragon Wings; you must fight to get there each time! In order to use the springs, the party must have a bar of Soap for each usage (there are four total). Depending on which spring you like, you'll see a cool image of a party member (male or female, depending) bathing in the spring. Save your bars of Soap for the women. Trust us.

At the Men's Spring you can see Kyle or Nash. At the Women's Spring you'll see Mia or Jessica.

Where do you get Soap? The first bar is on the fun ride from Lullia to Meribia. There's an individual below the deck who'll sell you a bar for 100 silver a pop! At the time it seems useless, but it's worth it later on (for the Women's Spring, of course).

Use the Soap at the Springs to see some hilarious bathing scenes.

I. Reza

Once you walk through the center town area, you'll have the Dragon Wings stolen from you. It turns out Reza is the town of thieves, as Kyle then decides to inform the party. Enter the bar and meet Laike, again. He'll talk about getting to the Red Dragon. According to him, an air balloon will be required. He also mentions that the thief has probably taken the White Dragon Wings to the Thieves' Guild. In order to get them back, you'll need membership. To get membership into the Guild, the party must travel to Meryod where someone can facilitate the process.

II. Meryod Forest

Between Reza and Meryod is a rather large forest. There are lots of tough enemies, many of whom reward you with loads of money and experience. This is a good place to build your levels. Be sure to snoop around and find all of the treasures hidden throughout before exiting.

The Meryod Forest is pretty big, but it's a great place to build levels.

III. Meryod

When you first arrive, you'll need to find the person who can grant you permission into the Thieves' Guild. In order to do this, you'll need to trigger some events into action first. Try to walk over the bridge across the northernmost part of the map. It will break and your party will be separated. Gather everyone, and head to the bar. You'll find Kyle there talking to someone who explains that you need to travel southwest to Damon's Spire in order to get the Thieves' Crest. After receiving the Spire's Password, you'll need to go back through the Meryod Forest and head southwest until you get to Damon's Spire.

IV. Meryod Forest Trap

On your way back from Meryod, Jessica notices what she believes to be the statue of her father (remember, he was turned to stone by Xenobia earlier). It turns out to be a trap, and everyone in the party but Kyle is rendered ineffective. Kyle alone must defeat this doppelganger ("Plaster Mel"), so be sure to stock him with some healing items before the fight. Once the fight is over, Royce makes her presence briefly known, insults some people, and then leaves. Proceed through the forest and make your way toward the exit.

V. Damon's Spire

If necessary, head back to Reza and stock up on healing agents before you enter this place! Damon is at the bottom—he challenges you to meet him at the top. Once you reach the top, you'll receive the Thieves' Crest. On each level of the Spire there are switches that open otherwise closed-off rooms. Be sure to hit them all and search around—there's a lot of treasure here. In each of the five levels you'll be asked to answer a riddle of sorts. On levels two and three the magicians (Nash and Mia) should use their elemental-based attacks. On level four, Damon will ask which party member should be left behind before proceeding. Do not choose anyone. On the last level you'll be asked to mold a blob of clay into something which fits Damon's liking. Alex can fashion it into Luna, which passes the test (try everyone else first, though—it's pretty funny). Once inside, Damon will speak for a bit and then give up the Thieves' Crest. He also gives you permission to read the books on the lower floors—be sure to stop and read them all on the way out.

VI. Thieves' Guild

Return to Reza and speak with the owner of the bar again. He will allow you access to the Thieves' Guild now, which can be reached by entering through the side of the bar and proceeding through the back hallways. Once you reach this point, you can now open the various red chests throughout the game that were previously locked. As you proceed into the back rooms, Royce shows up and steals Lily, the bartender's daughter. Proceed back into the guild and talk to everyone and get the plans for an air balloon. You should take these to an inventor in Iluk. Before you go, be sure to pick up the equipment from the weapons dealer on the far right of the Thieves' Guild. He'll sell you some handy ice-based weapons which'll help you out big-time in the upcoming Red Dragon Cave.

VII. Iluk

The inventor lives in the northernmost home on the left. In order for the inventor there to build his balloon, he needs you to enter his garden and catch the Fluffy Bug amidst several similar, but different, Puffy Bugs. Enter the gardens by speaking to the gardener outside his house. Enter through the gates. Once you enter the Garden, you will be attacked by a variety of monsters. The ones you want to engage are the puffy bug-looking things. Each time you engage in a fight with these bugs, the Fluffy Bug runs from battle leaving you to deal with the hostile Puffy Bugs. At the northwest portion of the map you can find the Fluffy Bug you need. Once you capture the bug, you should return it to the inventor. Shortly after you'll have the balloon that you need to travel to the Red Dragon Cave.

VIII. Red Dragon Cave

The Red Dragon Cave is an excellent place to spend time collecting experience and money. I would suggest stocking up on as many healing agents as possible before entering here so you can afford to fight everything you meet. It's worth it! Also, assuming Alex and the rest of the party have equipped themselves with the ice-based weapons, the fights should go fairly smoothly. Head to the westmost area on each level in order to proceed to the next. Note: If you tread off the beaten path a little you're bound to find the Flame Sword which will help Alex immensely in the next Dragon Trial to come. Guarding the entryway to the Red Dragon's lair are two golem dogs. Save beforehand and then head into battle. Make use of Mia's Ice spells and Alex's Sword Dance. If the dogs line themselves up, use Kyle's Sonic attack. Once you've defeated the dogs you can speak with the Red Dragon. He's in bad shape, but he'll at least be able to give you the next piece of dragon equipment.

Use ice attacks to chill the threat of the golem guardians in the cave.

IX. Balloon Crash Near Reza

On the way back, a problem occurs and the balloon crashes. While the party is passed out, thieves make off with the balloon (you can later find it in the Thieves' Guild). In the bar, Laike informs you that the Blue Dragon is next (after he's done laughing about the balloon). He mentions Lyton as the next destination and that the broken bridge of Meryod is now repaired, allowing you to cross into the Stadium Zone.

S tadius Zone

I. Lyton

The first thing you'll notice here are the horrible sounds in the background. These sounds are coming from the musical caves, which have been corrupted by some unknown evil. Speak with everyone in the town. Their leader explains that there are certain air holes in an underground cavern that have been set awry. They need you to purge the area of monsters and fix the air hole problem. You must do this in order to raise the temple of the Blue Dragon as well. Go to the east toward the shrine. Inside the shrine you'll be allowed to enter the underground caverns which are the source of the cacophony. Proceed inside and fight your way a few levels in where you'll find the screwed-up air holes. Move the left boulder to the left and the right boulder to the right. Once this is done, the problem will be fixed. Return to the town and head up to the lakefront. Watch the events, and at the end, the Blue Dragon Temple will rise.

After fixing the air holes, you'll be able to raise the Blue Dragon Temple.

II. Blue Dragon Temple

Upon entering you'll notice that there are no stairs. The means of getting from level A to B is via small pools on the floor with steps next to them. Walk through the pools and you'll either be transported, or be lured into an enemy trap. Inside the pools with traps are several Water Elementals which can be killed pretty easily. Once you get started in here you'll notice the enemies are pretty easily dispatched and they give you LARGE amounts of experience and silver. Stick around in here and kill everything if possible. You'll thank yourself later for the experience gains—there won't be another place like it for a while. If you need to recover, exit to Lyton and use the Statue of Althena. Once you reach the Blue Dragon he'll open a chamber to the side of the bridge that leads to him. Inside the chamber you'll find the Dragon Helm, and pass his Trial. When you return to the Dragon, however, he'll be gone. Phacia is there instead. Go figure. It's quickly apparent that the Blue Dragon has now also been captured by the Magic Emperor.

III. Tamur Mountain Pass

You'll need to head to Tamur on your way toward the Black Dragon Cave. Southeast of Lyton is the Tamur Mountain Pass. This is an extensive region chock-full of enemies. Be sure to have plenty of healing agents ready, because toward the end of this region you'll be ambushed by Xenobia and more of her goons. You'll have to survive a few waves of Vile Tribe enemies (tough!) before you're eventually bailed out by Tempest and his companion. They appear on horseback and lob arrows at the enemies below, wiping them out. Xenobia takes off and you can finally proceed through the Mountain Pass and on to the town of Tamur.

This is the place where you'll meet Tempest for the first time.

Fire-based attacks will do you quite well in this dry area. Burn 'em up!

IV. Tamur

At the top edge of this town, in a stable-like area is Laike (once again). He informs you that you'll need an airship to eventually reach the Frontier and stop Ghaleon. He'll offer a quest in which only he and Alex can go to Myght's Tower, where you'll be able to obtain such a vessel of flight. Be sure you equip Alex with the best stuff in Tamur before heading out on this adventure with Laike.

■ Forest of Illusion:

You'll hear some townsfolk talking about the Forest of Illusion to the east of the town. While you can't get through it yet, you can take advantage of Laike's presence by mopping up the enemies within.

Free experience ride! Sure, it gives Alex a little boost over the others.

Equipment Within:

Planet Ring Alex's Defense Up
Dysan's Sword Alex's Next Blade

As you can see here, Tempest doesn't like to mess around.

V. Myght's Tower

Four doors with icons must be entered in a certain sequence for entrance to the Tower properly. Use Planet, Star, Sun and then Moon to clear this room. Once inside the Tower, use Laike to clean up most of the opposition. The Magic Hat enemies cannot be hit by standard attacks. In this case use Alex's Sword Dance. Search this place well—there's a lot of good treasure here. Once you reach Myght, he'll agree to build a ship, but he tells you to come back later for it.

Myght's Tower is a bit of a maze, but the enemies aren't too tough.

VI. Return to Tamur

Find your party at the bar. Nash will insist that something strange is going on outside. If you head to where you met up with Laike, you'll find Tempest about to hang someone. Alex and Tempest will fight after Alex decides to free the man by cutting him down. Make short work of Tempest by using the Sword Dance on him. As a show of respect, Tempest will give Alex the Dragon Armlet—a sacred treasure. Tempest explains that he comes from the town of Pao, beyond the Forest of Illusion. The next step is to head through the forest to get to Pao.

Frontier Zone

VII. Forest of Illusion

If you didn't already clean the place out with Laike, you'll have to work your way through with the party. There's handy treasure to be gained here for the patient explorer. If you head straight down through the forest, the party will sense something odd. Eventually this leads to a sequence where the party camps and wakes up surrounded by some Pao villagers. They will observe the Armlet given by Tempest and clear a path so you may pass. Follow Tempest to Pao.

VIII. Pao

Tempest's Hut can be found in the south-east corner of the map. Speak to him there and you'll learn a bit about the "evil songstress" nearby. Jessica and Mia are rendered unconscious by a strange song filling the air. Tempest rushes into the nearby Black Dragon Cave (the entrance is in the easternmost part of the town). Once you gain permission to enter the Cave from the elder of Pao (who resides just above Tempest's Hut), follow after Tempest. Find him on the second level.

IX. Black Dragon Cave

Once you find Tempest, he'll join the party. Fight your way to the Dragon's lair—you'll get the Dragon Armor before being given the task of "finding truth in your heart." The Black Dragon soon disappears. Shortly thereafter you learn that the "evil songstress" is actually Luna (she's in some pretty hot bad-guy gear at this point). Ghaleon makes an appearance, things go hellish for a minute, and then you must confront the Black Dragon. Once this is done, the road to becoming a Dragonmaster will be complete! Finally, the four Dragon Trials are complete!

Once you're finished, return to Pao and prepare for the next leg of the quest. Laike will inform you that Myght has finished the Balloon. You can use the Dragon Wings to return right to Myght's Room.

Note: Now that you've passed the Black Dragon Trial, you can use his Dimension Attack spell to sweep aside the enemies protecting the women's Spring of Althena. If you've got the soap, give it a try! Rub-a-dub-dub, baby!

Equipment Within:

|---------------|----------------------|
| Dragon Armlet | Mia's Next Weapon |
| Dream Box | Nash's Next Weapon |
| Dragon Ring | Auto-Resurrect |
| Dark Sword | Phacia's Next Weapon |

X. Myght's Tower

The party will be held over a few nights as Myght makes the final preparations for your Balloon to the Frontier. Once everything is ready, Nash betrays the party and blasts the engine of the Balloon. Because of this you'll need to return to Reza and recapture what's left of the former Balloon. Use the White Dragon Wings to go to Iluk. The inventor tells you he cannot re-create the engine. Next, go to Reza and purchase the engine back from the Thieves' Guild for 30,000 silver. Return to Myght with the engine and prepare for takeoff! Note: Before you leave for the Frontier, settle any idle wandering you were planning on with the White Dragon Wings BEFORE you leave. They'll be useless once in the Frontier!

Once you reach the point in the game that Ramus owns his own shop in Marfist, you can buy items from time to time to see what he has to offer. It changes two or three times over the course of the game, and that the very end, he'll offer you whatever you want for free! Don't be shy. Clean house at this point. Also, for the early stages of the game, you can return to the cave down below for some extra battles. The enemies there give a lot of experience and money early on.

I. The Mines

Equipment Within:

|-----------------|--------------|
| Protection Ring | Holy Pillars |
| Refresh Ring | Hell Helmet |
| Devil Pendant | Fire Tiara |

As you approach the Frontier in the Balloon, a lengthy bit of conversation takes place. You'll decide to enter the Mines as a means to reach the Grindery (Ghaleon's awesome fortress, built by the master mechanic, Taben).

■ You'll reach a part where a worker gets trapped as a result of a tremor in the mines. Choose to help him in order to progress the plot. You'll be discovered by guards who you'll have to fight off. Once you do this and proceed, Phacia appears and has a strange conversation with the party. Further on you'll encounter a graveyard-like area with a Statue of Althena. Strange place for one of those, eh?

It's genuine, so heal up. Just beyond this area you'll be caught by Xenobia, who'll try to pit the party members against one another. When her plan is foiled by Alex's resolve, she'll get upset and send down a minion. The creature can be easily dispatched with some judicious use of Alex's Red Dragon spell and Sword Dance. Once you clear through this part, you'll emerge near the Grindery (at Ruid Castle). Proceed to the egg-looking thing to the east. Inside you'll find a strange dais to Althena. Phacia will give you the password to enter Ruid Castle. Heal up!

II. Ruid Castle

Nothing really difficult here. Just some classic enemy bashing while wandering through the maps. There are some areas where enemies stand on floor panels to cause more enemies to rush into the room through a portal door. If you're out for the experience, stick around and clear out the enemies as they appear. Once you've had enough, kill off the foe who triggers the floor panel. One interesting thing about this area is that you can leave and return but the enemies will remain dead! This is somewhat unlike other areas of the game.

Once you make your way to the outside area (it looks like an airport hanger park), head to the upper-right area and enter the building with an entrance on its north face. Proceed south and then through. You'll reach a door leading inward again. Inside you'll find Ghaleon's chief inventor, Taben, ready to test his latest invention. It turns out to be Nash inside a magic power suit. You'll have to fight him in order to proceed. Once this is done, Taben will run off. Follow him and eventually encounter Ghaleon. This triggers some dialogue and the unveiling of the Grindery—a moving castle! Ruid Castle churns with commotion as the entire thing sprouts tank treads and hauls off.

Equipment Within:

|-----------|-------------|
| Dark Mace | Fire Armlet |
| Tri-ring | |

Phacia will give you the password to enter the dark, dank Ruid Castle.

Once this occurs, you can exit through the breakage in the crater that the Grindery has made. Return to the balloon. Despite efforts to catch up to the Grindery and board it from the Balloon, you find it is protected by a magic barrier. With no other option, the Balloon will take the party to Vane in hopes of a last-ditch effort to stop the Grindery from its all-too-obvious destination: The Goddess Tower atop the temple of Althena.

Xenobia will try to pit Alex and Kyle against each other. Don't do it!

Frontier Zone Continued...

III. The Grindery

Once you recollect your party after an awesome battle sequence (in which there is a draw between Vane and the Grindery), you can approach the halted monstrosity and try to enter it. As you do, Tempest and company show up to keep the defending hordes busy as you make your entrance. Once you enter, you will not be able to exit again until you complete it, so be sure to finish any business in the outside world beforehand! As you adventure in the Grindery, there is much treasure to acquire. You'll encounter a strange garden inside one level, with a Statue of Althenea. Further on you'll be surprised (or not) to see Phacia assisting the party by...well, you'll see.

One group of ugly scorchers straight and compliments of Ghaleon.

Equipment Within:

|----------------|----------------|
| Saint Clothes | Holy Bandana |
| Stone Bracelet | Insane Helmet |
| Insane Shield | Phantom Ribbon |

IV. The Final Battle?

You'll find Ghaleon inside the last area of the Grindery. You'll have to fight him. In order to win this fight you should use Alex's White Dragon magic to deflect his spells (you can see him powering up the round before). Use Mia's offensive and defensive power-up spells to increase the effectiveness of Kyle and Alex. Be sure to use Jessica's Litany that recovers HP each round on the whole party. If you defeat Ghaleon this time, the party will think they've won overall. In the process of going to see Luna, the party will be surprised by the REAL Ghaleon. He appears and wipes out the party.

You've made it this far—only a few more battles to go before the end!

V. Awakening

Alex will awake in Meribia in Jessica's Room. Go to the main audience chamber and speak with Mia and Jessica. Next find Kyle and Nash at the bar. Return to the women in the castle. Then return to the bar. You'll have your demoralized party back together again. Laike will appear and offer a new hope. Return to him after you have gone to Ramus' shop and loaded up on the free items (he's giving them away)! Laike will return you to Burg where you can finally remove Althenea's Sword from Dyne's Memorial. All kinds of cool story elements get laid on you after this little event, but we won't ruin it for you. Afterward, return to Meribia to show off the new sword to the rest of the party. Nall will show his true form, and then you can head off to the newly emerged Althenea's Fortress—to do battle one last time with Ghaleon.

How could someone with such a wuss voice get so darn big?

IV. Goddess Rebirth: The Final Encounter

After taking out Xenobia, you'll be ready to march on toward the final battle. The final animations leading up to the end are just fantastic—some of the best you'll have ever seen in a game, no doubt. When you finally get to the end battle with Ghaleon, don't get overconfident just because of his looks (OK, we'll admit—he looks pretty darn wimpy for the final boss of such a long, enduring game). His strength is immense and his attacks can be severely damaging if you're not careful. As usual, first you should have Jessica cast her Saint Litany so the entire party can gradually recover HP during the battle. Have Mia cast Power Drive on Alex twice, and have Kyle cast Power Up on himself twice (to greatly enhance their Attack Power). Finally, have Nash continually casting Thunderbolt on Ghaleon, while Alex attacks with his Sword Dance. Balance it all out with liberal usage of healing spells and Starlights (to regain MP), and you should do OK. If you can manage to finish him off, remember—the game's not over yet. Alex still needs to make use of a certain item he's had since the very start...

F inal Encounter

I. Althenea's Fortress

Nall will fly you to the entrance of the Fortress and then revert to normal size to help out (he's got all those free Healing Nuts and Starlights from Ramus', after all). Once you reach a certain point you will be encountered by Royce (disguised as Luna at first). She will place a mysterious curse on the party. For the duration of the curse, a few members of the party will enter combat with a random status (usually sleep). This makes an otherwise easy trek through the Fortress more difficult. You'll enter an area in the Fortress where each section is closed off by barriers until you defeat the enemies in the area. Be sure to search ALL of the areas for treasure. As you emerge upon the entrance to the Tower (three levels up), you'll be confronted by Royce for a final showdown with the wicked wench.

Althenea's Tower has some pretty tricky puzzles to overcome.

II. Royce

Royce is a flame-based enemy, so use ice weapons if you have them. Otherwise Mia's Ice spells will do fine. Spread out the formation of your party to avoid some of her linear-based, high-damage attacks. DON'T waste any of Alex's MPs on the Red Dragon spell (Dragon Anger), as she is very well defended against any and all fire spells. What you should do is have Jessica use her various Healing magics regularly to keep the party afloat while you whittle away at her.

Equipment Within:

|--------------|---------------|
| Holy Mace | Aegis Robe |
| Dragon Cane | Starlight Bow |
| Insane Armor | Holy Clothes |

The last few boss battles are especially intense. Come prepared!

III. Althenea's Tower

This is primarily a giant puzzle tower with enemies in the mix. You will be required to pass several mundane tests of memory (involving Dragon colors in order, etc.) while beating through the annoying hordes of ambient enemies. Each stage has four floor-orbs that must be walked over in a certain order to reveal the portal to the next level. The game will offer hints at the beginning of each level to help you guess the order (if you can't figure out the clues then there's gotta be something wrong with you). It's worth it to engage the enemies here if you have the resources—they'll level up your characters rather quickly (I managed to upgrade several levels in the Tower alone—very useful indeed).

Equipment Within:

Complete Guide to All Monkeys and Coins

XG Strategy
by Andrew Baran

Ape Escape is one of the coolest games to hit the PlayStation in a while, but it will take a little bit of playing to get used to the unique controls. This is the first game to take full advantage of the Dual Shock analog controller. It's recommended that you toy around with the first level for a little bit, and practice your jumping skills.

Finding the monkeys gets progressively tougher, but you will soon recognize the many ways they are hidden. If you can't reach a monkey, don't stress. You cannot get all of the monkeys until you've gotten all of the items. It just so happens that you won't get a certain item until you've beaten the game once. You'll end up doing a lot of backtracking to get the apes.

Whenever you save the game, you will see a percentage of the game that you've completed. Remember that you can only earn 85% by finding everything in the game. You must earn Medals in the Time Trials in order to make 100%.

SNEAKING UP ON THE MONKEYS

Crawling...

If you press the left analog stick in, you will be able to crawl. This is a great way to sneak up on most of the monkeys. Make sure you have your net in your hand.

Death from Above

Later on, the monkeys will start moving extremely fast. The best way to grab them is with a jump combined with a swing of your Time Net. This works well to catch them unaware.

Using the Radar

If you are using the Monkey Radar, you can often see the monkey you are looking for by pressing the L2 button. This is great for finding out specifically where the monkey is.

Monkey Moods

The lights on their head are indicators of their mood.

Green: Unaware and relaxed.

It's safe to crawl at him.

Yellow: Alert. If this happens, hide for a while.

Red: He's active and ready for a fight. Prepare to lose health.

Monkey Types

Look at their pants color to see what traits they have.

Yellow: Common normal monkeys, easy to capture.

White: Are very alert. Hard to sneak up on.

Blue: Are fast runners.

Light Blue: Gentle. Easy to capture, less apt to run.

Green: Have great vision.

Black: Wild and dangerous.

Unless you want to take a few hits, you're going to have to sneak up on them. Crawling toward the monkeys or jumping toward them with the net will often catch them off guard. Cornering them works well too.

SURVIVING THE ENEMIES OF APE ESCAPE

Spinning Death

These enemies are surprisingly common, but kind of tricky to kill at first. Wake them up, and run straight backward. If you do anything else, you'll get hurt. Smack them when they dizzy.

Giant Trees

You'll find two of these nasty trees on level 2-1. To catch the monkey inside of them, use your baton to knock their two branches out of the way. This will let you get some hits on the trunk.

Tanks for the Memories

When it comes down to a battle between your tank and one controlled by a monkey, just fire away. You'll take a few hits, but you can shrug off most damage. Fire the cannon, not the gun.

Killer Clown

You'll find this guy in the circus tent on level 9-1. To defeat him, get close and start spinning your baton. This will hit him and stop the killer balloons from hitting you. They'll turn into cookies.

Dodging the car

The final battle with Jake will take place in the racing area of 9-1. Stand on the switch at the top of the screen. Dodge the car when it tries to ram you, then hit the green spot on its back. You'll have to move quickly.

Specter's Mech

All it takes is three hits each to destroy his arms. With them out of the way, make your way to the side of the platform. When Specter destroys the ground you're standing on, jump to the center and use the baton.

Specter's Final Battle

Specter will appear randomly around your character. Face toward him once he does appear. Jump the blast he shoots, and immediately blast him with the slingshot. It will take 4-5 shots to nail Specter.

Specter's Final Form

Specter's last form has a shield. Use the Magic Punch while dodging the rockets. Once the shield is gone punch him. After you have destroyed the shield once and for all, whip out the Time Net and grab him!

COMPLETING THE GAME

Percentage Points

For every monkey and coin you earn, you will go well toward completing the game 100%. After you have gathered all of the monkeys from a level, you will be able to go back in and play a Time Trial. Depending on your time, you will be awarded a trophy. The better the trophy the more the game is completed. Save time by collecting triangles.

MINIGAME TACTICS

Lots of fun: There are three minigames you can earn by collecting the coins strewn about the levels. Completing these mini-games is purely optional and does not affect the percentage total of the main game. The best way to open up these levels is to win the two races. Doing so will net you an easy 10 coins.

Ski Kidz Racing

Coins Required: 10
It's all downhill from here: If you want to win in these races, you'll need to operate both analog sticks as if they are one. If you don't move them together, you won't get anywhere.

Specter Boxing

Coins Required: 20
Put up you Dukes: The way to win this boxing game is to keep moving. Once you get one hit that stuns your opponent, time a flurry of pistoning hits to knock him out. Don't punch mindlessly.

Galaxy Ape

Coins Required: 50
Lightning reflexes required: To survive, keep your eyes open for the red indicator bars that will show where the enemies will come from. Try not to get boxed in by the inflating pink enemies. Stay back.

Quest Maps, Multiplayer Tips

by Jim Mazurek

As most of you already know, Quake II is primarily played for its multiplayer support. With a PC following like no other game in its genre, Quake II has become the benchmark for which all other first-person shooters judge their merit. The console version offers plenty of the same multiplayer features as the PC. The only noticeable gameplay change was the removal of the "duck" command. While not being able to duck certainly won't hold you up in a deathmatch, certain little nooks 'n crannies in the one-player mode won't be there anymore. Of course, Id completely redesigned all of the levels for this version of Quake II—making it pretty tough to find anything that you remembered from the Quest Mode on the PC.

With a decent one-player game, and the best multiplayer mode to grace the N64 since GoldenEye, Quake II is a pleasant surprise indeed.

Enemy Information List

Once you've landed in their home system, it's very important to learn your enemies' strengths and weaknesses. We managed to send in scouts that retrieved key information on the Strogg forces, including pictures of what to expect. Many intelligence operatives died to bring us this information, so please make use of it...

Light Guard

HP: 100 Weapon: None

Even in their large numbers, Light Guards never really put up much resistance. Save your precious ammo for the bigger fish...

Gunner

HP: 300 Weapon: High

Armed with both a grenade launcher and a machine gun, these guys deal damage quickly. Exploit their delay before firing.

Mutant

HP: 240 Weapon: High

The Mutants need to be taken out from a distance (their only weapon are fierce claws). The HyperBlaster works wonders...

Shotgun Guard

HP: 45 Weapon: Avg.

A step up from the standard guards in both speed and intelligence. Drop 'em quickly, because they too travel in packs.

Berserker

HP: 160 Weapon: Avg.

Easy to drop, but hard to stop. Berserkers will press you until you shut 'em down, so use Super Shotgun to keep 'em down.

Flyer

HP: 80 Weapon: Avg.

Always in packs, Flyers are best fought with the Super Shotgun. Erratic movements can make for tough targets...

Machine Gun Guard

HP: 60 Weapon: Avg.

Easily confused when in groups, often shooting each other by accident. Use this to your advantage by circle strafing or hiding.

Iron Maiden

HP: 270 Weapon: High

Always mixed in with other types of guards, these chicks don't mind killing one of their own if they can take you out as well.

Icarus

HP: 340 Weapon: Avg.

Slow to maneuver in the air, their only strength lies in the dual lasers mounted on their back. Spread weapons work well on them.

Enforcer

HP: 150 Weapon: Avg.

Probably the most common of all the Strogg's troops, it's best to use smaller weapons on these slow-moving grunts.

Gladiator

HP: 600 Weapon: Deadly

Armed with a Rail Gun, your reaction time needs to be near-perfect if you hope to duel with one of these mongrels. Strafe 'n shoot!

Tank

HP: 1,500 Weapon: High

Use shelter combined with circle strafing and running backward for maximum effectiveness on the tanks.

Munitions Breakdown

We also managed to gather up information on all of the weaponry that we found scattered around the Strogg complex. Don't just run around shooting everything you see, with little or no knowledge of what weapons you're using or when to use them. These tactics won't get you anywhere. Check out the damage numbers...

Shotgun

Max Ammo: 100
Damage (1 shot): 48
Multiplayer: average
Special: spread

Great for "in your face" combat. Shotgun is the most effective weapon throughout zones in the complex. Try using the spread of its big brother when your ammunition is at hand.

Super Shotgun

Max Ammo: 100
Damage (1 shot): 100
Multiplayer: average
Special: spread coverage

Great stopper. Right off their feet when used up close. Note that the pattern is never consistent from shot to shot (short barrel length).

Machine Gun

Max Ammo: 1000
Damage (1 shot): 16
Multiplayer: crappy
Special: accuracy

Accurate, but weak. Try to use short controlled bursts to conserve ammo. This weapon is great for spraying multiple enemies in Quest Mode, but not in multiplayer.

Chain Gun

Max Ammo: 200
Damage (1 shot): 60
Multiplayer: average
Special: high firing rate

Using the same ammunition as the Machine Gun, the Chaingun is a great weapon. Its high firing rate is the long "delay" before and after each shot.

Grenade Launcher

Max Ammo: 50
Damage (1 shot): 100
Multiplayer: good
Special: (ability) bounce

Shoot from a distance to bounce 'em off the hallway walls. For enemies, the Grenade Launcher is best used from a high angle.

Rocket Launcher

Max Ammo: 50
Damage (1 shot): 100
Multiplayer: great
Special: splash damage

The damage is unrivaled by anything else. The BFG, it's a close second when fired at enemies in front of them. (splash damage).

HyperBlaster

Max Ammo: 200
Damage (1 shot): 90
Multiplayer: excellent
Special: low spin time

The HyperBlaster is one of the most desirable weapons in the game. Great for taking out enemies when extreme precision is necessary. Yeah, it's a bit expensive.

Rail Gun

Max Ammo: 50
Damage (1 shot): 100
Multiplayer: excellent
Special: pierces targets

It's a slow-moving weapon, but the gun might just be the best. Lead your opponent into a trap and run.

BFG 10K

Max Ammo: 200
Damage (1 shot): 200
Multiplayer: 'Da best!
Special: splash damage

One big splash damage makes it the ultimate weapon. You have to connect it to have an advantage.

Multiplayer Tactics

You wouldn't attend a college taught by only one instructor, so why read a multiplayer strategy written by only one editor? This month, Johnny McFrag gathered up the most notorious Quake II players from around the ZD offices and forced each of them to write a column. Notice any similarities to your playing style? Are you a camper, or maybe even a sniper? Be like Johnny and play as a hybrid cross between all of the playing styles listed below!

Pretty Fly for an Art Guy!

by Paul Burwell
Electronic Gaming Monthly

I'm an art guy, I don't really get credit for my game skills, but I can't help but say I'm a pretty fly at Quake II. First off, you have to learn the levels, and get a good sense of where the rocket launcher and red armor are. I'm a master. I find out where the rocket launcher and red armor are at your opponent's base. I can damage them as much as a hit. Don't worry about getting fragged, 'cause you don't lose points for it, and you can't be killed and I can't be killed to battle.

Running Backward

If you are taking a beating, don't run away. Make your character run backward as your opponent chases you down. Instead of being entirely vulnerable, you can now throw some hot lead at your enemies while running from them. Sometimes doing this will scare the other player into retreating themselves, whether it be to get more health, or 'cause they're out of ammo.

Pickin' Up The Scraps

To clean up the scraps, let two or three other characters pound on each other until they're all almost dead. Then, pop in the room and get two or three quick kills! The funny thing is, if you do it covertly enough, the other characters will be too busy worrying about each other to even notice your position.

Get the Goodies, Silly!

I can't stress how much this helps. Grabbing the Quad Damage and Invisibility (when they're available) makes you the man to be reckoned with out on the field. Note their positions and guard them well.

Jealous of my Style?

by Mark MacDonald
Official PlayStation Mag.

I'm a pretty fly at Quake II, and I can't help but say I'm a pretty fly at Quake II. First off, you have to learn the levels, and get a good sense of where the rocket launcher and red armor are. I'm a master. I find out where the rocket launcher and red armor are at your opponent's base. I can damage them as much as a hit. Don't worry about getting fragged, 'cause you don't lose points for it, and you can't be killed and I can't be killed to battle.

Dealing With Control

There is an ongoing dispute about which control style is better, classic GoldenEye or utilitarian Turok. There are a few key things you should know. Turok style boasts better control of your crosshairs. Controlling them with the Analog stick makes it much easier to add finesse to your shots. If you opt for the GoldenEye setup, you won't be too excited. Everything's the same, but you'll have to do without the "crosshair-aiming mode."

Commando-Style Rushing

When playing Flag Wars, don't run in the opponent's base with guns blazing. Try to coordinate some sort of attack that makes sense tactically. One guy gets his HyperBlaster ready, while the other player has the Grenade Launcher ready to rock. It's almost common sense, yet most players neglect to use it.

Comms 101

You must communicate with your teammate. Whether it be before the battle to discuss the "plan," or during the battle to let each other know what's going on. Try applying this during Flag Wars, which would be utter chaos without it. Teammates could simply state their position to you, saving you time and much confusion.

Item Pop Up

Here's a cool one that you'll probably learn subconsciously after you play for a while. When picking up a weapon or item, it won't pop back up for exactly 30 seconds. Helpful if you plan on guarding some of the better items.

Guarding Precious Items

Referred to as "Camping" by most snot-nosed players around here, this happens to be as fun as it is legal. Hovering around the powerful weapons is a great way to ensure no one else gets 'em, right? You can simply do "loops" around certain areas while staying within seconds of your guarded item (Quad Damage, RailGun). It is annoying as it is effective.

Looping, Circle Strafing

What will become second nature after playing a few first-person shooting games, circle-strafing and looping are two key techniques. To loop would be to constantly move from point A to point B, and then back again. Pick out a few good paths on the map (ones that have a lot of goodies in them), then loop 'em. Only veer off if intercepted by a group of angry players (it will happen). Circle Strafing works when you get into a heated duel with someone else. Instead of just strafing from side to side, circle your opponent with the Strafe buttons. You'll get better results if you switch your direction periodically.

Come Get Some!

by Johnny McFrag
Electronic Gaming Monthly

I got a head strong, I do right from the get-go, before I even start about the game. I set my mind to it (most as low as it can go (the N64 controller is just too touchy for the game). Then, I run through the levels solo and I can't stress how much it is to figure out the arena. I memorize locations of the weapons, and invisibility power-ups. As for weapons, I prefer the RailGun. It's got a nice spread, and I can't beat it. Ka-pow!

Eying The Enemy's Screens

As simple as it sounds, many players neglect the use of this tactic. Try to watch where other players are getting their goodies if playing on a new level. It gets a little confusing when playing with four people, so you'll need to get proficient at it. It works wonders when playing with campers and snipers, so implement this tactic early and get used to it.

Never Sit Still

It's good to get a little frantic while playing Quake II. You'll be keeping opponents on their toes, while keeping a nice supply of weapons and health flowing in, too. Characters who continually move seem to be better in heated duels as well, as their strafing skills tend to be a bit better than those who just trounce around casually. You should only hide if your health is dangerously low or you have sucky weapons.

Learn The Levels Well

This one is common sense, but its importance is often overlooked. Whether you're playing against seasoned pros, or casual gamers, knowing the nooks and crannies of the levels never fails to add to your advantage.

The King of Quake II

by Johnny McFrag
Electronic Gaming Monthly

I'm a head strong, so I like to charge into battle. I don't care, and I don't care. In fact, I detest campers. I need to find a grenade or better. If I have anything, I look...even if someone's shooting me in the back I engage unless I have the weapon I want. The abundant weapons are a great make sure to shoot it ahead of time. I can't stress how much it is to figure out the arena. I memorize locations of the weapons, and invisibility power-ups. As for weapons, I prefer the RailGun. It's got a nice spread, and I can't beat it. Ka-pow!

Missions

1-2

Mission 1 Strogg Outpost

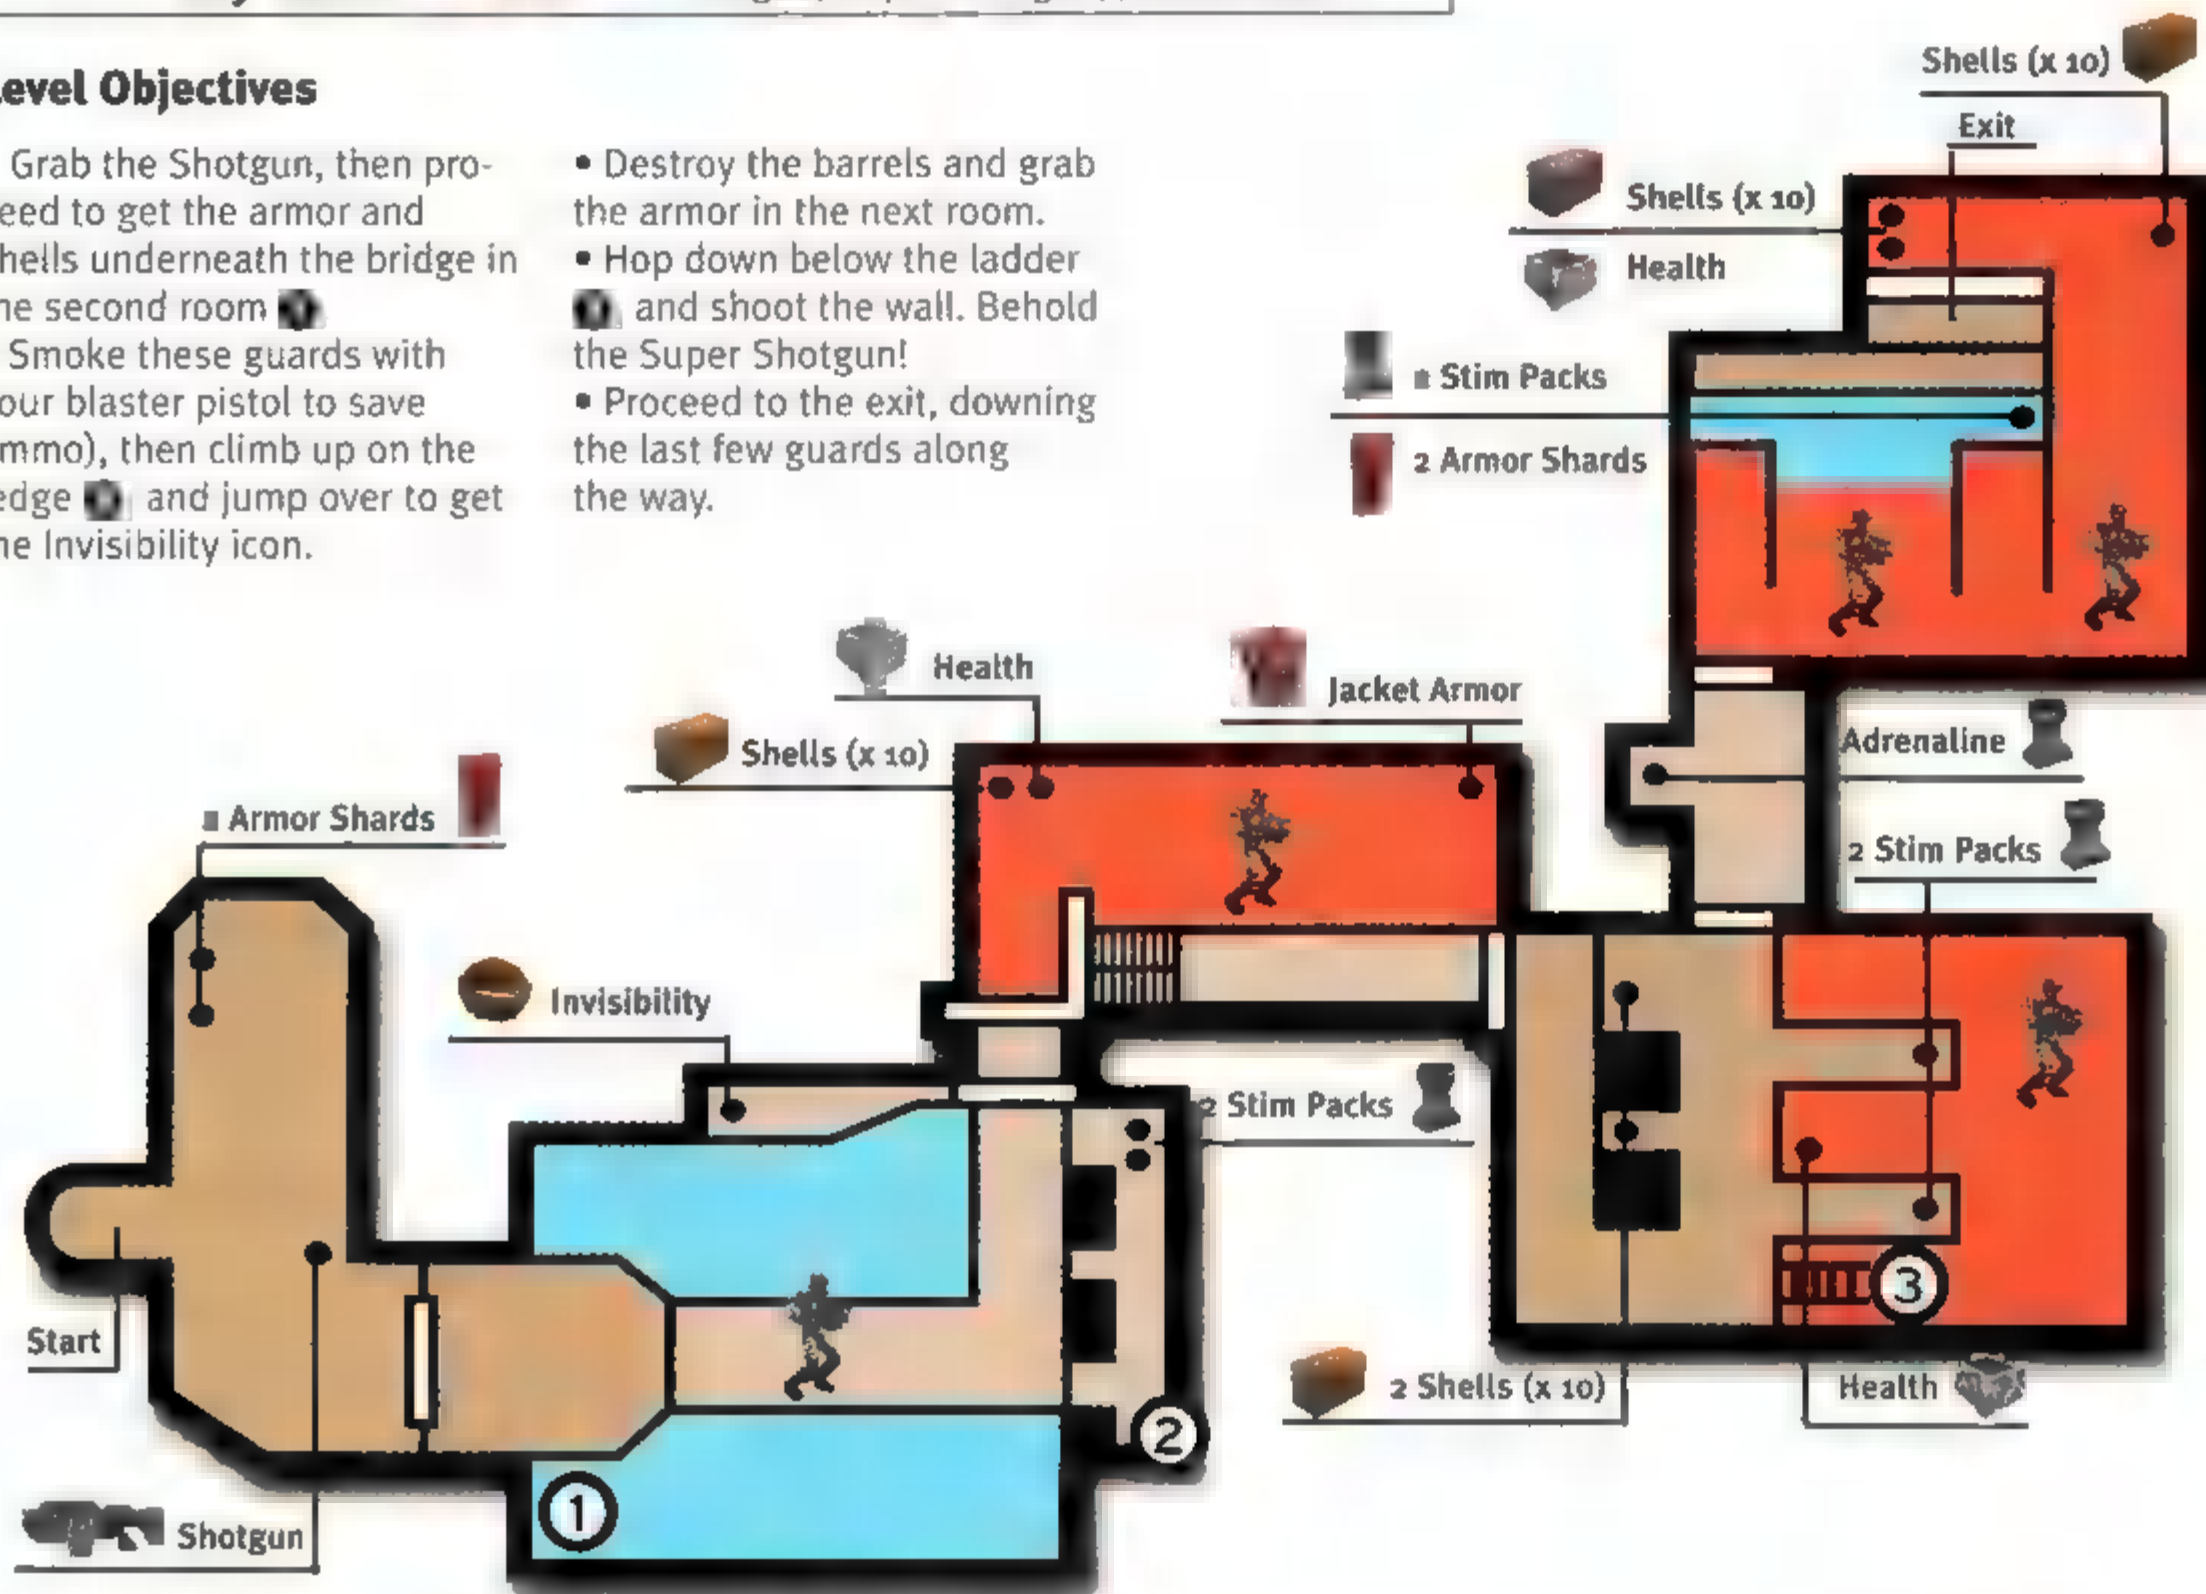

Key Items

Shotgun, Super Shotgun, Jacket Armor

Level Objectives

- Grab the Shotgun, then proceed to get the armor and shells underneath the bridge in the second room.
- Smoke these guards with your blaster pistol to save ammo, then climb up on the ledge and jump over to get the Invisibility icon.

- Destroy the barrels and grab the armor in the next room.
- Hop down below the ladder and shoot the wall. Behold the Super Shotgun!
- Proceed to the exit, downing the last few guards along the way.

Stand by this ledge and wait for the scooper to rise up. Hop on it, and proceed over the boxes to grab the invisibility.

Mission 2 Central Complex

Key Items

Machine Gun, Explosives, Combat Armor

Level Objectives

- Clear out the first room with your Shotgun, then climb the boxes and jump over to grab the Combat Armor.
- Move on toward the center of the level, and blast the barrels

- to open up the entrance to the sewage canal.
- Grab the explosives after riding up the elevator, then head back to the main hallway.
- Hike over the blue bridge, then

- plant your explosives on the computer.
- Flip the final switch in the adjacent room, then head back to the blue door at the beginning of the level to exit.

You'll have five seconds to get to a minimum safe distance after setting the explosive charge.

Missions

Intelligence Center 3 Mission

Grenade Launcher, Combat Armor, CD

Key items

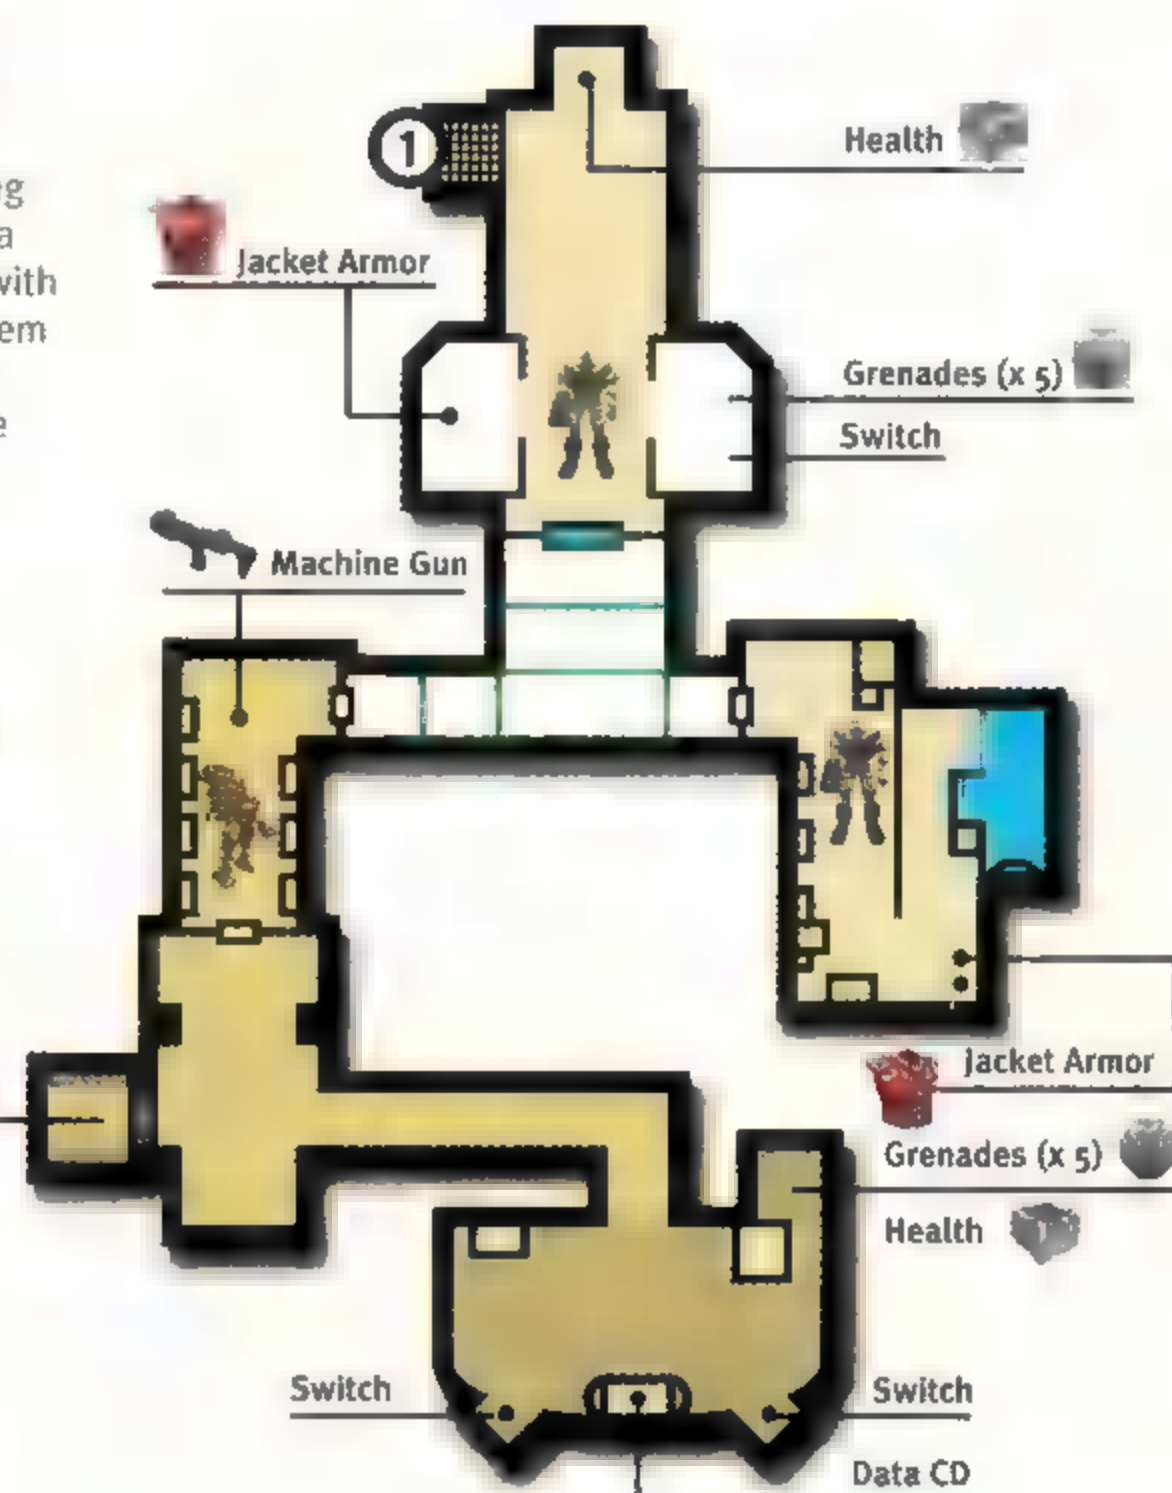

When fighting the Tank, use a mixture of Grenades and Machine Gun rounds for maximum effectiveness.

You'll be ambushed by three Enforcers when you grab the data CD, so load up your Super Shotgun.

Level Objectives

- Take the elevator down  and hit the switch to open up the main hallway.
- Avoid the green beams with timing (they shut off), then proceed left and flip the switch at the end of the tunnel.
- Get back through the

Communications Center 4 Mission

Mega Health, ChainGun, Combat Armor

Key Items

To get the Mega Health, you'll need to first grab the Hazmat Suit from the balcony above by sliding off (don't jump).

Place the Data CD into the comms computer, then proceed back to the previous room to exit.

Level Objectives

- Work your way into the second room, and shoot the button on the side of the staircase to open the room with the silencer. Grab the Shards, Armor and ChainGun before heading to the elevator.
- Proceed through the tunnels, but stop to blast the wall with the sparks by it. Flip the switch to activate the door to the comms room. Insert the Data CD, and the exit will be accessible.

Missions 5-6

Mission 5 Orbital Defense

Key Items

Explosives, lots o' armor

Level Objectives

• The key is to get out of this level with an abundance of extra health and armor. To do this, you'll need to expend many grenades on the Tanks. Strafe 'n shoot when fighting them, but make sure to lob the grenades at the floor as you do this. If you don't, they tend to whiz right past enemies without causing any damage.

• Work your way up to the anti-gravity switch first, then make the long jump across the fire chasm.
• Once across, you'll need to infiltrate the explosives room and grab the charges.
• Run back to the room where the spaceship took off, and grab all the goodies before hopping to the blue exit door. Move north to find the blue exit door open.

When fighting Iron Maidens, get in their face and unload with a fast weapon like the ChainGun.

Remember that this jump can't be made until the gravity is turned off (your jumping ability near quadruples).

Mission 6 Docking Station

Key Items

Rocket Launcher, Armor

Level Objectives

• Many Icarus will be hovering around the main room, so make sure to deal with them one by one before proceeding. The ChainGun works especially well because of their overly frantic movement.
• As you progress through the next few rooms, plant all three explosives on the generators.
• You'll have only 90 seconds to escape after the final charge is set, so use the map to plot the quickest course to the exit (90 seconds is plenty of time, dependent upon how quickly you deal with the enemies guarding the exit). There are a few enemies in the last room guarding the door, but nothing that should take more than 10 seconds to drop...

The first two generators are heavily guarded by hordes of Berserkers, so keep the Super Shotgun handy.

Clear out the next few rooms before planting your explosives on the third and final generator (you'll only have 90 seconds to reach the exit from here).

Missions

Strogg Freighter 7 Mission

Blue Key, RailGun, Armor

Key Items

This switch won't be visible until you flip the two opposing switches on the sides of the room.

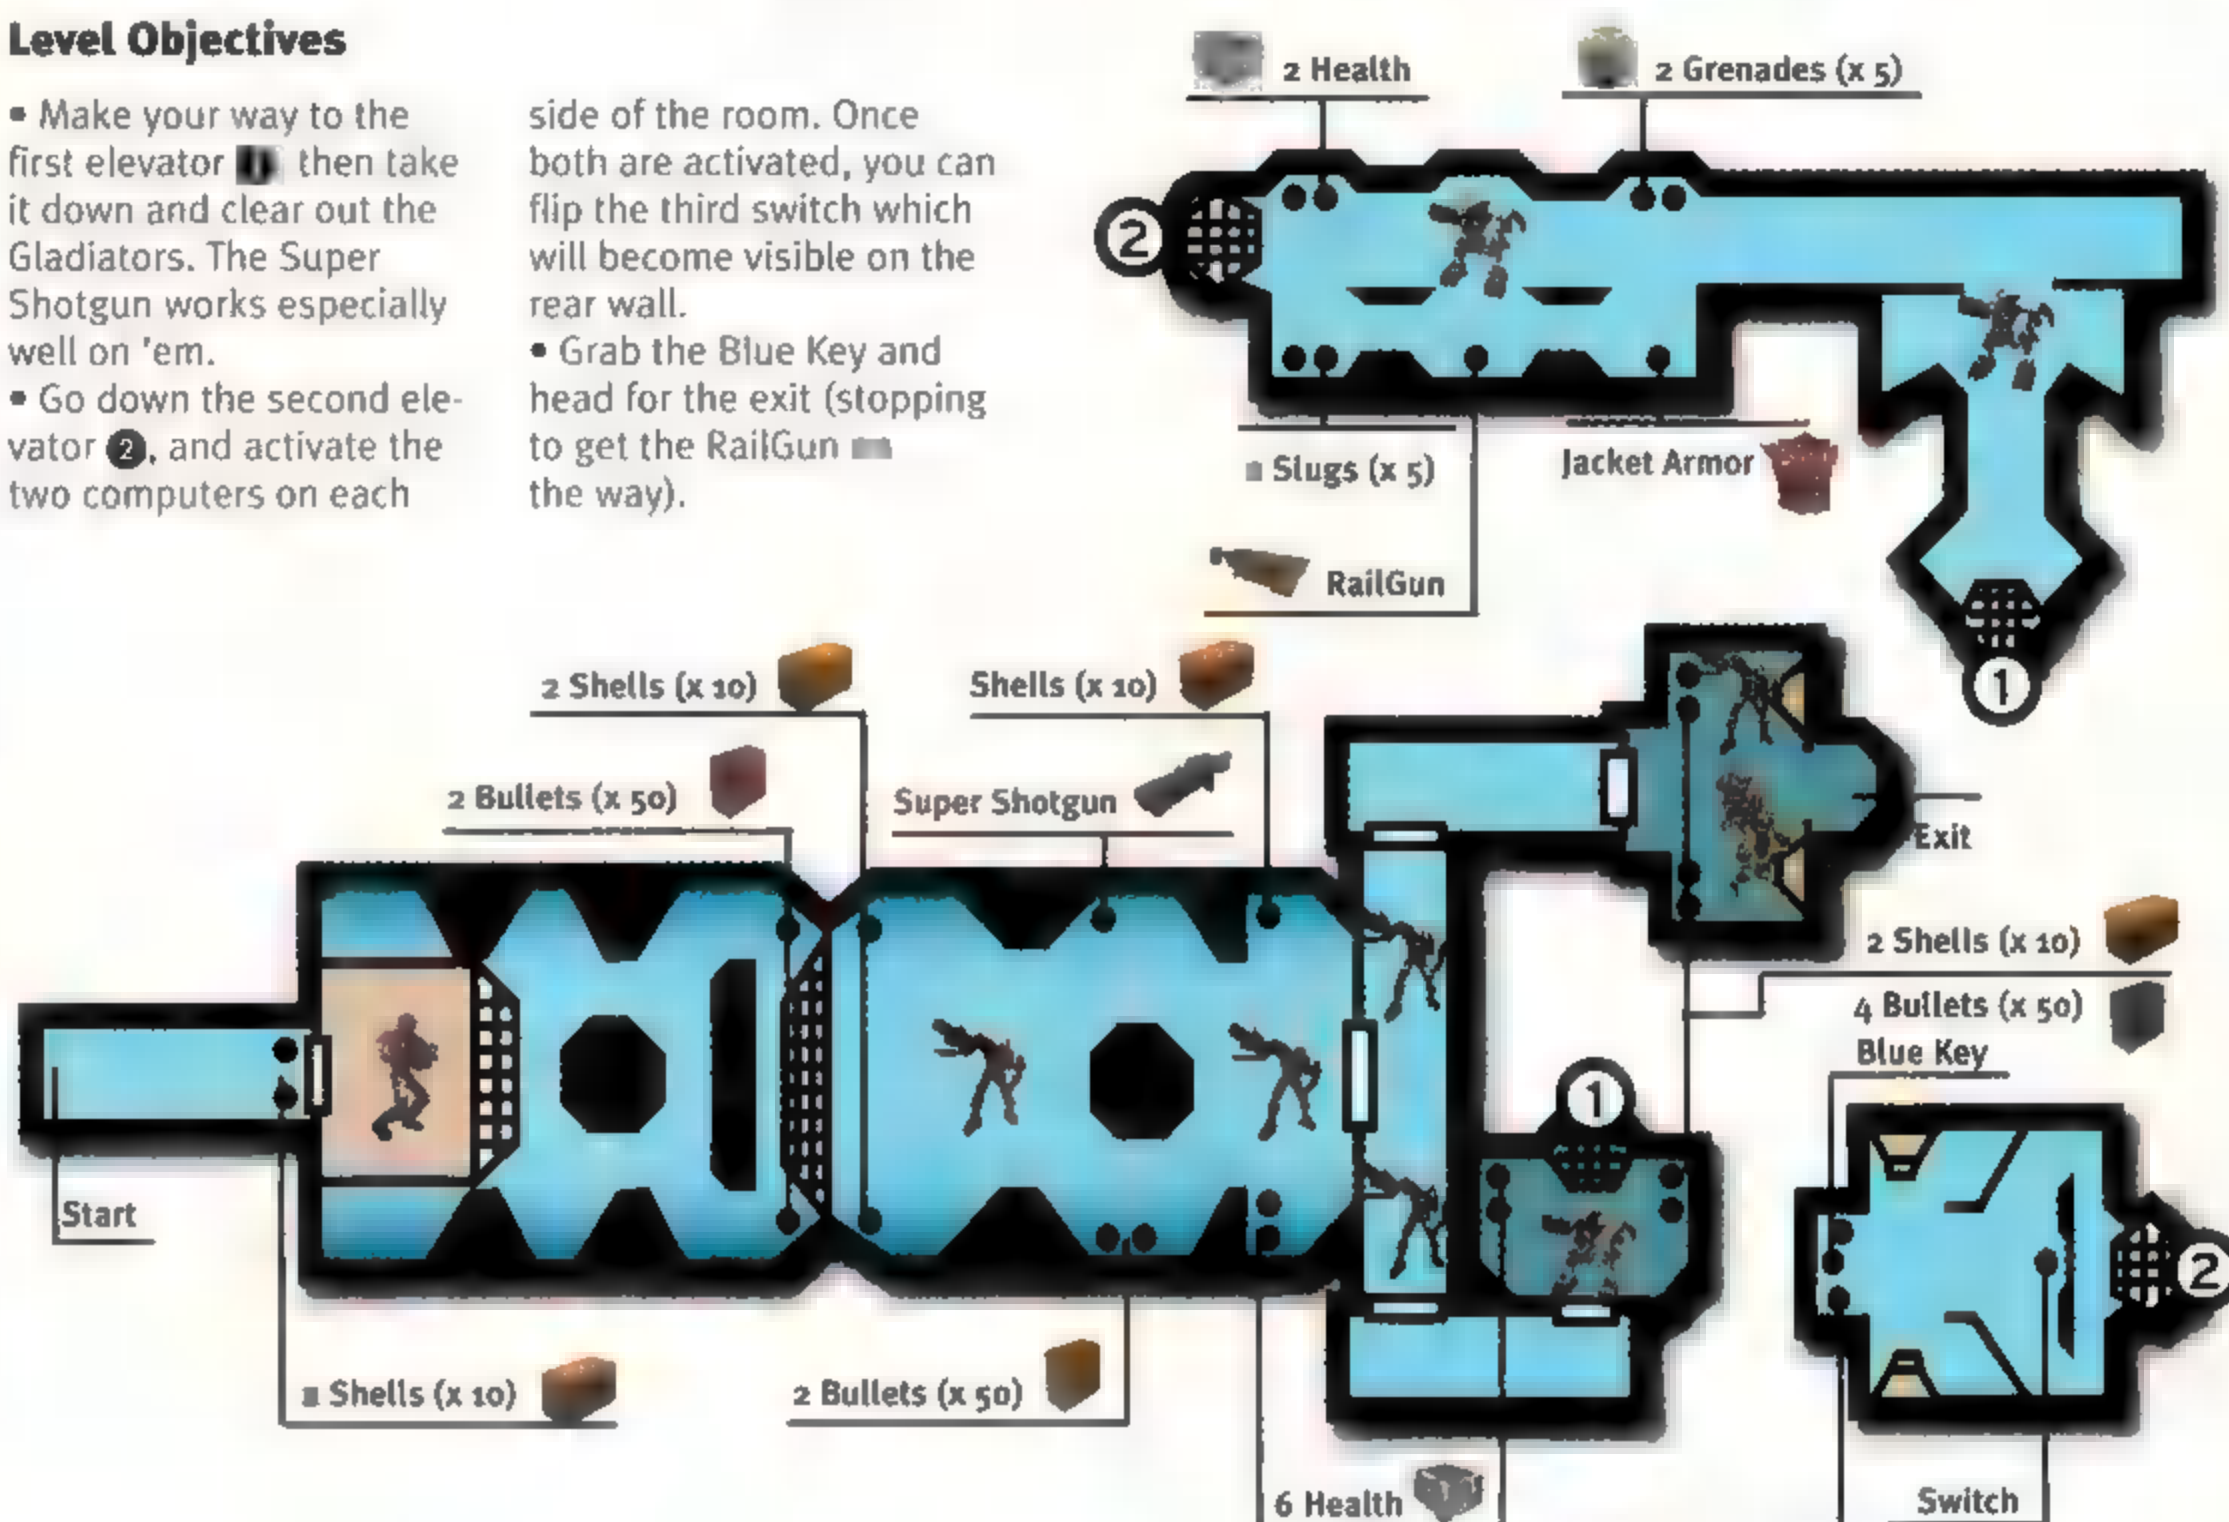

Equip the RailGun when entering the final room. There will be multiple enemies that it can easily pierce through.

Level Objectives

- Make your way to the first elevator ①, then take it down and clear out the Gladiators. The Super Shotgun works especially well on 'em.
- Go down the second elevator ②, and activate the two computers on each side of the room. Once both are activated, you can flip the third switch which will become visible on the rear wall.

- Grab the Blue Key and head for the exit (stopping to get the RailGun the way).

Cargo Bay 8 Mission

Red Key, HyperBlaster, Invisibility, Armor

Key Items

Rotate the wheel over to the left of the hatch for access. Can you believe that people actually get stuck here?

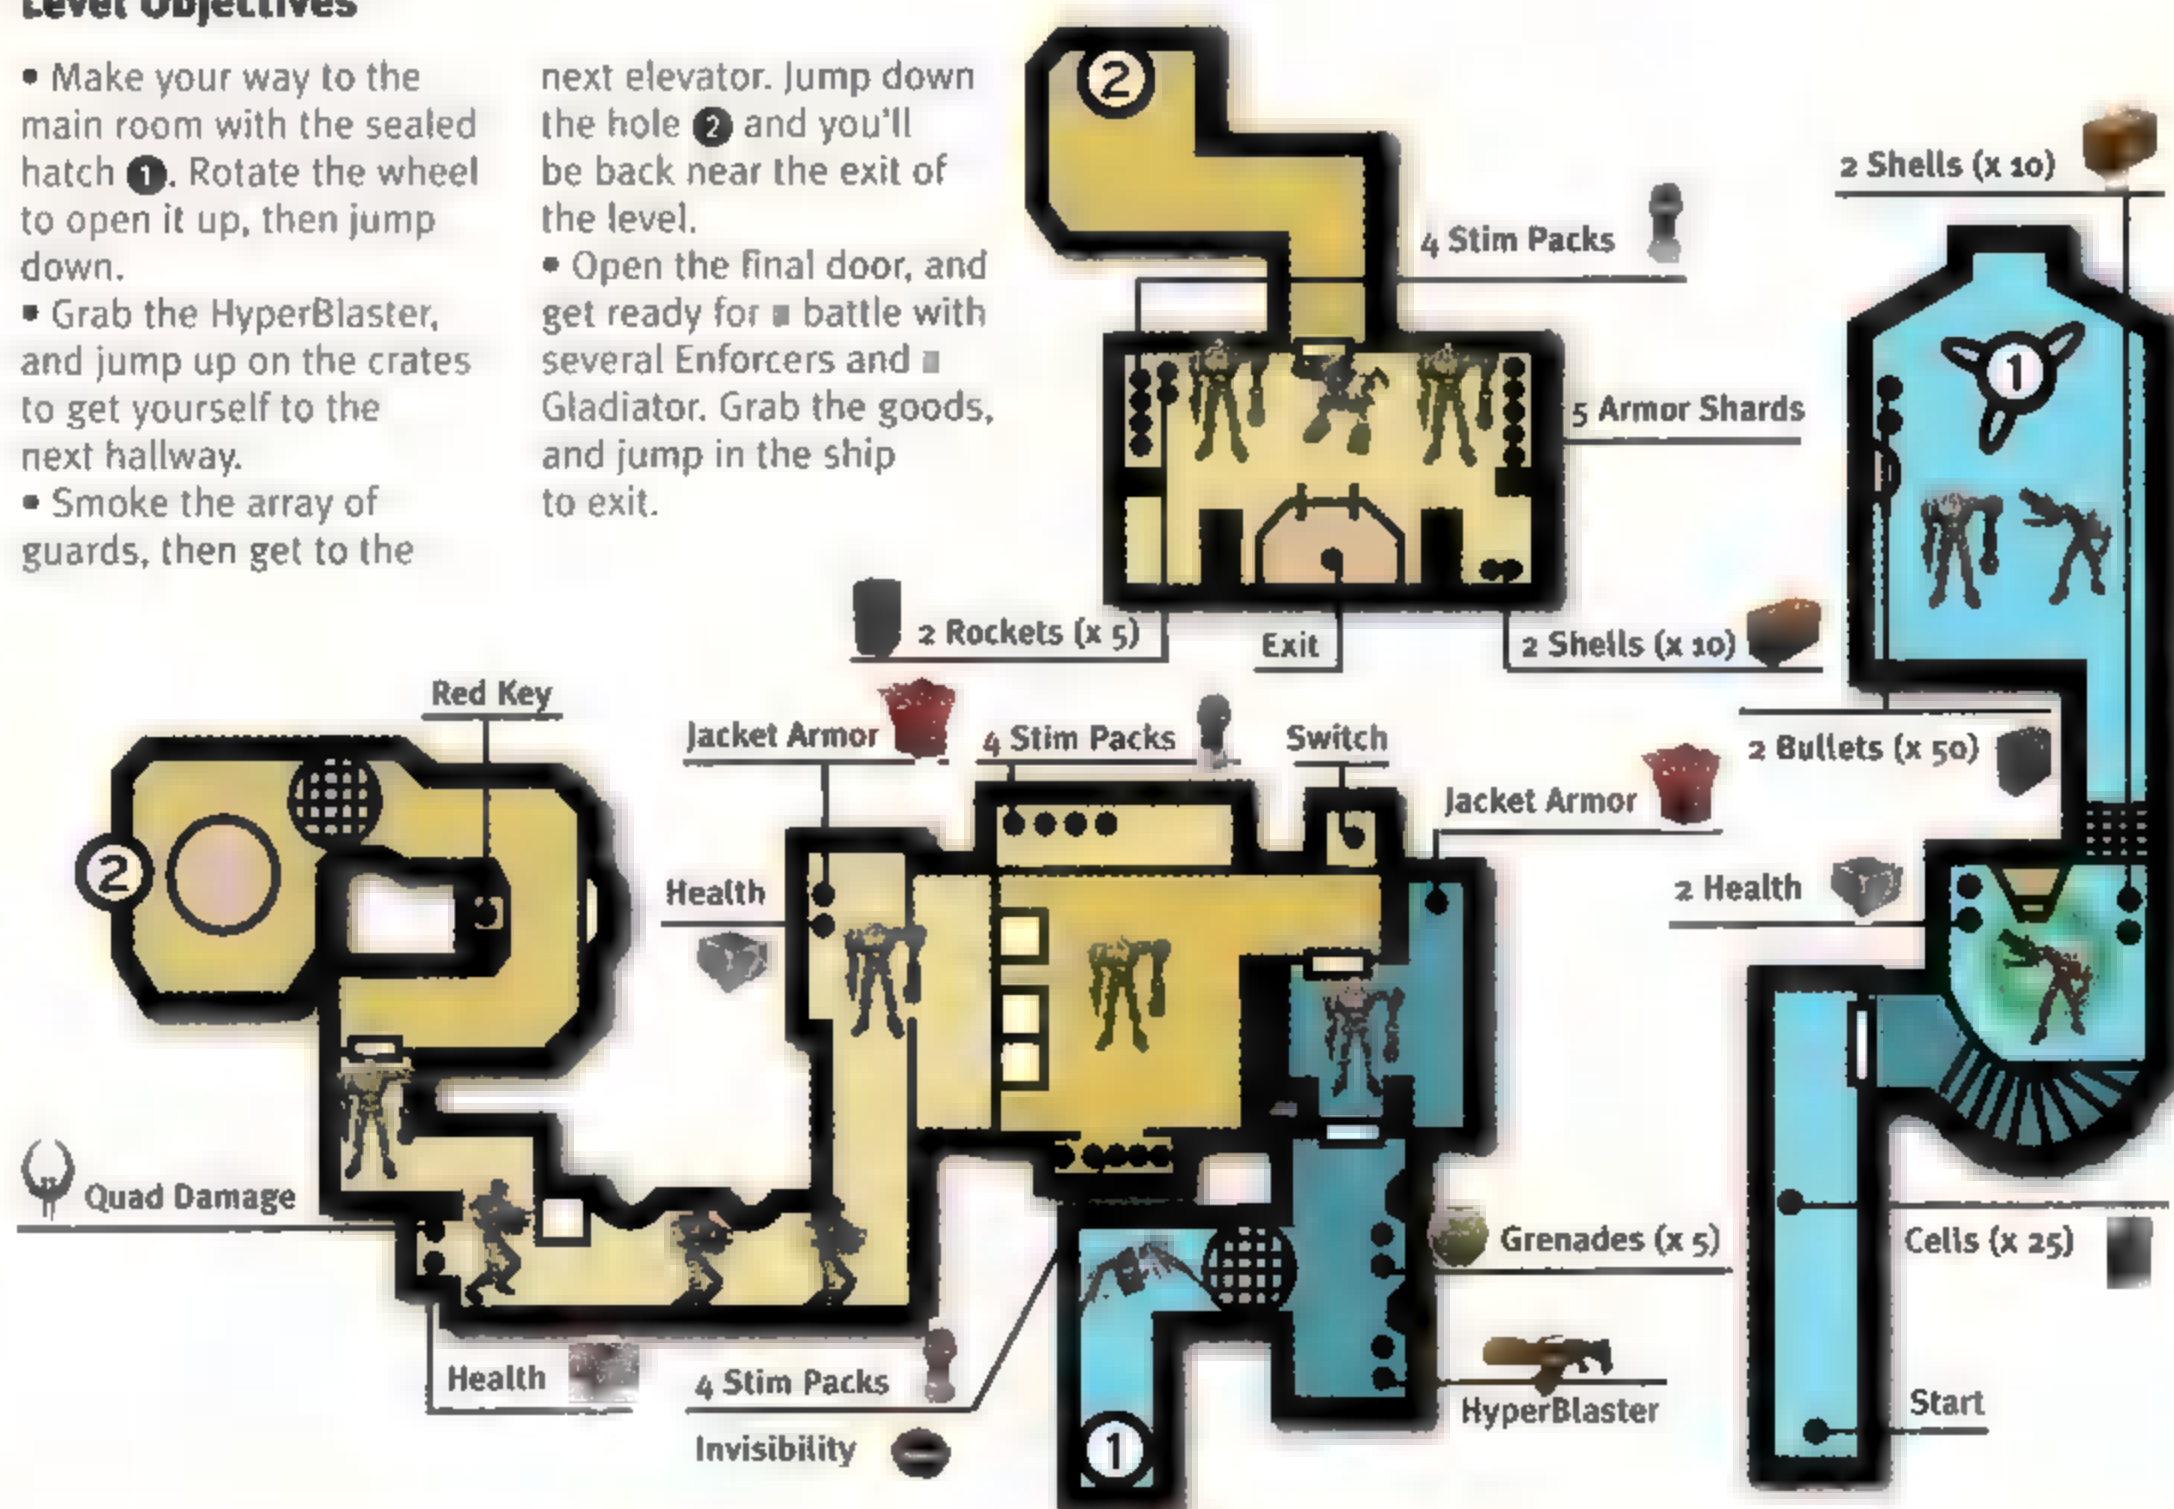

Jump behind █ of the crates █ the escalator to reveal █ hidden suit of Combat Armor.

Level Objectives

- Make your way to the main room with the sealed hatch ①. Rotate the wheel to open it up, then jump down.
- Grab the HyperBlaster, and jump up on the crates to get yourself to the next hallway.
- Smoke the array of guards, then get to the next elevator. Jump down the hole ② and you'll be back near the exit of the level.

- Open the final door, and get ready for █ battle with several Enforcers and █ Gladiator. Grab the goods, and jump in the ship to exit.

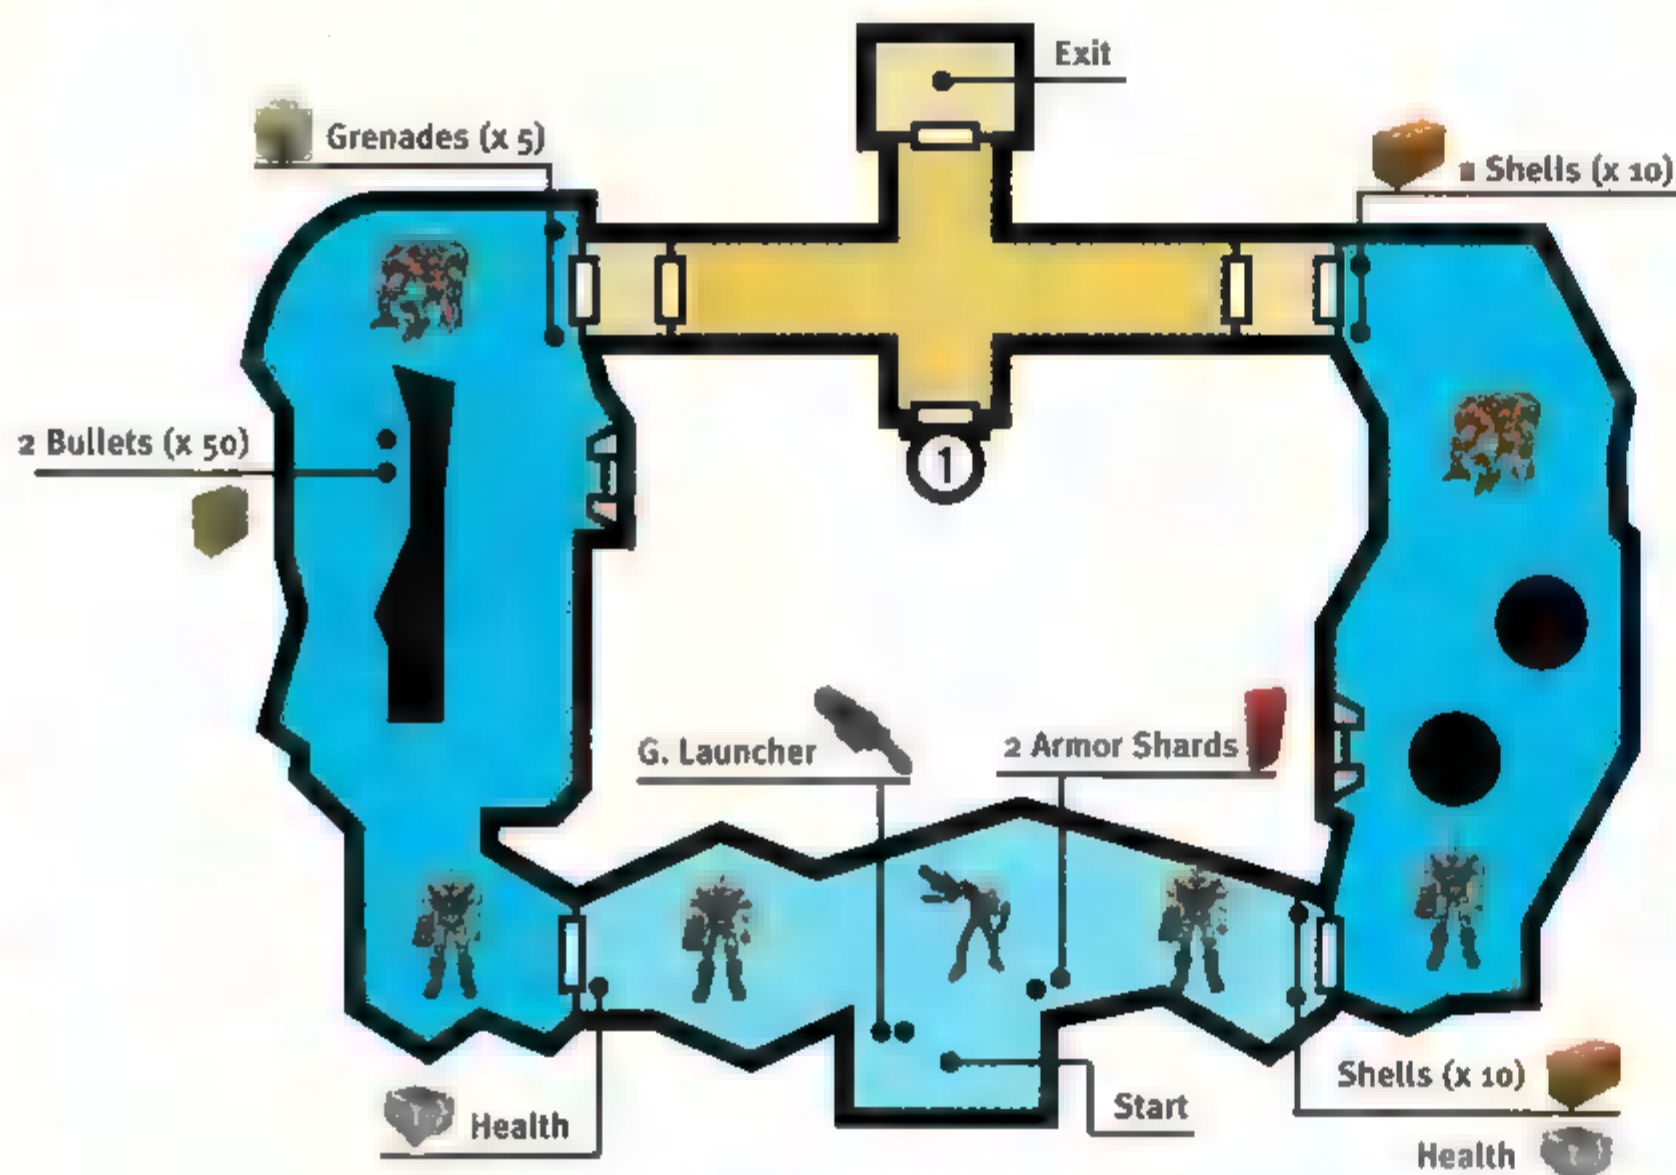

Mission 9 Zaxite Mines

Key Items

Armor, Cells

Level Objectives

- Don't hop off the ledge right away. Start lobbing grenades to pulverize the cretans that reside there.
- Continue to both the right and left sides to flip the respective switches. After both of them are hit, the Control Room door will be open ①.
- Go upstairs and turn off the Quarantine Fields first (left switch), then proceed to turn off the GeoControl (right switch).
- Once both are turned on, the exit door will open, but it will be heavily guarded by Mutants. The Super Shotgun or Grenade Launcher both work well against them.

Remember: Mutants + close range = DANGER! Keep them at bay with the RailGun (it tends to knock them back if it connects).

Mission 10 Storage Facility

Key Items

BFG10K, Armor, Mega Health

Level Objectives

- Hit the switch to activate the teleporter to the second section. Blast past the guards, then hop into the teleporter ①.
- Wait for the crane to drop the reactive crate in front of the door, then blast it to clear out a passage. Run through and activate the laser through the next passage.
- Don't miss the BFG hidden within the crates. After grabbing it, head back around to re-enter the main door.
- Have your BFG equipped before turning on the reflective mirrors. When the Tank rises up, let a few charges fly before he gets a chance to react!

Looking for the BFG? Try shooting the black crate below the solid ones to lower the entrance height. Don't miss the cells either!

Mega Tank HP ~ 2,500 Circle strafe around the grate while unloading with the BFG10K. This is why you saved your ammo...

Missions

Organic Storage

Quad Damage, Adrenaline, Lots o' Armor

11 Mission

Key Items

This awkward box is the key to grabbing the the Quad Damage and Armor in the first room.

To get this C. Armor, you'll need to scale the boxes to the opposite side, then leap over the gap to this ledge.

Level Objectives

- Touch the door of the cargo truck to access some extra shells, then move toward the second room.
- Grab the Quad Damage, then head to the first elevator for 1 blasting as much as you can along the way.

- Head toward the second 2 elevator, flip the switch and double back. Go around to the final room full of boxes

1 and climb up top to find the exit door. Don't forget to grab the armor and Slugs located on the opposite side before leaving.

Processing Center

Yellow Key, Blue Key, Jacket Armor

12 Mission

Key Items

When jumping on the belt, it's easy to overestimate the distance. Try looking down as you jump for better sight.

To help traverse the boxes, try flipping this blue switch. It activates the lift, which gives you a platform to jump from.

Level Objectives

- Clear out the first room with your ChainGun, or Super Shotgun—it doesn't matter. Conservation of ammo in, so try using the ammo that is abundant to the respective level.

- Take the "moving belt" 1 to the room with the Yellow

Key, drop the Gladiator with your RailGun, and move on.

- Head back to the upper tier of the last room, and take the Blue Key from the Gladiator.

- Jump back on the "moving belt," and run back up to the blue door to exit the level.

Missions 13-14

Mission 13 Geothermal Station

Key Items

Jacket Armor, Quad Damage

Level Objectives

- Try to take out the Flyers before jumping onto the moving platform. Fire 5-8 rockets down the tunnel and you'll have a pretty good chance of getting 'em.
- Grab the Quad Damage and storm into the main boiler room, taking out the trash as you progress.
- Go down the ladder and get through the pistons and up the second ladder. Flip the switch to open up the main door. Jump on the swivel to cross the fire lake, then head up the elevator.
- Make your way through the second hallway, and flip the final switch at the end of the hallway.
- After the final switch, you need to run over to the blue bridge and exit the level.

You'll need to jump as the piston heads down if you want to make it across without being flattened.

This small ledge will spin around the center of the lava pit after activating the main pump.

Mission 14 Detention Center

Key Items

Combat Armor, Quad Damage

Level Objectives

- Head up the first ladder to the right, then up the following flight of stairs. Flip the switch up top turning off the protective field.
- Head back down and kill the Enforcer for the Yellow key, then back up the stairs to open the previously locked Yellow door.
- Get through the obstacle course with ease (just press forward!), then jump over the lava using the corners of broken glass as platforms. They break, so act quickly!
- Run through the electricity fields ①, and blow a hole through the wall (clearly marked with the large crack) for passage to the final area.
- Continue through the final tunnel, and jump on the moving belt to exit the level.

You can either send this cell into the lava via the switch, or simply blast the few lurkers inside and grab the Combat Armor.

Grab the rockets inside this little secret room behind the wounded prisoners. The switch is on the ceiling.

Missions

15-16

Research Lab 15 Mission

Red Key, Armor, Cells

Key Items

Blast the wall behind the Gladiator holding the Red Key. There's a secret room with some Combat Armor inside.

This hallway fills up with lava relatively fast, so blast out the window and jump through hastily!

Level Objectives

- Make sure to use a gun with stopping power on the Berserkers throughout this level. The Super Shotgun/RailGun work well with keeping them at bay.
- Hit the first elevator ①.

then proceed to the next room and drop off ② to the third section of this map.

- Turn the Energy Core off, then head back and flip the switch to activate the Energy Bridge. Hop the bridge, and go up the elevator to the final section ③ of this level.

- Kill the last Gladiator, pick up the cache of goodies, and exit the level around the next corner.

Bio-Waste Treatment 16 Mission

Quad Damage, Armor, Adrenaline

Key Items

Getting the Adrenaline isn't so hard if you do it from the top. Just jump (don't fall) right off onto the ledge to nab it.

Did somebody say hidden Quad Damage? Meander into that little puddle to find it tucked away in an underwater cavern.

Level Objectives

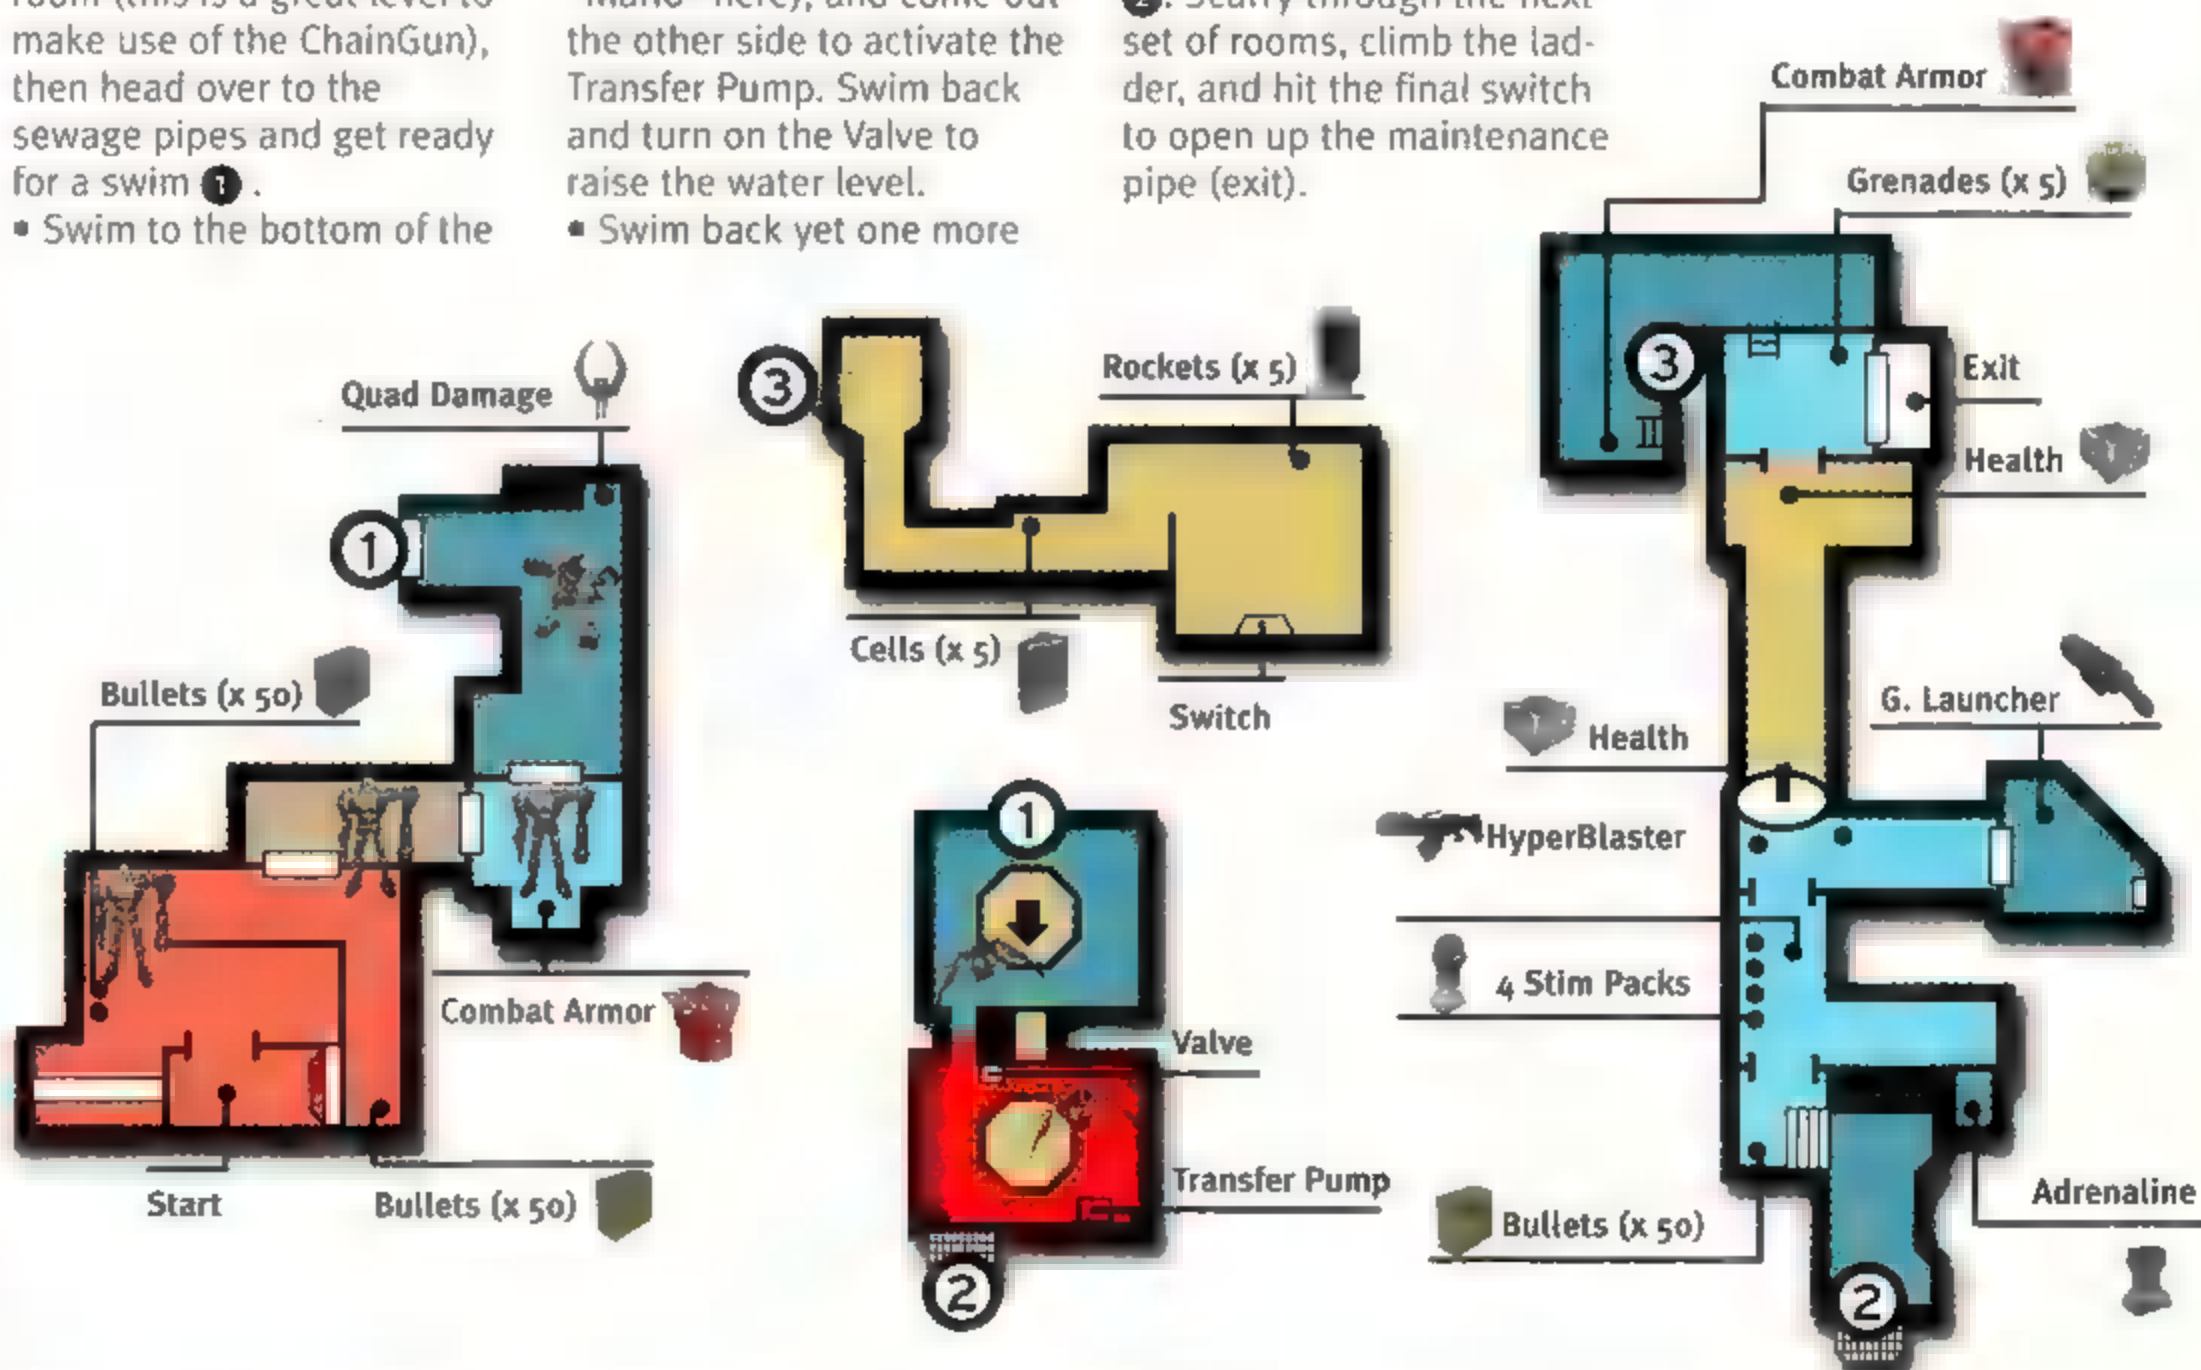

- Grab the bullets in the first room (this is a great level to make use of the ChainGun), then head over to the sewage pipes and get ready for a swim ①.
- Swim to the bottom of the pipe (I feel like I'm talking "Mario" here), and come out the other side to activate the Transfer Pump. Swim back and turn on the Valve to raise the water level.

- Swim back yet one more time, and go up the elevator

- ②. Scurry through the next set of rooms, climb the ladder, and hit the final switch to open up the maintenance pipe (exit).

Missions

17-18

Mission 17 Access Conduits

Key Items

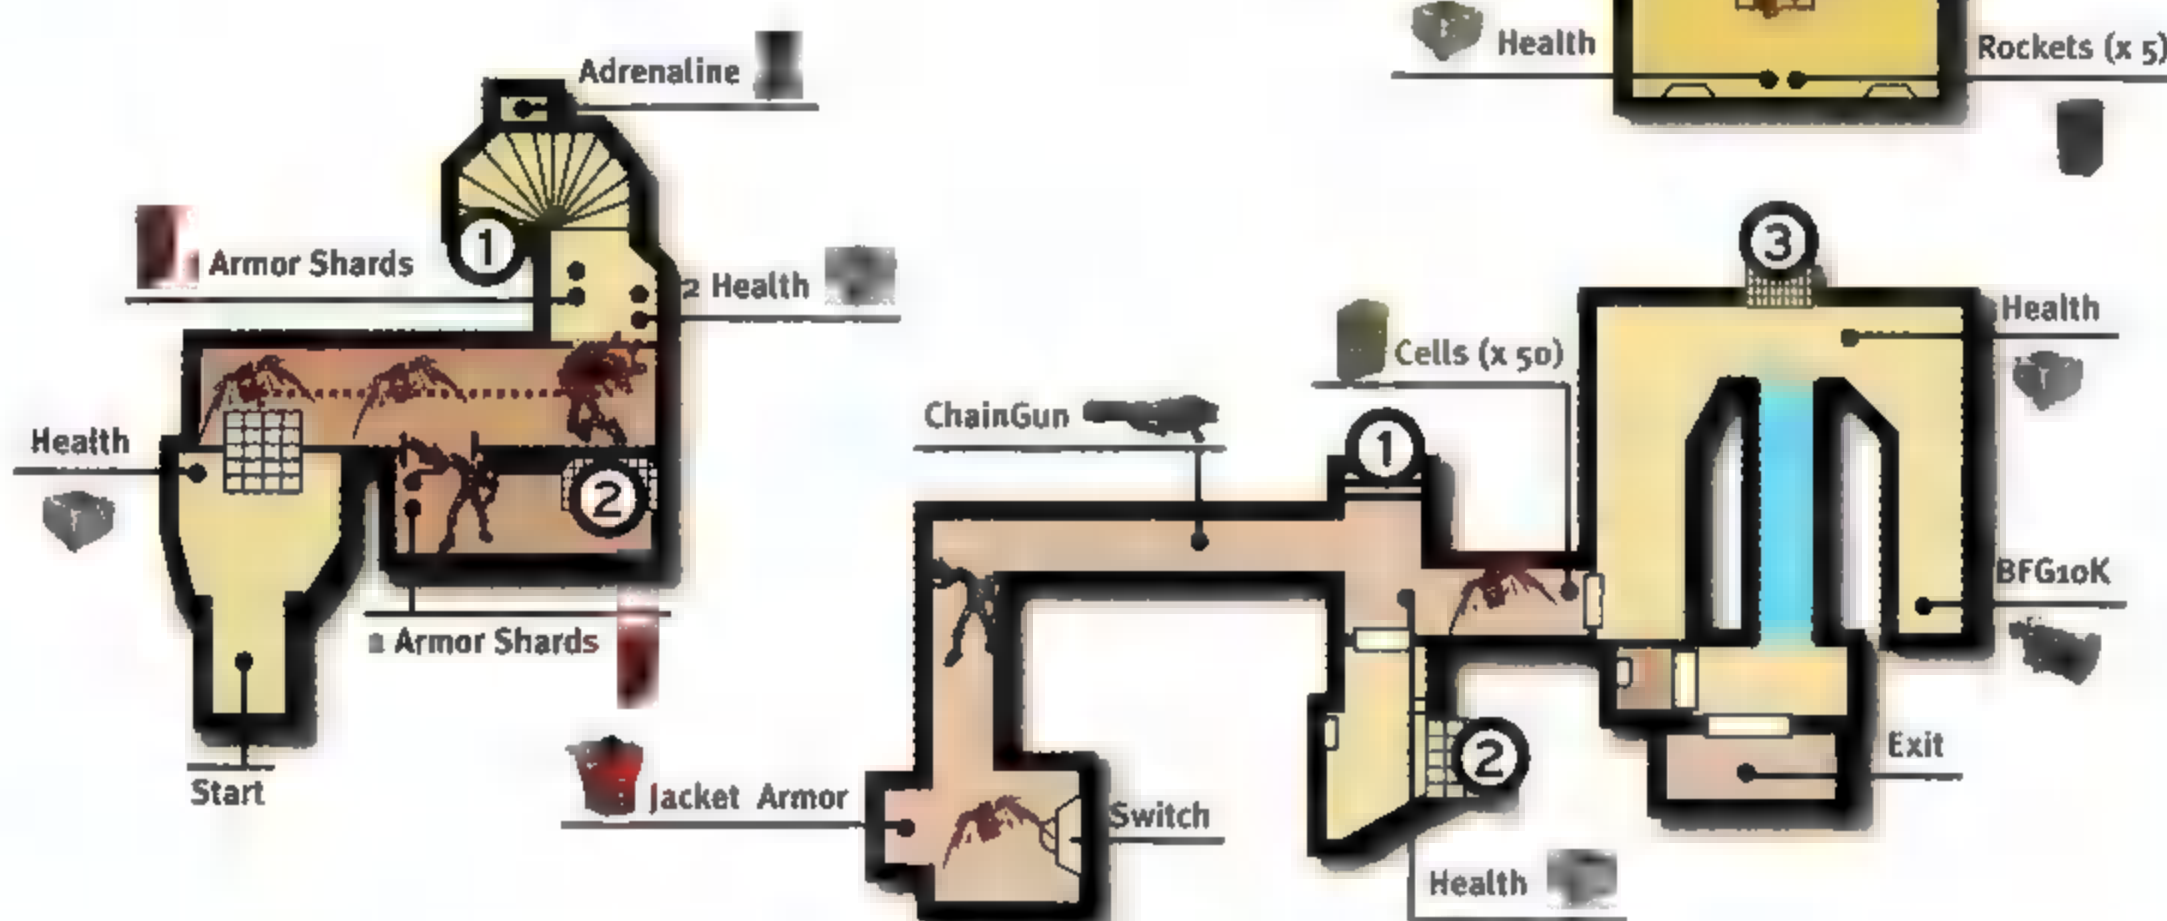

Adrenaline, Armor, Cells

Level Objectives

- Rush onto the platform after you've activated the switch. Hop off at the other end, and run down the long hallway to turn on the waste drainage.
- Jump off the ledge (grab the armor if needed), and jump

- down in the previously filled drainage ditch. Run to the first hallway and head up the elevator ②. Activate the bridge power to lift up the walkway to the second half of the level.
- Head to the last room, and

- destroy the Tank trouncing the decks below the main area. After killing him, flip the switch to open the Core Access Doors.

This section of walkway will only lift up after the bridge power has been turned on.

After turning on the drainage, look back for free Jacket Armor before jumping off the ledge.

Mission 18 Descent to Core

Key Items

Quad Damage, Armor

Level Objectives

- The moving chains 'n gears can be quite a problem if you get stuck on 'em, so try to give yourself as much breathing room as you can.
- Hop across to the first disc, then quickly move across and

- fall off onto the other side (you need to hurry, or you'll be squashed).
- Head to the next room, and jump on the disc to the right, taking it all the way to the top but jumping off before

- hits the ceiling (this too will smash you).
- Take the small lifts up to the next level, then run through the passage and make a long jump over the bottomless pit (you have - plenty of room for error).

- Watch the Cyborg teleport, then follow him into the warper to exit the level.

When waiting for the elevating discs to jump on, try looking down to track their position early.

The Quad Damage is tucked away right above the hallway where you make the jump to the first disc.

Final Mission

Command Core 19 Mission

Everything is key!

Key Items

These Androids aren't so bad when you fight 'em one by one! Run circles around 'em as you fire RailGun rounds.

You absolutely MUST use the center blocks as haven against their barrage of rockets. Dueling doesn't work, so pick away slowly.

Level Objectives

- Grab all the goodies scattered throughout, then proceed to the Central Core. Your primary objective is to kill the four main bosses who reside here. Destroy them, and your mission is complete!

Boss Tactics

- Save the BFG10K Ammo
Try taking out the walkers with the RailGun (or other scrappy weapons) first. You'll need the BFG for the two flyers who enter the arena after you've destroyed the walkers.

- Grab the Mega-Health!
There is a Mega-Health located at the other end of the arena, so try to work your way over there after dropping one of the walkers.

- Hidden Cache
When the two flyers come down, their little areas will be full of all sorts of ammo reloads. Only run to get them if you're completely tapped—it's practically suicide.

But is that All?

Time Attack Levels

After completing the regular game, you'll be sent to the multiplayer arenas for some hectic time-based bonus levels. The goal is to defeat all of the given enemies per level within the time limit (if you don't, you'll explode). Then progress to the next stage and do the same...

Level One: Twists

There will be four Gladiators here, separated by only one or two rooms each. Each Gladiator takes four direct hits with the Rocket Launcher before we keep the Rockets flowing in. After dropping the last Gladiator, one of the Flying Mechs (from the final battle) will head down from above. This is where the problem lies. You'll need to abide by a few basic tactics if you want to defeat them in time.

1. Slide to Shoot

Once the Flying Mechs reveal themselves, you absolutely mustn't stop firing your Rocket Launcher. Unload, unload and unload some more.

2. Time: Your Greatest Enemy

My best time for dropping the four Gladiators was 50 seconds, but I think there might be a way to shave it down even further. The path that you run needs to be exact. Plot out a course that has Rockets and Health along the way, saving you time. It really helps to look for...

3. Sidestepping Rails

Since you can't have time to sidetrack and grab health, avoiding the Gladiators' rails will be key in making the time limit. When you hear that distinct "beep" from the Gladiators, it's too late to move. That beep means they've locked on to you, and the rail follows only milliseconds later. Try to predict their movements, letting rockets fly as you strafe for a better chance of connecting—and avoiding the dreaded "beep" altogether.

Cheater Haven!

Don't feel bad if this section caught your eye. This is after all, a magazine devoted entirely to cheating (one way or another). Input this code if you want to skip over the regular game and jump right to the first Time Attack level. The multiplayer game will teach you many skills that are required by the Time Attack Mode however, so don't expect to just breeze right through it. Although I did work on a preproduction version of the game, this code should still work:

FBBC VBBC FBBC VBF7

Keep an eye open for a codebook next month on what the bonus levels bring you when they are all successfully completed....

There are two little caverns (shown above) that boast three Health and three Rockets each.

The "red room" makes for a good dueling spot with the Flying Mechs. The bulbous corner works especially well for strafing.

You'll have only 1:40 to finish the first level! Pretty crazy, considering the enemies you'll need to defeat...

The Rocket Launcher is your only weapon (no secret stashes here), so keep the rockets flowing in as quickly as you put them out.

All Sections, All Bosses and Fighting Tips!

Strategy
by Ben Durbin

Hybrid Heaven has most of the elements it needs to be a great RPG: awesome graphics, cool fights, engaging story line and even eerie techno music—but unfortunately it falls drastically short on gameplay. Although this is a criticism I have made of RPGs in the past, Hybrid Heaven seems even more than usually reliant on shallow and repetitive gameplay to drive the story along. The combat interface is interesting the first few times you see it, but true to RPG form you quickly lose interest in the “hack and slash” and start wishing for more engrossing gameplay to fill the hours between cutscenes.

General Strategy

EXPLORATION

Hybrid Heaven takes place in a vast underground facility of sliding doors and bottomless chasms that puts even the Death Star to shame. Although the maps are simple enough to keep the game flowing without getting lost, there are a few tips to navigating your way from level to level.

Code Access Key

Early in Section 1 a technician will give you an access key. This key will open the locked yellow Access Doors—but each time before you use the key you must download the current code at a terminal. The most simple type of puzzle you will encounter in this section is finding the terminal that will get you through the access door.

Force Fields

You cannot pass these colorful glowing fields. However, by using your defuser gun to blast the corresponding access panel, you can drop the force field. The second most common puzzle you will find is a series of forcefields you must disable one at a time. However, simply by keeping your eyes open and blasting every access panel you come across, this turns out to be no challenge at all.

Security Devices

There are several types of security devices you will encounter. The amount of damage they can do increases the deeper you venture into the facility. Until you get used to them, you will want to keep your distance and use your defuser to destroy them.

Hoverbots

These large robots are the first security device you will encounter. Like all devices, they take two shots to destroy. However, after the first shot, they will wake up and move into attack position.

Camerabots

These small, flying cameras can “see” anything that crosses their eyebeams. They will respond by shooting a laser beam. However, they are very slow and little threat unless you blunder into a pack of them.

Proximity Mines

These turtle-like drones move about on the floor and will enter a self-destruct mode if they sense a living creature nearby. Zig-zag through them to activate them, but keep moving past them so they detonate harmlessly behind you.

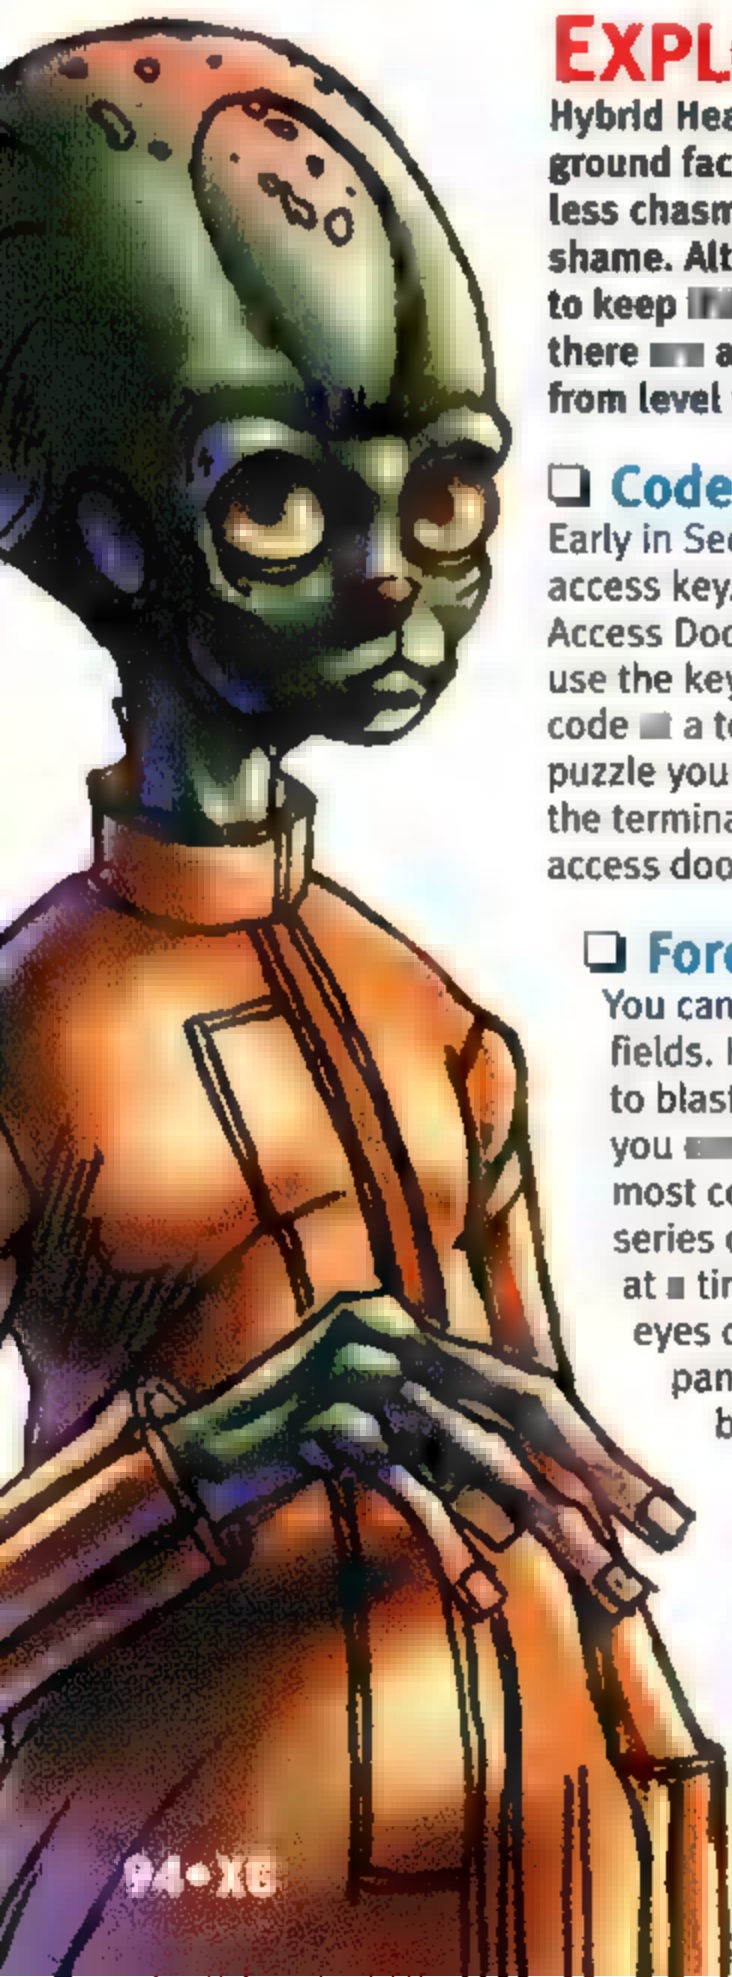

Mouse Droids

These small robots scurry about aimlessly until they sense you, then they will lock on and move to your feet to explode. Unlike proximity mines, they are not easily fooled, but can be easily outrun.

Terror Disc

You will occasionally run across the huge, room-sweeping Terror Disc. This monster spins across the floor spouting flame, and has been known to take to the air where it unleashes a barrage of laser fire and new drones. Although it can be killed, it requires a lot of effort, and it is simpler just to avoid.

POWER-UPS

You will eventually have to rely on power-ups to replenish your health and get you through the game. There are two kinds of power-ups: Refresh and Weapon. Most refresh items can be used any time, but the Weapon items can only be used during combat.

Life

The most common power-up and the most used. They come in four sizes (S/M/L/X) and restore a percentage of your total health.

Stamina

You will pick up a lot of these but they are rarely worth the effort to use as Stamina is not critical to battle success.

Battle

These power-ups combine the effects of a Life and Stamina power-up.

Enhancers

You will find enhancers for Offense, Defense, Power and Speed. You will rarely need these for any of the common monsters. Save them for bosses.

Drainers

Troublesome monsters can be handled with a variety of Drainers (Offense, Defense, Power or Speed). The Defense drainers will have the most effective results in battle, allowing you to win quickly.

Shot and Shot-SP

These gun-like weapons come in a variety of "elements" for doing away with your enemy: Flame, Poison, Ice, Lightning, etc. The best way to use these items is to catch your opponent as he/she is lunging toward you, otherwise it may have time to sidestep the shot. The SP version is more powerful and fires a three-round burst. It will not take long for your martial-arts skills to surpass the damage these weapons can do, so expect them to pile up in your inventory.

Ring Eraser

Only a handful of these items are found through the game. They instantly end the fight and destroy your opponent. However, no XP is gained for a win. Many enemies (including robots) are immune to the Ring Eraser.

TYPES OF ATTACKS

Punches

The most common type of attack, and the weakest, but not to be ignored. A punch can knock you down and set you up for grappling on the ground. Punches are not particularly useful in your own repertoire—develop your legs instead.

Kicks

Kicks do a lot of damage, are difficult to block, and will most likely knock you down—all good reasons to make sure you develop strong kicks of your own.

Grappling

Not only do grappling maneuvers do the most damage, they also look really cool. Never try to grapple a creature who seems to want to grapple with you. This is a sure sign that they will win the grappling exchange and take you down.

Shots

Many human adversaries carry Shot weapons. Counter this by staying close, as they will not draw their missile fire unless you move too far away.

Special

Many monsters have the ability to power up their offense, defense or speed. Some can breathe Poison, Fire or Ice.

ENCOUNTERS

Many rooms contain monsters or monster generators. As soon as you enter a room, stop just inside the door and listen. If you hear the monster generator, you have time to avoid the fight by retreating or crossing to another door. If you hear footsteps, hold still and wait for the fight to come to you—don't risk exposing your back to your attacker. Regardless of whether you prefer to fight or run, sooner or later, you are going to have to fight to advance the story.

The FIGHT! System

Once the fight begins, you take control of your character and jockey for position with your opponent. Ultimately your goal is to stay away from your opponent long enough to charge your Power meter and move in for an attack of your own.

Your Power meter is the green bar at the top of the screen. When the bar is ready, you may only make defensive maneuvers. When the bar is green, you can press A to take an action—use an item or make an attack. When the bar is flashing green, you are at maximum power, and your attacks will have maximum effect.

The trick to charging your Power is to stay away from your opponent. Unfortunately, your Power meter charges very slowly when you are retreating from your opponent. Try to get a sense of how quickly your opponent is advancing on you, and carefully use the analog stick to retreat at the same speed. The slower you move, the faster you will gain Power. In fact, if you can knock your opponent down, take that opportunity to stand still and gain some power.

If you gain enough experience, you can store up to five full Power bars and make multiple attacks. When the top bar is completely full, the smaller blue bars on the bottom will turn red, and the top bar will start charging again.

TYPES OF DEFENSES

Each time you are attacked, you will be given several defensive options.

Step

This is the weakest defense, and rarely works. On the plus side, when it does work, you take no damage at all.

Counter

When you choose this option, your character will try to guard, and if successful, will then launch a counter attack. However, the counter attack costs you power as normal, and you have no control over what counter will be launched.

Guard

This is your best defensive option. Although you will still get hit, a successful guard not only reduces the damage, but it builds up your defensive levels as well.

Roll

If you are attacked while on the ground, Roll is your best option. Always roll away from the attacker.

Escape

If you are grappled you can try to Escape. Like Step, it rarely works, but if successful you take no damage. Instead of trying Escape, try this: When you are grappled, immediately start tapping R. If you are stronger than your opponent, you will throw him away before his grapple sets in.

Reversal

This is a grappling defense. It rarely works, but it is spectacular when it does.

Take Fall

This is the grappling counterpart to Guard. It is your best option when you are grappled.

FIGHTING STYLES

Learn to identify the fighting style of the monster you are facing (and then use it to your advantage).

Punching/Kicking

These creatures will use these moves on you. Watch for the most common attack by the arm or a leg. Then, you can use your own.

Grappling

These creatures will use these moves on you. Avoid being grappled by the enemy. As they grapple, you will already be in a position to counter.

Advanced/Retreat

These creatures will use these moves on you. Advance on the enemy, retreat when you are in a dangerous position. Charge in that such combos.

GAINING EXPERIENCE AND NEW SKILLS

After each battle you will gain experience. Depending on how well you handled your opponent, you may also gain new skills, body development and a power-up.

Experience

After each battle you will gain experience. One or more of your combat statistics will increase.

Body Development

During combat, you can increase both the offensive and defensive levels of your body parts. Offense is increased by repeated attacks; defense is increased by blocking blows to the same area.

New Skills

During combat, you have a chance of observing new skills and learning them from the opponent. You are most likely to gain skills if you defend with Guard and Take Fall. By patiently taking damage from the attack, you have a chance to study it and add it to your skill set. Even so, remember that the more often you use an attack, the more powerful it gets. You may find that your old reliable attacks are more effective than the new ones you learn, simply by virtue of experience.

Power-Ups

After each battle you are given a rating from E (worst) to A (best). If you do very well you will earn an S score. A perfect score is rated SS, with a special bonus: After the enemy disappears, you will get a power-up. The secret to gaining SS ratings is to eliminate your opponent in the fewest possible actions while minimizing the damage your opponent does to you. Remember that a combo is considered a single action.

Bonus Experience!

Each room you fight. You will get a bonus experience. Each time you fight, you will get a bonus experience.

COMMON ENEMIESFly-Thing

These creatures carry power-ups inside their bodies. Don't use combos on them. Instead, use repeated full power kicks to shake loose the power-ups.

Camel-Man

A fairly low-level creature but one of the toughest you will face. He is the best wrestler in the game, so don't even try. Very aggressive, too, so be patient.

Squid-Head

These creatures can breathe poison. Avoid this by moving close and pushing right against them. Most of their kicks at this close range are weak.

Robot

Obviously, robots have very rigid programming. Set your retreat to the exact pace of the robot's advance, and you can keep away from it indefinitely.

Hybrid Agents

Just like Squid-Head, agents are more dangerous at range because of their guns. Step in close. If they grapple you, hit B to break free. Take control of the battle.

Level Walk-through

SECTION 1: BIO WEAPON STORAGE FACILITY

The purpose of this section is to familiarize you with the controls—shooting, running, jumping, crawling and using your defuser, map and keycard.

1-1 Talk to the techie and get your Code Access Key. Climb down the ladder and update the keycard at the end of the long hallway, then use it to pass the access door and take the elevator down. Find the bio-scanner and use it to release the hybrids from their containment cells.

1-2 The trigger plate for the green forcefield is in a room at the top of the warehouse. You will have to shimmy across the ledge above the crates. Once you get to the back of the containment cells, there is a raptor-like sub-boss you will have to defeat.

1-2

SECTION 2: DR. BROSS' LAB

This is the laboratory of the criminally insane Dr. Bross. You can beat this level fairly quickly if you avoid all the fights along the way.

2-1 You'll start the level on the run from this monster. Don't bother trying to fight it, just start running counter-clockwise and look for the door on your right. Keep working your way along the map. Be prepared for some difficult camera angles when the monster has you cornered. Just keep looking for the next safe door or ledge, and make sure you keep your health replenished until you can make it to the save chamber 2-2 at the halfway point. After a mad dash down a long hallway, you can crawl to safety in a vent.

2-2

SECTION 3: CLONE STORAGE FACILITY

In this section, much more of the story is revealed to you, as well as your true self, Johnny Slater. This is also your first opportunity to match up against a boss-level Hybrid. Spend some time leveling up early on.

3-1 If you go through the containment rooms on the inner track, you can gain lots of experience and items. Don't miss the code access terminal along the way. At the back of the last chamber is an access door to the next area.

3-2 This area appears to be a dead end, but you can shimmy across the chasm on this rail.

3-3/3-4/3-5 Continue to pursue the Hybrid Agent. He will destroy the catwalk, so you will have to make a detour to go around. Eventually he will lead you to a huge clone containment facility. Check your map and head to the passage on your upper left. Pursue the agent into his quarters and confront him—after he changes into his natural Hybrid form, of course. Once he is defeated, return to his quarters and get the memory card there. Take the elevator down and help the Gargatuans restore the President's memory.

3-6/3-7 Talk to each of the Gargatuans twice, then return and speak to the President. After this scene, walk back through the hideout and check all the power-ups again. Finally, crawl through the tunnel and slide down to Section 4.

SECTION 4: WEAPON FACTORY

This section will give you your first taste of fighting robots. The outside rooms of each ring have some fights and power-ups, but you can skip these by moving clockwise through the rooms, and heading in toward the center area to find the code key terminal and the code access door. The terminal is always on the opposite side of the facility from the door.

4-1 Once you take the first elevator down onto the large open platform, head straight forward to find the green switch, then turn around and go to the other side of the hall for the blue switch, then back across for the red switch, and finally cross again to the yellow switch. Take the opposite elevator down.

4-2 There is a large robot waiting for you on the lift. Stay very close, and follow the robot slowly, keeping in its blind spot behind it. A few good kick combos will get you past. Once the lift stops, head into the narrow passage and shoot the force field switch. Continue on until you meet the big Mech. The Mech can be killed with your defuser, but it takes over 20 shots. The trick is to watch and wait for your opportunity to charge into range of your defuser. The Mech has four attack forms that it will always repeat in this order: missiles, lasers, machine guns, plasma cannons. Avoid the missiles by zig-zagging to throw off their aim. Move a little closer for the lasers and machine guns and stand still so the shots go to either side of you. Finally, the plasma cannons will fire. Stand on the left of the catwalk and run to the right to avoid the first shot, then quickly run back to the left to avoid the second shot. You want to keep moving in a smooth S that will take you around the plasma shots and into range of your defuser. Be careful, once the Mech dies, it releases a horde of mouse droids, so keep your health level high.

4-3 Work your way past the defense systems. The missile turrets are easily beaten if you stay at the maximum range of your defuser and keep firing; your defuser can take out the missiles. Keep going until you enter the conveyor system. The code access door is here but you will have to get through the conveyors first, and return with the updated code key. If you do it right, you can make it in one trip.

Follow the conveyor system clockwise and keep in mind that you first need to get into the center control room, where you will find the code key terminal as well as the switch to the red forcefield. Once you have both of these taken care of, head back out and make your way to the code key door. Head through and slide down the chute.

SECTION 5: UNDERGROUND SHELTER, LOWEST AREA

This is one of the most boring and repetitive levels you have to contend with. In a move of classic RPG design laziness, all the "puzzles" on this level consist of killing one monster after another to unlock the next area. Fortunately the cinematic sequences in this section are worth fighting for.

5-1 Keep moving into the shelter and dropping deeper until you reach the main ring. Head to your right, and work your way counter-clockwise into each of the four rooms in the first ring. Inside each room, the door will lock behind you, and you must fight a hybrid. When the fight is over, an access panel will reveal. Use the panel in each room to drop one of the force fields blocking access to the lift.

On the next level down, the procedure is exactly the same, only this time there are only two forcefields to drop. Before you step on the lift, you might want to stop and use the access panels there to unlock the rooms outside and check them out.

5-2 Once again, same procedure, and once again, only two panels to drop. Don't forget to check the access panels by the lift again. Take the lift down and drop into the bottom ring. Although it's not recommended in everyday life, go ahead and slide down the chute into the reactor core.

Once inside the core, head back up the red ramp a bit and enter the door on the left. This will put you into the cooling areas. Each time you defeat a special hybrid in here, one of the locks to the power system will fail. Keep making your way counter-clockwise all the way around the core and release all four locks. When the entire core is open, you can run to the center area and join forces with the Navigator.

SECTION 6: BIO WEAPON FACTORY

get to a battle with Dr. Bross and his monsters. By the time you should maxed your but rely on brains, not br section.

6-1 Head into the small storage room and crawl under the door by the flamethrower. This will let you into the maze section. Run to the end of the weapon bay and take the elevator up to find the code key terminal. Head through the code access door and back into the hallways. Head to the control room.

6-2 In the control room, look on the hanging column for the blue force field switch and disable it. Follow the hall around to the second armory and cross into the back hallways. There is a double set of missile launchers here; disable them from around the corner to be safe.

6-3/6-4 This puzzle requires you to navigate a set of elevators and force fields. It is not a difficult puzzle; just keep riding the elevators up and shooting the force field switches as you come across them. The code key terminal is on the top floor and the code code key terminal in the small room on your left. Missile launchers abound here and they can knock you off the catwalk to your death. Either stay safely behind the railings or drop down and crawl where the missiles can't track you. Just beyond the code access door is the extremely long-winded Dr. Bross, but you have a bit of a chase ahead of you before you can cut off his annoying soliloquies once and for all.

6-6 Chase after Bross and save at the next platform. Bross has laid a cunning trap for you, so get ready to face his huge monster once again. Unfortunately, you'll also have to face its plasma-belching mate [pic]. You have a huge arena to stay away from the fearsome monsters. Your first task is to kill the white monster. It will chase you while the red monster targets you with plasma. Run just out of reach of the white monster so that it follows you into the burning plasma coughed up by its mate. Four hits and the white monster goes down.

Now to tackle the red monster. Run around the edge of the arena until you find the big metal doors. Don't get too far away or the red monster will stop chasing you and start breathing plasma, and you don't want that. You want to stay just close enough to make it charge you, then quickly jump out of the way so the monster access door is on the center floor. The broken tank in this room is your clue that there is a nasty monster waiting by the access door. Once you pass that access door, there are plenty of monsters to fight. Every room—or ceiling—is a potential hiding spot, so be alert if you want to avoid any unpleasantness.

6-5 Just past this save point you will find a dangerous catwalk. Take a moment to look around before you move. Don't shoot the box hanging over the intersection; it contains a missile launcher. The door directly across from you is a code access door; you will find the smashes the doors. Four good hits and the monster will tumble through the doors. Just make sure you jump out of the way first or you will go tumbling down as well!

After the monster falls to its death, you can exit through the normal door back in the arena and chase after Bross for your chance to fight him. Bross is actually a tougher fight than the monsters! You should use one of each of the "big four" power-ups, in this order: Defense, Power, Speed, Offense. Bross will also be using power-up items. If you don't have the power-ups to juice your own abilities, at least use some Drainers to take his away, or you are looking at serious trouble. Bross also carries several SP shots, including the very nasty Ice-SP, which not only damages you, but leaves you frozen and at his mercy. Stick close to Bross and keep yourself well healed.

6-7 Run a little farther into the complex and you should recognize this area as the place where the Gargatuans were hiding out earlier. Now, however, they are all gone. All that remains is a female prisoner of Dr. Bross...

SECTION 7: CLONE STORAGE FACILITY

The underground shelter is rapidly disintegrating. Although you are making your way through familiar territory, the collapse has shifted things around so you must find an alternate means of escape. Destroy all the security devices you come across to gain power-ups for the coming boss fights.

7-1 You will find the trigger for the blue force field hidden in a crate, in a room just off the main ring to your left. Run down the catwalks and into the room on the right, then head down the ladder. Up ahead at the broken catwalk you can jump up and grab the catwalk above you to continue on.

7-2 Back in the large bay, use the control panels to open the two bay doors. Enter the bay with access to the hallway and head right to find the code key terminal. Turn and run to the other end of the hallway, climb the ladder, and pass through the code access door. The room above contains a new force field; don't shoot the switch, just walk up to it like any other and it will open.

You will find another code key terminal in the hallway between the second and third holding rooms in the next section. Update your key then head back to the uppermost room. Once again, the Terror Disc is here to protect this large bay. The opposite door has a very tough lock—about 10 shots to disable it—so be prepared for a little punishment from the Disc.

Just across from you is another code access door, so turn left and climb the ladder. There is another code key terminal in the room just above you.

7-3 Climb back down and head through the code access door. Enter the small room in the center of the next hallway and drop down. Run straight ahead (past the blast of flame) and into the clone storage area. Clear out the hoverbots and shoot your way into the door on the right. Use the code key terminal there to update your code again then head back out into the clone bay and through the code access door at the end. Kill the agent in the next room then ride the elevator up.

Crawl under the waterfall to find a hidden room with lots of good power-ups. You will also find a ladder that leads up to Section 8.

SECTION 8: CLONE CULTIVATION SITE

Similar to Section 5, this area is a training facility of sorts for the hybrids. Not a lot of puzzle solving, but plenty of fights. Most of the pits contain monster generators, so it is important to fight as much as you can, not only for combat experience, but to gain power-ups from SS-rated victories.

8-1 Follow Anna Moody counter-clockwise, through each of the rooms in the ring, and finally up the elevator. To get through the ring, you will need to use the controls on the balcony to open further access. The last room has a platform on your right you can climb to take you to the balcony control room.

8-2 Climb back down and enter the drained room. You can slide under the edge to reach the save chamber as well as a room full of power-ups. Keep going through to the end of the ring chambers and take the elevator up. Just up the elevator you will find a series of catwalks and pits holding many monsters and security devices. If you want to avoid severe unpleasantness, stay out of the pits. There is a save chamber just before the sub-boss.

8-3 Just across the last pit is a sub-boss of sorts that guards the final platform. It will not be very aggressive until it uses its speed booster. Once it boosts its speed, watch out. This hybrid also has access to some super life chargers, so kill it quickly.

SECTION 9: UNDERGROUND SHELTER, TOP LEVEL

You are almost free. All that remains in your way are a few bosses you still need to take care of: Jerry, Hunter, the Master...who else? Make sure you have plenty of power-ups stored up, because you have an epic-scale string of bosses to defeat, with no chance to explore between fights. It's all or nothing time!

9-1 Start by pursuing Jerry through a series of "locks," small rooms connected by lifts. You can avoid most of the fights here, but in order to drop the forcefields so you can reach the code key terminals, you must fight the monster there. Once you reach the top platform, you finally get your chance to take revenge on everyone who has crossed your path so far.

You have to fight six bosses in a row before the game is all over. To win each battle most easily, power up in this order: Defense Enhancer, Power Booster, Speed Enhancer, Offense Enhancer. Check your supply of power-ups, and make sure you save power-ups for the later, more difficult fights. The toughest fight is with the Master-Monster, so absolutely save one of each of the power-ups for that fight.

❑ JERRY

He is armed with several Hurricane shots, but if you use a Defense Enhancer and stick close, you should be able to drop him with only three combos.

❑ HUNTER

Beginning with Hunter, the fights now will get a little more difficult. Hunter is your counterpart, and he has access to power-ups of his own as well as some extremely nasty Ion weapons—each shot will do 400 points of damage, so keep close and keep your health maxxed out. Very quickly you should power up your Defense, as well as any of the others you can spare at this point. In a pinch you can nail Hunter with some SP weapons of your own.

❑ MASTER

Make no mistake, this is one cranky little bastard. As always, power up your defense as soon as you can.

He can attack with any kind of elemental blast. If he knocks you down, don't be afraid to stay down and charge your power meter a bit—this pint-sized evil genius isn't about to rush up and throw a figure-four leg-lock on you. Once you are juiced up and ready to go, rush him. If you get too close without attacking, he will either float away, or knock you down with a force push. The trick is to get just close enough to launch your attack without scaring him away. A few devastating kicks to his melon-like head and he's down for the count.

❑ MASTER-MONSTER

This creature is a nightmare, and can kill you easily if you don't keep close tabs on your health. It is capable of storing multiple power bars, just like you, so once it gets you on the ground it will attack you several times. It has several different breath attacks as well as a tail sweep. Most dangerous is its ability to counter-attack you if you try to attack from the front. The trick is to keep circling just behind its flank, since the creature is too large and ponderous to turn quickly. Remember to use all four of the A-list power-ups: Defense, Power, Speed and Offense.

❑ MASTER-HYBRID

This final installment of the Master is similar to the Hybrids you've been crushing all along, and the tactics are no different. Just be sure you power-up if you've got any left. This form is eager to grapple with you, so keep your distance unless you're an adept grappler yourself.

❑ DIAZ

After more cinemas, just as you think you're finally free of the exploding ship, Diaz reappears for the final showdown. Use what power-ups you have left. He is extremely quick and a dangerous grappler. Once Diaz is dead, the President will risk his own life to heroically rescue you from danger (thus shattering once and for all the possibility that the character is based on Clinton...)

❑ FINALE

Hard as it may be to believe, there are no more enemies waiting. After you and the President escape, you only have one loose end to tie up...you haven't forgotten Holly, have you?
